

FURRY DOWN UNDER

THE OUTBACK

2017

8th Edition - May 2017

Who's Who of FurDU 2017?

Foxy Malone - Chair

A snow leopard from Queensland, Foxy Malone helped behind the scenes on FurDU for its first few years, before coming on board to oversee the volunteers and Dealers Den. She has also helped Flamedrake with the organising and running of RivFur, and has been on the board for ConFurgence.

Dalfox - Secretary

A fennec fox with a flight cap that lurks around the furry subculture, Dalfox recently came back into the limelight. As a fursuiter and general assistance around SBFM and with a background in administration and management, he stepped in as Secretary to help keep FurDU running smoothly and efficiently.

Ristin Raccoon - Treasurer

Originally from Melbourne and now living with his long time mate Marko T. Rat, he was brought into the FurDU committee as Treasurer and entrusted with guarding all of the precious shinies. Because what could possibly go wrong with entrusting a raccoon with all your valuables? Right?

Night - Dealers Den & Charity Auction

Night has been helping with the Dealers Den and Charity on an informal basis for the last few years. Night has worked for Supanova Pop Culture Expo for 12+ years, and for the last 6 has been the media liaison. Night returns to FurDU as the runner of the Dealers Den and organiser for the Charity Auction.

Snooper Fox - Backend Programmer

Snooper Fox is the backend developer and administrator of the FurDU registration system. He works professionally as a backend systems engineer and architect. He's worked with FurDU since 2013.

Taubu Lion - Theming

Taubu is a lion from Sydney. He has been part of the furry fandom for many years, and is a keen fursuiter. He has been helping with FurDU since 2015, and is currently helping with the construction of props and theming.

Foxdale - Theming

Foxdale, from South Sydney, is an avid fan of all things furry. Deeply involved with the organization of FurJAM since 2011 as well as various other meets, he is always keen to help anyone out. Foxdale will be lending this experience to FurDU this year in anyway he can.

Nikita Unicorn - General Activities

Nikita has been in the fandom for over a decade and is an amateur artist. He has been a volunteer at FurDU since the beginning and this is his debut year on the committee.

Ashen (Techie Tiger)

Contractor: Web & Systems Developer

Address from the FurDU Team - Welcome to the Outback!

From the FurDU offices...

Hello and welcome to FurDU 2017!

Another year has passed and we stand upon the dawn of FurDU 2017, the annual gathering of furries and furry affiliates from all walks of life. We called you all in from yer back breakin' work to celebrate the furry culture, catch up with some old mates and spend some of the cash ya all have been hiding away for those 'rainy day' times.

We've managed to gather a good group o' locals to help out this year, some returning from previous years' events and others that just wandered in fresh-faced and rosy-cheeked, eager to make this year one to remember. This year we have Foxy stepping into the chairperson role, her experience in previous events lending well to her organisation skills and skilled delegation to help keep this group moving though the months. Our trusty (or so he tells me) raccoon Ristin has returned as the role of treasurer: the little critter seems to be very good at keepin' an eye on the FurDU finances, though his eagerness for shinies does draw some suspicion. I'm a new face for the team, Dal, stepping in as the secretary: I bring some administration experience to the role and hope to see this convention become one to remember. To help keep things running smoothly we have a group of furs lined up for specific assistance for the convention, introduced in the previous page, and we have managed to wrangle up a good group of volunteers to help ya all out around the convention space: just keep an eye out for the volunteer badges they'll all be wearin'.

With that, we hope all o' yas have a great time this weekend.

~Dal, Foxy, Ristin & all the FurDU crew.

Now, of course, we all work hard to make this a great weekend for all o' yas, but we couldn't have done it without the help of a few people, and we would like to thank them all for their contributions towards the conbook and the event.

A Special thanks to:

Outback Survival Guide

Right, mate: the Outback is a bloody tough environment. If ya wanna get the most outta yer time in it, follow the advice on this here page of yer conbook. If ya don't, ya might end up not knowin' if yer Arthur or Martha.

First of all, the most important rule to survive the Outback is 6-2-1. That means:

- Get at least six hours of shuteye each night;
- Eat at least two meals each day;
- and Have at least one shower each day.

6 hours sleep

2 Meals

1 shower

Jumping in the pool or spa, going to the beach, or spraying deodorant all over does not count. Ya gotta use soap and water, mate.

While you're at it, make sure you drink plenty of water, especially if you're a fursuiter!

Remember that the Outback is a public space: if you have to think twice about doing it in public, keep it in yer hotel room.

Fursuiters are fantastic creatures, but ya gotta treat them with respect. Don't sneak up behind them. Ask first if you can hug them or to take a selfie with them. Remember, costume does not equal consent!

Now, in this 'ere part of the Outback called Surfers Paradise, the night life can get pretty ferocious, especially to the south of the hotel. There's two species of creatures down there called the "drunk" and the "bogan", and occasionally they breed and create the fearsome "drunk bogan". If they see something strange, they're prone to throw abuse and sometimes throw punches. The best thing to do at night is travel in groups, and put on your human disguise (i.e. no ears or tail, and definitely no fursuit!).

