Underdogs

Three Years of Fur-Eh!

It's hard to believe that three years have already come and gone that we have been attending Fur-Eh!, as your charity of choice.

I know our first year we didn't quite know what to expect by attending, but boy would that change over time. This is one of our favourite events to go to every year now and coming into our fourth year with all of you amazing folks, it has been an incredible experience.

Underdogs is a small rescue; we only take dogs that we have homes for, and we do our very best to help a lot of people and dogs in the community. We do presentations at schools, we cover the cost for low-income families when their dog needs training and help and, our biggest mission, we keep families together the best we can.

This is what embodies Underdogs. We are small, but a very close family.

That is what it's like coming to Fur-Eh! every single year. You are all this amazing family, and you have opened your arms and hearts to us like we always belonged. Over the past three years, Fur-Eh! Attendees have donated over $14,000 to Underdogs. Seriously. How amazing is that?

We have worked so hard to put it to good use. We have been able to take in dogs that we never could have before. We have been able to help more and more families stay together, and we have been able to continue education in our communities.

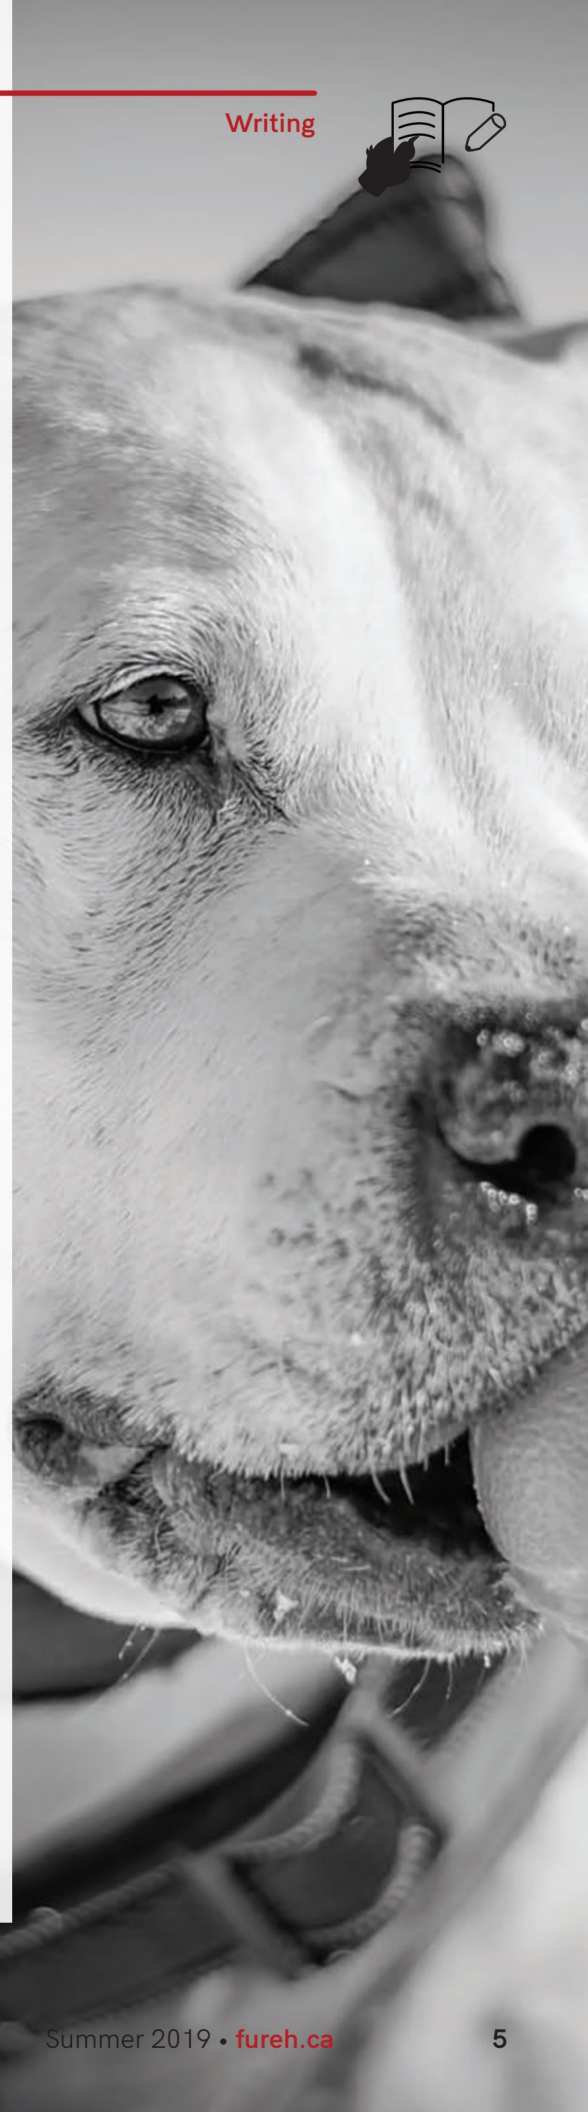

I don't think that we could have ever imagined that four years ago we were walking into a hotel to meet a group of amazing Furies, leaving with incredible memories and friends that will always be family now.

With your help, we get to help save dogs lives. I know it may sound a little corny, but it is just the truth, and it is such an honour to be able to do so.

All of us at Underdogs, are forever grateful for your generosity, for your love, and your acceptance. We can't wait to see you all again, catch up and have a blast together!

Kind Regards,

Jade Graham-Perry

Eerie Eden

This Year's Featured Artist

Furiety sat down with one of the brightest lights of Hollywood, Eerie Eden, at her Malibou estate. Eerie is the talk of the town as she receives the “Guest of Honour” designation at Unifursal Studios.

EerieEden

EerieEden

What got you into the fandom and how long have you been involved in it?

Well, I used to play a lot of GaiaOnline way back in 2006-2012, and I discovered furies through there. Eventually it piqued my curiosity and I looked at a few pieces of artwork and Youtube videos. I realized that the fandom was diverse in art, characters, and so forth. I began officially in the furry fandom in about 2011 when I had proper internet.

How did you get started as an artist?

I used to draw a lot from a young age. One of my biggest things that I used to do before becoming a furry was creating my own stories and characters and I found that aspect of the fandom really fun! After years of keeping a binder full of printer paper, I got my first drawing tablet in 2009 and things picked up from there.

Who are some of your greatest influences?

Honestly with the story telling and fantasy aspect, I would say music has a huge impact on me. From the artist side of the fandom, I would have to say Mick39 (Creator of the Sergal species and Vilous), and Coffinberry (both on FA). Also another huge inspiration are all the artists I met in person and became friends with in the fandom. Seeing them improve motivates me tremendously.

What advice would you give to other artists, particularly those starting out?

Keep on practicing and don't let people get you down. The more practice of creating art, the better the outcome will become. Reach out to other artists really helps as well. I love to make people happy, and creating art that people will enjoy.

How did you approach the artwork for this year's theme? What's your process?

With me being big into animated movies, I had a few ideas in mind and also wanted to include the mascots as much as I could to give them a personality, I'd say. Honestly with some back and forth suggestions, we got the ball rolling on a few ideas and went from there. My process involves a lot of “Work in Progress” pictures. From the initial sketch, to lineart, then to flat color then details. If I get the OK I move on to the next part.

STAR NEWS

Jake Tiggy- Branching Out?

Writer and director of the widely popular 80s Western-horror-sci-fi Anime adaptation 'That Time I Was Resurrected As A Horse Named Ed', Jake Tiggy has decided to try their paw at directing something new.