Cavill Avenue, the big pedestrian mall to the south, has a "No Fursuits" rule. Their rule, not ours. If ya go there in fursuit, they'll ask ya to show something called an "entertainer's licence" or ask ya to leave. I bet ya all the dollarydoos in the country that you don't have one of those, so go in your human disguise.

If yer going to swim at the beach, swim between the red and yellow striped flags. It's for yer safety!

There's tough laws on smoking here in Queensland. Ya can't smoke in your rooms (yer balcony's okay, though), and ya certainly can't smoke in the con space. If ya wanna light up, ya need to stand beyond five metres from a public entrance and certainly not at a bus stop/tram stop or taxi rank.

Make sure ya have yer conbadges out when ya come in and out of the convention space - save yerself the embarrassment!

Got any questions or need a hand with something? Ask our volunteers: they'll be happy to help you out. You can identify them by the ribbon on their con-badges, and can find them in the con-ops room.

For more information about the rules and standards ya gotta follow, take a look at <http://furdu.com.au/legal/> or the following pages of them in the conbook.

Last, but not least: have fun, mate!

The code of conduct at FurDU

Introduction:

The FurDU committee would like to invite and welcome all fans of anthropomorphic art, the lifestyle and associated topics of interest. It is FurDU's aim to provide all of its attendees with a safe and fun filled environment. In order to make sure that everyone enjoys themselves, and gets the most out of the convention, please abide by the below guidelines. We don't intend to "kill ya fun", but rather, to encourage all 'o yas to have fun safely and act in a manner considerate to others. These here guidelines seek only to make sure that the behaviour of a single group doesn't disturb the rest of the convention, any of the associated events, nor do we want someone to affect the relaxed and comfortable atmosphere of FurDU. We hope that each attendee enjoys the wide range of activities and events on offer out here at FurDU, but please consider how yer actions might reflect on the convention and how this may impact or affect others around ya.

Right, first the legal stuff... *Ahem*

By registering to attend FurDU, all guests agree to indemnify and hold harmless FurDU, its staff, volunteers, agents, representatives and all other employees from any claim for personal injuries or other damages arising out of any participation in FurDU events, activities, or attendance to the convention itself under any circumstances, unless otherwise required by applicable law. Management reserves the right to deny or revoke the registration and entry of any individual at any time at its discretion. FurDU also reserves the right to amend these rules at any time without prior or posted notice.

Basically all o' yas are responsible for yer own actions, FurDU is not responsible if ya slip on a cow patty or trip into the drinkin' trough 'cause yer too busy starin' at yer phone. Also if ya act in a way that warrants removal from the convention, we have that right too. Just behave yerself out there.

Behaviour

We here at FurDU strive to maintain an environment that's safe and enjoyable for all guests of all ages. We cannot, however, take responsibility for the actions of any individual guest.

It's strictly forbidden for ya or another act in a way that causes interference with convention operations, the discomfort to our other guests, or poorly affects FurDU's relationship with its guests, its venues or the general public, and may result in us taking away convention badges and requestin' the culprit's immediate removal from the convention area and hotel. We are also going to have to suspend the blighter(s) from attending in later years.

Behaviour that may violate these here rules are likely to include, but are not limited to:

- Groping
- Heavy kissing/petting
- Excessive public displays of affection
- Nudity
- Sexual acts

If FurDU becomes aware of any illegal activities, hotel staff and the proper authorities will be advised.

Convention Badges

Think of yer convention badge as yer passport to all FurDU events and activities. That little badge is what identifies ya as a registered guest. In saying that, we ask that all o' yas be prepared to present yer badge when yer entering convention spaces or events. If ya can't provide this identification it may lead to us refusin' entry. If ya lose yer badge, make sure ya tell the staff, and we will try to sort out a solution for ya.

Convention badges are issued to the person who registered. As such, they're only gonna be valid for use by the registered owner. Any blighter that attempts to enter the convention space, or otherwise use a convention badge that isn't associated with the registered owner will find themselves being kicked out of the venue, as well as the termination of the registration that was used. FurDU management reserves the right to ban those who violate this condition from future conventions.

Yer convention badges are the main method for proving that yer registered guests. As such, guests will be required to show their badge before enterin' the convention space — we will make no exemptions. Cases of lost badges should be referred to a member of staff. Even you fancy fursuiters aren't exempt from this rule.

Dress Standards

Guests must wear at least a shirt, shorts, and shoes in public areas such as the hotel lobby, restaurants, and convention spaces. Fursuits and other such costumes are acceptable, as long as they're not too revealing'. In sayin' that, ya can't go wearin' your fursuit near the pools or in restaurants — due to safety concerns. Also, it doesn't matter how much you like yer swimwear, it's only gonna be acceptable for around the pools and other similar areas.

Guests are also not to wear overly revealing or inappropriate clothin' — such as fetish-related garb and trappings. Collars on their own are acceptable, but collars with leashes attached aren't acceptable in the hotel or public spaces — they can only be worn in the convention space itself, or in yer private rooms.

Bullyin' and Harassment

FurDU is committed to providing a safe and comfortable convention experience for everyone. Bullyin' or harassment of any kind just ain't on! This includes intimidatin' or threatenin' behaviour, verbal or physical assault, makin' unwelcome sexual advances or abuse, or any other similar behaviours.

Remember: costume is NOT consent!

Ya might notice a lot of badges hanging from a fursuiter. Check what they've got written on them, so ya know what that fursuiter is comfortable with ya doin' with them.

Even if ya don't mean to be harassin' someone does not mean ya aren't. If someone feels they're being harassed, then whoever is responsible for behaviour that's causin' that feeling needs to stop. All attendees have the right to enjoy their convention experience without issue. If a blighter continues bullyin' or harassment, it's grounds for removal from the convention space, voidin' of registration, and/or bannin' from future events.

With all this said, FurDU ain't responsible for resolving personal gripes between attendees. If ya feel yer bein' bullied or harassed, then tell a member of staff immediately and it will be referred to our security personnel or the authorities if it's needed. Falsely accusin' someone of bullying or harassment is considered harassment in itself, and will be treated accordingly.

Weapons, Dangerous Goods, and Property

To keep up the safety and wellbeing of the convention and those who attend, FurDU maintains a strict weapons and dangerous goods policy.

Weapons (including replicas, props, or any item that may reasonably be mistaken for a weapon) and Dangerous Goods are not to be brought into the convention space at any time. If ya wish to use a somethin' for a costume that would otherwise be refused due to this policy, ya gotta get approval in writin' from FurDU management. If we grant approval, the item can only be used as permitted by the approval, and must not be used or carried in a threatenin' way. FurDU management reserves the right to revoke approval at any time.

'Cause of the risks of property damage, items like water or foam guns, silly string and such, are prohibited in all hotel and convention spaces. Any act of vandalism against FurDU, the hotel, or any persons will be referred to the authorities, and those responsible may face fines or police involvement.

FurDU is not responsible for any of yer personal property. So look after it!

Alcohol and Substances

We here at FurDU encourage the sensible and safe drinkin' of alcohol. If yer pissed off yer face yer gonna be asked to leave the convention space by staff or security 'till ya sober up. Carryin', usin', or sellin' of illicit substances is strictly prohibited. Attendees found violatin' this rule will be reported to hotel security and the authorities.

The hotel common areas, including the convention space, are licenced. As such, ya can't bring yer homebrew or anything ya picked up at the local bottle-o into these areas. The hotel and FurDU staff reserve the right to check yer bags for this purpose.

Smokin'

Unless there's a sign tellin' ya that ya can smoke, yer not allowed to within any hotel or convention areas. This includes the hotel rooms. Please be considerate of others when yer smoking and don't go smoking near any windows or entrances.

Food and Beverages

Mantra Hotel management have stated that the consumin' of food and beverages is strictly prohibited. This includes within areas like the Dealer Den, event spaces, and in the lobby. This, however, should be understood and followed by rules of common sense: we all know how hot it is in the outback so bottles of water are permissible, as are light snacks so long as yer not leavin' a trail of crumbs as you walk. Remember this is a hotel, not out on the muster trail, so have some respect for where ya are and don't go makin' a mess.

Registration

Registrations for FurDU are non-refundable. However, you can hand 'em over to another so long as it's for the same or less than ya paid for them yourself, so long as it's done before the preregistration deadline. But if we find out one of ya is attemptin' to profiteer or price gouge it'll result in the termination of the registration. The transfer of registrations is to be arranged by the current and prospective holder. It isn't the responsibility of FurDU to oversee these transactions and as such both sides are responsible for any associated costs, losses, or liabilities. Management reserves the right to deny or revoke the registration and entry of any individual at any time at its discretion.

Photography

If yer goin' to be takin' photos, make sure ya use common courtesy and ask first. If someone tells ya they don't wanna be on camera then ya gotta respect that and leave them out of the shot. For those of ya that are camera shy, keep in mind that there's goin' to be a lot of cameras out, particularly in public areas, including external events hosted by the convention or third parties. So if ya see someone taking a photo then ya should get yerself outta the shot. Please note that FurDU reserves the right to use footage collected by staff, volunteers, convention attendees, or the public for promotional, marketing, or advertising purposes, as a condition of registration.

Now if yer fresh off the bus from the city an' ya don't understand all this talk, I recommend ya check out the official Code of Conduct on our website:
<https://furdu.com.au/legal/>

Honourable Guests:

If yer all wondering what reason ya have to drag yourselves in from the scrub to check out FurDU this year, ya should take a gander at who we managed to wrangle into attending this year. For those of ya interested in reading in yer down-time we have Kyell Gold: ya should give his books a read and be drawn into a whole world of furrries. If pluckin' at the old guitar strings is more yer style, you should check out PJ Saber's show on Saturday: he'll get yer tails twitching to some tunes. Finally, if yer more of the drawin' type you should consider giving Deus Ex Moose's art basics a look-see and get those creative juices flowin'.

PJ Saber:

Musician, Producer, Performer.