"It was about time in all honesty. I've done so many 80s Western-Horror-Science Fiction Anime adaptations that I am starting to dream about them. [they laugh] But I look at what others have achieved, like with Space Mom and 'Contest of Sovereignty', and.. I just want to play in another sandbox. I've been thinking about this for awhile now. Actually, it was ever since SierraRacs took a break from directing monster films to do Victorian romances, and we all know how that turned out.."

When this reporter asked what they would do next, the answer was surprising.

"Well, since SierraRacs isn't doing monster movies anymore, I realized I could tap into a very unused genre of the old school monster films: Kaiju Romantic Comedies! I really think it could turn into the next big thing, much like how no one expected 'Contest of Sovereignty' or 'Small Boom Hypothesis' would succeed like they did. Or course, those were television series. I just want to do movies. Series scare me too much. So much work, everything has to be just right day in and day out. Plus I get to work with talented actors like bc-breakaway and Hobo Takoda. You can't beat that kind of star power."

When asked who they would use as their lead, Jake Tiggy was quick to answer.

"Momo of course. I've had my eye on her ever since 'Momo's Bizarre Adventure.' To be able to act as multiple generations of herself is something a lot of actors can not do. Thallanor tried in 'Black Beauty 2099' and 'Black Beauty Beyond', but I thought it didn't resonate like Momo's performance did. That's not to say Thallanor isn't a good actor, he's one of this generation's greats. I loved him in BC and 'Thall's Excellent Adventure' and 'Thall & BC Go to Peters' Drive-In. Those were comedy gold!"

With the 80s Western-horror-sci-fi Anime adaptation genre opening up, it's anyone's guess who will rise to continue the long tradition within that genre of filmmaking. Only time will tell..

Thallanor Turns Down Lead Role In Black Beauty

Shocking news this week as word comes down from Thallanor's agent that the ground-breaking actor has turned down the leading role in the upcoming 'Black Beauty: A Weird Western'. This news outraged fans as many thought Thallanor would be perfect for the role. Many have pointed out that due to his stellar performances in 'Furvengers: The Last Game' and 'Grumpy Old Equines', Thallanor would have been able to convey the vast complexity required of 'Black Beauty'. However, many have worried that, as Thallanor's acting would not have been up to snuff when acting against a green screen. This is of course due to the movie's primary draw: the computer-generated and fictional species called Humans.

It would not be until later that day, when Thallanor appeared on 'The Fidget & Momo Show', that the famous squirrel and mouse duo would get to hear from the horse's mouth why he walked away from 'Black Beauty':

You know, that's the thing with acting, sometimes you need to walk away from a role. I tried out for 'Bojack Horseman', and they said no. I was pretty crushed by the news, but I figured after a night of eating stupidly hot wings and anything-goes pizza, I would feel better. But that wasn't the case. Sure, I've been in some stellar movies and acted alongside some pretty big names in the business, like Tiggs and Hobo Takoda, but I have to push myself, you know? And when the role of Kylo Wren came up, I had to go for it. That's why I really had to turn down being 'Black Beauty'. Today, Bisney announced that bcbreakaway would instead be taking on the coveted role of 'Black Beauty'. When asked if he was worried about being a zebra, he replied:

A zebra is just another type of horse after all. And really, they only have to use dye on half my body. [he laughs] In all seriousness, I am excited for the role. It's something completely different than what I normally do, and ever since the success of 'Hot Pug Time Machine' I have wanted to branch out. 'Black Beauty: A Weird Western's' script is complex and is going to be a classic, and I can't wait to be a part of the slowly evolving 'Black Beauty' cinematic universe.

Time will tell if bcbreakaway will be able to bring the same impact to the role that Thallanor would have. Twitter has exploded since bcbreakaway's announcement, with fans of both actors debating who would have been better in the role, with many taking one side or the other. We will all just have to wait until 'Black Beauty's' release in 2020.