PJ Saber is a music writer, producer, and performer from Brisbane, Australia. He has been working behind the scenes in music for over a decade, with the occasional release of his own, and during his time in Perth, he played guitar for Triple J Unearthed artist Gryff in their live shows. PJ helps write for the world's most popular artists in his spare time, working for a production company based in Sweden known for working with Kygo, Girls Generation, The Veronicas, SHINee, and many others.

Currently, he's contracted to write for Girls Generation, F(x), SHINee (as well as the ONEW Solo album), TVXQ, NCT and Ricky Martin's new comeback album. Performing next to fellow furry musicians in past events like FoxAmoore, Colson, and Diesel, PJ plans to bring a live show to Furdu 2017!

Kyell Gold:

Author and Ursa Major awardee.

Kyell Gold has won twelve Ursa Major awards for his stories and novels, and his acclaimed novel “Out of Position” co-won the Rainbow Award for Best Gay Novel of 2009. His novel “Green Fairy” was nominated for inclusion in the ALA’s “Over the Rainbow” list for 2012. He helped create RAWR, the first residential furry writing workshop, and was one of the instructors at its first session in 2016.

He was not born in California, but now considers it his home. He loves to travel and dine out with his husband Kit Silver, and can be seen at furry conventions around the world.

Deus Ex Moose:

Digital Illustrator and Traditional Painter.

Deus Ex Moose, or “Moose”, is a fine artist from Melbourne, Australia. Studying the arts in Brisbane before moving to Melbourne to complete his degree, Moose has exhibited in shows both across the country and internationally. He’s known for his work dealing with anthropomorphism, sexuality and fetish, and in the furry community his art reflects much of the same core values. He also runs a clothing label under the same name, branching out into graphic design.

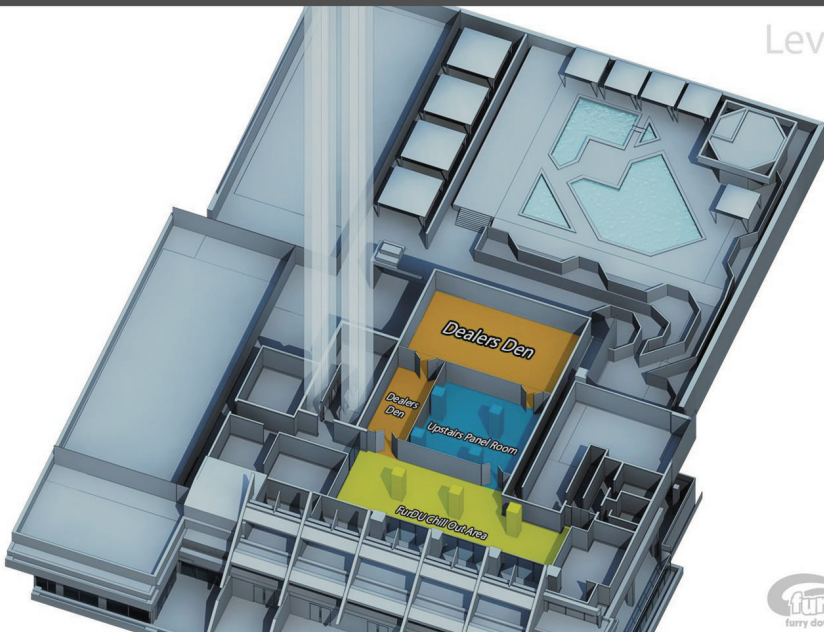

When he’s not busy with his online work or large scale oil paintings, Moose is a volunteer and staff member at VicPAH (Victoria Pups and Handlers) whose aim is to bring the pup community together and organise events for human puppy players and like minded kink-friendly people.

Level 2

Venue:

We're back in our home, the Mantra on View, for yet another year! Because the Outback is just so big, we couldn't fit it all on one floor, so now we're on two levels of the hotel! Level 2 is where you'll find our main rooms, main common area, con ops and the headless lounge, as well as just being a stone's throw from the NOSH Restaurant and Bar for a quick bite to eat or drinks with friends. Level 4 is where you'll find the Dealer's Den, the upstairs room, and a chillout space with a large balcony for great views north to the adrenaline rides. Here is where you can also access the gym, tennis court, and of course, the swimming pool!

The Mantra on View is located a short distance away from the excitement of Cavill Avenue and merely a kangaroo's hop away from the beach. If you want to explore more of Surfers, then everything is near at hand, while the G:Link light rail station is just around the corner to take you to places further afield along the Gold Coast.

Charity:

FurDU is once again proud to support the Animal Welfare League of Queensland as our chosen charity for 2017. Through our charity auctions, performances and donation boxes, FurDU has raised and donated over $19,000 over the many years we have supported them.

The AWLQ is a not-for-profit incorporated charity that specialises in caring for, sheltering and rehoming lost, stray and abandoned pet animals. At five locations across South East Queensland, the AWLQ finds new homes for approximately 800 animals per month whilst maintaining a zero-euthanasia policy. Another notable feature of the charity is its community veterinary clinics where any injured animal presented to their care will be treated. As well as having innovative adoption programmes, the AWLQ offers extensive education on pet ownership, including school visits.

As the AWLQ doesn't receive government funding, it relies solely on donations from individual persons, businesses and community groups for all of the work they do to help animals as well as maintaining their programmes and facilities. As the manager for the Gold Coast's stray and abandoned animals, the AWLQ is a worthy, local, community-focused charity.

FurDU Weekend Events:

Friday:

Main Stage:

My First Furcon

Hosted By: Jet Dingo & Nik Faux

Time: 12:30-1:30

Is this your first furry convention? This is a great panel to kick off your very first FurDU. We'll be dishing out all the secret tips and tricks to get the most out of your convention. Our panelists will be covering everything from the basics of where things are located in the hotel, to topics like how to talk to dealers, fursuiter etiquette, and ways to lower your con spending and stretch your budget further.

Ice Breakers

Hosted By: Flamedrake

Time: 2:00-3:00

Start off your con experience with some icebreakers! A relaxed atmosphere where you can join in with some party games, have a laugh and maybe make some new friends!

Furries of YouTube

Hosted By: Faux, Pocari Roo and Awesome Rusty Rrex

Time: 3:30-4:30

Join some of our furry Youtube creators as they share their advice and experiences, from how to and why become a content creator to how to grow your fanbase.

Friday Night Furry

Hosted By: Flamedrake

Time: 5:00-7:00

Back from his walkabout to discover more frivolity, Flamedrake returns with his patented brand of fun! Bigger! Better! 100% more Drake! Come compete in his game show or just watch the fun!

Second Stage:

Electronic Music Production 101

Hosted By: Nos Hyena

Time: 11:00-12:00

In this panel, you'll learn how to make music with a computer! Topics covered include software, samples, arranging, and sound design! You can take these skills and make EDM, video game music, mash ups, and much more! We'll also make a beat from scratch!

Greatest Cult & B-movies

Hosted By: Killick & Ringo

Time: 12:30-2:00

Join two excited geeks as they talk about a few of their favourite movies that you might never have seen. They want to share with you a few of these forgotten gems, and make you want to seek out some underrated classics for yourself. They might even have a few surprises to give away!

Bringing Characters to life

Hosted By: Penny Dragon & Esp Creamation

Time: 2:30-3:30

Penny Dragon and Esp Creamation of Unicornis Costumes discuss what goes into character creation from initial concepts to a completed costume.

After Dark

Hosted By: Coutzy

Time: 4:00-5:00

Welcome to the nightlife! Join an in-depth look at what gets the furry motor running, featuring mature discussion of kink & fetish, and how it overlaps with the furry fandom.

Upstairs Panel Room:

Fursuit Photoshoot

Hosted By: Atpaw

Time: 11:30-3:00

Our photographer Atpaw will set up a studio shoot and capture your con memories.

Story Outlines for Tabletop RPG's

Hosted By: Catprog

Time: 3:00-4:30

Learn how the Mythic RPG system can take the guesswork out of and streamline the process of storymaking, and how to adapt the process to your tabletop system of choice!

Externals:

Mini Golf

Hosted By: Flicker

Time: 1:00-2:30

Our ever-popular mini-golf excursion returns, just a short walk from the con hotel! How many hole-in-ones can you get? Bring your fursuit!

Infinity

Hosted By: Flicker

Time: 8:00-10:30

This year take a trip away from the Outback unlike anything you have ever experienced, where you will feel as though your mind has gone round the twist. Saddle up and get ready to leave the comfort of the FurDU muster station to take a trip into your imagination where Infinity awaits! (Not Fursuit Friendly).

Saturday:

Main Stage:

Tails from the Con

Hosted By: Joey, Jet, & Tzup

Time: 12:00-1:00

Get in on the goss! Staff members from previous conventions will share things they would rather not remember. (It's amazing what bribery can do!)

Write Now

Hosted By: Kyell Gold & Jay Stoa

Time: 1:30-2:30

Got an idea for a story but don't know how to proceed? Come here to learn about short story structure from our Guest of Honour Kyell Gold and 2015 Guest of Honour Jay Stoa. Make sure you bring something to write with and write on, because you'll have time to work on your story at the end of the panel!

PJ Saber Show

Hosted By: PJ Saber

Time: 5:00-7:00

Our homegrown Guest of Honour PJ Saber puts on a scintillating live concert just for you, just for FurDU. One show only - don't miss out!

Fursuit Dance Competition

Hosted By: Jet

Time: 8:30-10:00

This year's Fursuit Dance Competition is shaping up to be our biggest and best yet. Competitors from all backgrounds and skill levels will put it all on the line and dance their hearts out for all to see in the FurDU Main Stage Arena. This year, YOU watch them. YOU judge them. YOU decide who takes home the title of FurDU's Best Fursuit Dancer. Come out and make some noise with us Saturday night in Main Stage. Seating is strictly limited!