EXCLUSIVE LOOK

'Rougarou' Screenplay by Dorn Otter

INT. SHOP -- NIGHT

The parlor is dimly lit. Strange curios line the walls; mystical tools, the teeth of various creatures, and even small shrunken heads hang from the ceiling. The muffled noise of music and joyous partiers leak through to the quiet shop. Suddenly, the door to the shop bursts open. There's a flood of noise from the party outside, and three figures laugh raucously as they enter. CHRIS, a bighorned sheep, mid-20's, grins widely as he leads the pack.

CHRIS

How many have you collected so far?

MEGAN, a lynx, mid-20's, enters next. She counts the gold and purple beads hanging around her neck.

MEGAN (PROUDLY)

I think I'm up to almost 20 now!

CHRIS

I still can't believe you did that to get the last one though...

Finally, BRANDON, a sheepish-looking beaver, early 20's, enters behind them smiling quietly. All three peer around the shop curiously. Megan whistles and points to the one of the shrunken heads.

MEGAN

Creepy, huh?

CHRIS

I think you mean metal. This stuff is awesome!

MEGAN

Look, Brandon, I found one that looks just like you!

Megan tugs Brandon unceremoniously over to the shrunken head.

Pulls out her phone to take a selfie.

Just as she snaps the picture, a loud, wheezing cough sounds from a dark corner of the room. All three of them jump.

Emerging from the dark, an old, wrinkled alligator, JULIE WHITE, leans forward in her chair. She is as intricately adorned as the room is and wears a red pouch--a gris-gris--around her neck.

JULIE

Hello, children. Why have you come here tonight?

The three stand silently for a second before Chris responds.

CHRIS

I saw the signs outside. I was hoping to have my fortune told.

Julie eyes the group suspiciously.

JULIE

If you so wish, my child.

The ancient woman takes Chris by a cloven hoof, pulling him to a nearby table where they take a seat. She studies him intently, tracing her fingers across his palm.

JULIE (CONT'D)
I can see you've traveled from someplace far away...I sense someplace cold and vast.

Megan snorts and rolls her eyes.

MEGAN
(whispering to Brandon) Duh. He's probably wearing his Canadian flag shirt again.

Julie shoots Megan a dangerous look. Apparently

BRANDON
Haha, naw, I'm fine.

MEGAN
You know, you're too cute when you're drunk.

She boops his nose. Still shy, he blushes. Megan slowly closes the gap between them and Brandon backs himself against the display until...the whole thing comes CRASHING down.
Julie bolts from her chairs, spotting the mess and the beaver on the floor.

JULIE
You fools! (Cajun swearing)! My shrine! Don't you know what you've done?
She closes the gap quickly to Brandon. Yanks him up off the floor and hisses.

(strange poem)

Chris tries to intervene and is thrown back by Julie with tremendous power. Megan and Chris look on fearfully. Julie releases Brandon and drops to the floor, pouring over her precious items and sobbing.

Megan reaches out to Brandon to pull him up. Suddenly, he convulses unnaturally on the floor. Terrified and groaning, he looks up to Megan.

BRANDON
What's happening to me?! Arrgh!

The two are dumbfounded. Their friend continues to change.
His bones CREAK and elongate. Small ears grow into large pointed ones. Monstrous claws replace short, trimmed ones.
Small, rodent teeth shift in his mouth to become enormous canine ones. His body bursts from his clothes and the fully-formed, giant, lycanthropic form appears.
Megan and Chris stare, frozen to the spot with terror.

MEGAN
Brandon?

Brandon, distracted in his newfound form, snaps to attention.
A low GROWL forms in the monster's throat. Megan and Chris shrink. Julie watches, eyes still coursing with rage.

3.
The beast's steps THUD loudly, building speed. Megan and Chris break into a full run for the door.
CUT TO BLACK.

A tremendous roar and horrified screams over the blackness, over the sounds of rustling and running.
THE END...?