Second Stage:

Art Basics: Where to Start When You Have No Idea

Hosted By: Sam Hogan & Moose

Time: 11:30-12:30

Looking for a start on an art project? Not sure how to attach that arm to a torso? Your cat faces look like dog faces? No problem! Join Guest of Honour Moose and local artist/illustrator Sam Hogan for Art Basics: where to begin when you're stuck for inspiration. Come pick their brains or learn some new tricks to up your art game! All skill levels welcome.

Fursuit Panel

Hosted By: Elrico & Makoh

Time: 1:00-2:30

Want to commission a fursuit but not sure where to start? This hands-on panel will show you different fursuit styles and how to go about getting the suit of your dreams.

Upstairs Panel Room:

Poker Tournament

Hosted By: Husky

Time: 11:00-1:00

A war will rage between the forces of good and evil. When the dust settles, the true victor will be revealed. Or maybe it's just a poker tournament and we can find out who is best at bluffing about the proficiency of their hands!

Fire & Glow Workshop

Hosted By: Topher

Chillout Zone:

Fursuit Photoshoot

Hosted By: Boxerfox

Time: 11:00-1:00

What would FurDU be without the opportunity to capture some memories of your time here with your suit and props?

Externals:

Fursuit Walk

Hosted By: Foxdale

Time: 3:00-4:30

Fursuiters will gather from near and far to head from the Outback's red sand to Surfers' yellow. Memories will be made and many photo opportunities are to be had!

Timezone

Hosted By: Flicker

Time: 9:00-12:00

Get your arcade on! Games, laser skirmish, dodgem cars and more await you at Surfers' legendary Timezone. (Sorry, no fursuits!)

Sunday:

Main Stage:

Fursuit Games

Hosted By: Kita, Mackenya & Flicker

Time: 11:00-1:00

A fun and exciting event, open to all critters great and 'smol', with team-based events and solo games to test your skills and endurance. Join or watch the mayhem to see who is at the top of Darwin's ladder.

Impossible Fursuit Charades

Hosted By: Jet Dingo

Time: 1:30-2:30

The most frustrating game at FurDU. Don't say we didn't warn you. Fursuiters and non-suiters are welcome.

Furs Against Humanity

Time: 3:00-4:30

Based on the infamously popular party card game, Furs Against Humanity returns to FurDU to make you question everything about your self-worth. Get ready to laugh, cringe and cry, often simultaneously and not always in that order, as we see just how far we can push the proverbial envelope with our very special patented blend of politically-incorrect and black humour with a little furry twist.

Charity Auction

Hosted By: Night, Jay & Mackenya

Time: 5:00-7:00

As always, we will finish the formal proceedings of FurDU with an exciting auction of various furry-related goods to support the Animal Welfare League of Queensland, with 100% of funds raised donated to them! What interesting items will be up for bidding this year? What FurDU memorabilia could you capture?

Dead Dog Dance

Hosted By: MC Jet and his AV Crew

Time: 8:30-11:30

Shake those tails one last time with our fantastic DJs. Recap on how awesome FurDU was, tell your friends, regret having to go home, and make plans to return next year!

Second Stage:

Behind the Lens

Hosted By: Hollud

Time: 12:30-1:30

Behind every picture or video lies a creator's inspiration and work. Come take a glance at what goes into the inner workings of furry filmography, capturing furry moments and creating furry memories.

Q&A with Kyell Gold

Hosted By: Kyell Gold

Time: 2:00-3:00

Get to hear our Guest of Honour, Kyell Gold read from one of his forthcoming works and answer your questions.

Published in the Fandom

Hosted By: Reyfar & Killick

Time: 3:30-4:30

Come listen to Reyfar and Killick talk about what works have been published in the last year as well as information on how to be published in the fandom. Learn where "calls for submissions" are posted, what specific publishers are looking for and what goes into a cover letter.

Upstairs Panel Room:

Video Game Tournament & Free Play

Hosted By: Tallow & Mojo

Time: 11:00-3:00

A taste of the indoor lifestyle comes to the Outback with the annual FurDU games tournament! Those of exceptional skill can Smash (Bros.) their way to fame, glory and prizes! Sign-ups will be taken at the convention: look for the form on the noticeboard! Even if you don't wish to take part in the tournament, plenty of other games will be set up for you to play with friends, friends of friends or total strangers! Bring your best, your good sportsmanship and come join the fun!

Australian Furry Makers Meet

Hosted By: Ivan

Time: 3:30-5:00

An open forum for fursuit makers and fursuit tinkerers to come and share their creations. Learn the secrets of how to incorporate electronics and animatronics into your suit and how to use various high-tech methods of suit making. Everyone from a veteran to the curious beginner is welcome!

Chillout Zone:

Fursuit Photoshoot

Hosted By: DIY!

Time: 10:30-1:00

More props, more photos and more memories! We have no official photographer for this day so get out your phones and snap your own memories.

Upstairs Chillout Zone:

Come Play with Jato: Music Jam Sessions

The popular music jam sessions are back! Running for two hours at a time all through the convention (except Saturday evening), the Upstairs Chillout Zone will come alive as Jato uses his big paws to shake, bang, plink and twang, ready to be joined by any musician and their instrument or voice - or both! Aussie bush songs and whatever else that's fun are the theme of this musical jamboree.

Externals:

Beach Meet

Hosted By: Flicker

Time: 1:30-3:30

Saunter down to Surfers Paradise's world famous beach for sun, surf and sand. Don't forget your towel and your sunscreen!

Out Back

By Kyell Gold

The wolf smoothed down the pleats of her large Victorian dress. She'd just grown into this one and it was heavier than the one she'd worn last tourist season. "Don't fuss," her mother, in a similarly large, heavy dress, said.

Tamala was sure that Victorian ladies had fussed with their dresses all the time. For one thing, her tail felt trapped under it, but if fussing with the front of her dress was bad, fussing with the back was twice as bad. She'd had her ears cuffed for doing that last week, as if she was still a little girl and not almost seventeen.

Elegant ladies in Victorian dresses probably hadn't even walked these streets before the tourist boom. There were pictures, sure, but pictures could be posed for effect, her father said. The dresses were so uncomfortable that she couldn't imagine her wolf ancestors voluntarily wearing so much fabric in the hot summer or even in the warm winter. And yet, her father reminded her, people all over had strange customs that other people couldn't understand.

Gold Creek wasn't one of the bigger gold rush towns; in fact, no gold had ever been found in its vicinity, but it was a good base from which to explore three other areas that had turned up minor gold strikes, so the town had survived. And now the riches that fuelled the town arrived in big black buses from New Albion and the larger tourist town of Kaloo Canyon.

And the tourists wanted to see Victorian garb, so the wolves and rabbits and foxes of Gold Creek dressed up and talked about prospectin', and showed tourists how the forge worked, and made old-time candy, denim vests, and leather pouches in which they could put the gold nuggets they found that Tamala planted in the creek every night. Police kept order, and once a day there was a bush ranger shootout scheduled. But in the morning it was Tamala's time: the welcoming parade where the men marched along the street and the women danced behind them as her father's band played approximately authentic old-timey music.

Today as the bus's doors opened, Tamala leaned in to her mother. "Four," she said.

"I think there'll be at least ten," her mother replied.

"Eight," her father said. "It's another week until the season really kicks in."

After the tall tour guide, a wolf Tamala knew as Daren, a young raccoon boy was the first off the bus, jumping down into a cloud of dust and running off. He was pursued immediately by a larger raccoon, presumably his father, calling, "Brandon, come back here!" After them came a female raccoon and then a younger raccoon, a girl who looked to be about Tamala's age. Then a pair of older skunks, both in flower-patterned shirts and khaki pants, stepped down, the first holding the paw of the second as he descended. Tamala had thought at first that the first was male and the second female, but she squinted as the two walked around behind Daren, still holding paws, and saw that both were male.

And then Daren's assistant, a small red fox, came out and the bus's doors closed, and that was all the tourists for today. "Tie," Tamala whispered to her father, who stuck his paw behind his back for her to slap.

"I thought there'd be more," her mother said. "Well, come on."

She led Tamala out into the street, where the other ladies were gathering for the welcome dance. As the youngest, Tamala stayed toward the back, and she often did her own thing toward the end of the dance. As long as she kept the rhythm, nobody complained.

This time, though, after they'd gone through the first five minutes of choreographed steps to the music played by her father and his band, Tamala went into her own dance, which was mostly some different arm motions, and then she heard a gasp from the audience and the young raccoon boy's shrill voice: "That's a Taylor Swiftfox dance!"

Tamala was good at not letting audience comments rattle her, so she only faltered for a moment and then kept going. The father was trying to hush his son. "She must have come here on her tour!" the son said. "She might've sat right here!"

The father finally got the son to calm down by unwrapping a candy bar of some sort and stuffing it in the kid's mouth. Tamala finished her dance, ears folded down in embarrassment, and slunk back to the porch with her mother as the short dance finished. "Now, folks," Daren said, "you'll have some free time..."

Neither her mother nor her father said anything. Tamala folded her arms and stared down at her feet until her mother said, "Maybe you should just..."

"I'm going to text Jenny," she said, and turned around and flounced into their house.

(The one good thing about the Victorian dress was that it allowed you to flounce.)

The curtains of the large living room were drawn back on the wide windows that looked out onto their barn, currently serving as a hangar for her mother's Beech 18 bush plane, and the half-shaded vegetable garden. Tamala cast an eye at the garden to make sure no wildlife was feasting on their young shoots, but of course nothing would be out in the heat of the day. So she crossed to the desk on the side wall and opened the laptop computer there.

The door behind her opened. She readied a remark for her mother, but it was Daren's voice that reached her ears a moment before his rough, dusty scent. "Knock knock," he said, shaking the thick Australian accent from his words like sand from his fur.

Tamala lifted one paw as the other one brought up her ScentBook messenger window. Her heart sped up just a bit, but she kept her cool. "Small crowd today."

The tall wolf walked around into her field of view, tossing his broad-brimmed hat onto the broad red couch (handmade frame, David Jones cushions). "That little boy is a nightmare. Got one of those AD...DHD...something...anyway, hasn't sat still for more than fifteen minutes at a stretch."