STAR NEWS

Contest of Sovereignty Comes To An End

The long running television series ‘Contest of Sovereignty’ ended this last Friday evening to an almost unanimous roar of joy echoed long into the morning. Celebrations took place in most major cities, with many mayors declaring it a day of celebration. There is even a rumour that the Prime Minister is considering making it a national holiday.

Many of the actors on this record-breaking show have come forward on various media outlets to share their opinion on the surprising reaction to the end of the show. Thallanor, long-time actor of the ‘Black Beauty’ films, came forward to say:

“It feels like this shouldn’t have happened. I mean, the writers and production teams were rushing everything. There were mistakes everywhere. Coffee cups, water bottles, I think at one point you could even see Tigg’s Santa hat in the bedroom scene! I just don’t get it. We were all expecting to be booed for the rest of our careers and now it’s going to be a holiday? A dream. That’s what it must be. Some kind of dream.”

Thallanor isn’t the only actor from ‘Contest of Sovereignty’ who expressed confusion. Silent Ravyn, who played Arya, is quoted as stating:

“I just don’t get it. Sure, I am super excited to hear just how much the fans love the end of the series, but it doesn’t make a lick of sense. We have been working on this series for twenty years now, and have put our blood, sweat and tears into it. But the pressure to end the series on a bang meant we had to rush a lot of plotlines. There was supposed to be a period where Arya forms a pack of battle hardened direwolves, but there was just no time. Oh well. I am still thrilled that fans loved how it all ended.”

Head writer Dilly (affectionately referred to as Space Mom by the show’s actors) is the only person thus far to come forward to talk about the issues that everyone faced regarding timing. She recently sat down to talk to Fidget & Momo about what it was like to work on ‘Contest of Sovereignty’:

“First, let me point out that at its heart, ‘Contest of Sovereignty’ is a fantasy show. No one, myself included, believed it would go longer than three seasons. Twenty is just insane, and now they are talking about spinoffs! [She throws her hands up and lets out a despair filled groan] It’s crazy I tell you, absolutely crazy! I mean, I love the crew, the actors, the actresses, and especially the fans; but let’s be honest here: Small town comedies are where it’s at. That’s why I am excited to announce that I am writing and directing a new series called: ‘A Dragon in Red Deer’.”

Whether you loved ‘Contest of Sovereignty’, or were obsessed with it, the series has finally reached its conclusion. Fans are still celebrating what has been heralded as a cultural phenomenon, and marathon showings are popping up all over the world. But in the end, the series is over, leaving fans with one burning question:

What will they watch next?

Tips to make your visit to Unifursal Studios more enjoyable

1. Check out new things. There is so much to do and so little time! We encourage you to check out events & panels that you have not previously attended before and expand your horizons!

2. Get there early! If you're taking in any panels or events, get there early for best seating. (For select events including Opening & Closing Ceremonies, The Talent Show and The Dance Competition, "Executive Producer", "Director" and "Star" attendees will receive early seating assignment.) And, as a courtesy to other Guests and panelists, please arrive on time for all events to reduce disruption.

4. Shop early, shop often! Stage 5 is THE place to shop in town and nearly 40 unique vendors will be offering a wide array of merchandise and/or commissions. The Fur-Eh! Studio Store is also a destination unto itself and you won't want to miss the Unifursal Studios or Fur-Eh! themed products. But, shop early as inventory is limited!

Take lots of photos and share them! Fursuiters LOVE acting for the camera, but so many of our stars can never find their photos online. Post them on your social media and tag the official @fureh Twitter and use the hashtags #FUREH2019 and/or #UNIFURSALSTUDIOS

5.

Relax. Or don't! Your visit to the hustle and bustle of a Hollywood studio can be a whirlwind of entertainment, dining and shopping or it can be just a time to spend some time with friends. It's up to you how you want to spend your time here, but no matter how you make the most of that time, make sure to get some rest, eat properly and don't overdo it. You'll feel better and won't burn out before your visit is over!