Tamala composed her message. Daren folded his arms and stood still, but she caught the motion of his tail. "Liked yer dance. You're growing up nice."

"Thanks." She sent the message to her friend, encouragement for a job interview, and then searched for something else to be busy with so she wouldn't have to face Daren and his awkward come-ons. And then the door opened again.

She would've been grateful to see her mother there now. But it was the raccoon teenager who stared in at both of them, and then at the laptop computer, the couch, the TV, the small refrigerator. "I saw Daren come in...I thought this was the bathroom..." She said it weakly and then started to close the door.

Daren hurried to intercept her, holding the door open. "Come on, Hallie, come in and visit." The thick accent came back into his voice. "This is Tamala."

The raccoon hesitated, so Tamala said, "It's all right. I don't bite."

That made Hallie smile, and she stepped in, looking around. Daren kept hold of her arm. "Now," he said, "Tamala and her family put on a good show, but that don't mean they should deny themselves the comforts of life."

"Uh-huh." Hallie's eyes glanced behind Tamala, at the laptop. "I liked that Taylor Swiftfox dance."

The raccoon's smile was either challenging or conspiratorial. Tamala chose to take it as the latter. "You're a fan, huh?"

Hallie rolled her eyes. "Brandon is. Watches her videos obsessively. I see a little of them here and there." She leaned back against the wall beside the door. "Her music's good though."

"Yeah, I like it a lot." Tamala glanced down at her laptop. "Who's a better dancer? I was doing Bruin Mars for a while."

"He's good. Also check out Hyeencé, she's great."

Tamala turned to the laptop. "How do you spell that?"

Daren cleared his throat. "All right, I'm gonna get back out to the town. Hallie, you don't need to mention this to your parents, right?"

"Ugh." The raccoon walked past him to Tamala, rolling her eyes.

Daren paused. "I'll take that as a 'right.'" He grabbed his hat and situated it over his ears. "Right, Tamala, back on for the bank robbery, yeah?"

"I'll be there," Tamala said.

The outback was never as silent as people thought it was; there was wind, or there were animal noises. But it could get quiet even near a town, and when Daren closed the door, the tapping of Hallie's fingers on the laptop keyboard was the only sound Tamala could hear with her ears cupped toward the window. She flicked them back to listen to the murmurs of the town beyond her front door. Then Hallie pulled up a video where a leggy hyena was strutting about with some amazing moves, and Tamala forgot the problem of having a tourist in their back room.

Hallie folded her arms. "Yeah, you probably don't want to do this one 'cuz it's like, totally famous. But maybe—here, hang on, I'll save this to your favorites and then point you to a few more."

"Thanks." Tamala stepped back and let the other girl click links and little hearts for a few minutes. "I'll check 'em out." Awareness that she was talking to a tourist returned. "So, ah, you enjoying the outback?"

“Enh.” Hallie shrugged and stood. “Honestly this is like the best moment since we left New Albion. Your Internet’s way better than the bus’s crappy wifi.”

“A month ago you wouldn’t have said that,” Tamala said. “We just got a satellite here.”

Hallie’s eyes widened. “Really?”

“Yeah.” It was a relief, and great fun, to be talking to a girl her own age who understood the importance of the Internet. “Dad’s been wanting it for ages but they just made it available this year. He has a PhD in History so he does a lot of collaboration around the world.”

“Oh,” the raccoon said, “so this...” She waved at Tamala’s dress. “This isn’t just your full time job?”

“For some people it is. But Dad has his consulting, and Mom’s a bush pilot. She brings mail and supplies out to the bush towns. And I’m gonna go to college in New Albion next year to study engineering.”

The raccoon girl looked toward the front room. “So why do you guys dress up and do this...stuff?”

Tamala shrugged. “It’s fun. And like Dad says, it’s a way to keep history alive. Plus the tourists like it.”

“I like it more now I know you like it.” Hallie smiled. “I hate feeling like people are putting on a show for me that I didn’t ask for. Y’know?”

“Yeah,” Tamala said. “No worries, we’re having fun. Hey, do you have a Snapchat?”

“Nah. You have WhatsApp?”

Tamala shook her head. “ScentBook?” she asked.

“Yeah.” Hallie stuck her tongue out. “I mostly just use it for family though.”

“I’ll hit you up,” Tamala said, and called up her account. “If you want?”

“Yeah.” Hallie bent to the laptop and typed in her name, and a moment later her profile came up. She hit the Friend Request button without asking, and then straightened. “There. I’ll friend ya back when I get home.”

“Great.” Tamala wagged her tail and smiled. “Hey, if you want the loo, you could use ours. The public one is gross.” She gestured to another door that sat ajar.

Hallie laughed. “Thanks,” she said. “I was afraid to ask.”

“I’m gonna get back out there, so I’ll see you out front,” Tamala said.

“Thanks again, Tamala. Nice to meet you.”

“You too.” She waved as the raccoon disappeared into their loo, and then straightened the folds of her dress and went back out front to finish the show.
