Enclave Management of FurDU 2019

Foxy Malone - Chair

Dalfox - Secretary

A fennec fox with a flight cap that lurks around the furry subculture, Dalfox brings his administration and management expertise, as well as his fursuiting and SBFM experience, to his role as Secretary to help keep FurDU running smoothly and efficiently.

A snow leopard from Queensland, Foxy Malone has been responsible for many things FurDU since its early days, culminating in her now third year of being its con chair. Before aptly stepping into this role, Foxy helped to organise RivFur, MiDFur and Confurgence.

Ristin - Treasurer

Originally from Melbourne and now living in Brisbane, he was brought into the FurDU committee as Treasurer, and entrusted with guarding all of the precious shinies. Because nothing could possibly go wrong with entrusting a raccoon with all your valuables, right?

Night - Dealers Den & Charity Auction

Taubu Lion - Theming

Taubu is a lion from Sydney. He has been part of the furry fandom for many years, and is a keen fursuiter. He has been helping with FurDU since 2015, and is currently helping with the construction of props and theming.

Night has worked for Supanova Pop Culture Expo for nearly 15 years, and has been the media liaison for over half of them. The mighty horse returns once more to FurDU as the runner of the Dealers Den and organiser for the Charity Auction.

Foxdale - Theming

Foxdale, from South Sydney, is an avid fan of all things furry. Deeply involved with the organisation of FurJAM since 2011 as well as various other meets, he is always keen to help anyone out. Foxdale will be lending this experience to FurDU this year in any way he can.

Nikita Unicorn - Con-Ops

Nikita has been in the fandom for well over a decade and is an amateur artist. This steadfast unicorn has been a volunteer at FurDU since the beginning and this is his third year on the committee, ably keeping the engine running inside the Con-Ops boiler-room.

Ace Fawx — Con-Ops & Social Media Liaison

Ace lives up to his name in keeping Con-Ops organised and making sure everyone knows what's going on. Someone has to feed Snepbot, after all...

Boxer — Audio-Visual

FurDU welcomes Boxer as our new head of the Audio-Visual department. This dextrous fox will excite with exhilarating exhibits of exuberance when it comes to sight and sound.

Daimin — Head Warden

Dragons are known for their security for their hoards, and Daimin is no exception. This powerful dragon brings years of security expertise to his role in making sure FurDU's attendees are able to have a great time during the con.

Flicker — External Events

This blue red panda (yes, you read that right!) deftly uses his charm to convince our local businesses to accept a sudden influx of furies, and his touristic smarts to ensure that everyone gets to and from these places safely.

Bentley — Business Consultant

A malamute of magical talents, Bentley takes care of the dark arts of business administration and development, and making sure that everyone else does their job properly

Ashen (Techie Tiger) — Contractor: Web & Systems Developer

FurDU wouldn't happen if we didn't have a website or registration system, and it's Techie Tiger's terrific tinkering that brings it to you.

Address from FurDU Management – Greetings from those that survived the waves

Hello and welcome fellow survivors, to FurDU 2019!

The bombs fell, the water rose and the waves lashed our shores, but we're still holding onto this small outcropping of beachfront to welcome you all back once more. Survivors from around the world may enter our doors once more to enjoy the sun and surf, even if that green glow hasn't left the horizon yet. The FurDU enclave offers shelter, food, social spaces and events throughout the weekend sure to help any still wandering the wastelands in this dark time. Old world money is still in circulation here so bring what you have left in your 'in case of apocalypse' funds and make it a weekend to remember!

Once more we have gathered a wonderful crew together to make this a beach outing capable of making you forget about the dark skies and ruined buildings in the distance, even if just for a weekend. Surprisingly, most of our management survived the disaster and with a few stragglers we dragged into the enclave to fill the missing slots, we're back to full strength. The big kahuna herself, the ever unbreakable Foxy, is a snow leopard survivor with many years of experience. She holds this management together as always — truly, FurDU would not have survived were it not for her skills and experience. The sneaky raccoon Ristin not only survived the waves that smashed our shores, but he even managed to keep all that money safe and secure during the disaster. We couldn't ask anything more of our loyal treasurer. Once more, I, Dal the fennec still sit among a pile of papers and notes; it seems even in the apocalypse there is paperwork to be done. A secretary's job is never over.

We are not all that keep the FurDU enclave alive and prospering in this time. There are surprisingly many skilled individuals we managed to drag in from the surf and put to work around the building. I would suggest a glance back at the previous page to review who were roped into helping us keep this place running. The entire enclave would not be possible without a loyal collection of volunteers though, and we were just lucky enough to save a good batch of beach-goers when those waves hit; some even willingly stayed on and help maintain FurDU to this day. These 'volunteers' are wearing red or yellow vests so you can spot them around the enclave, so feel free to grab one if you are in need of some assistance.

At that, I wish you all a good weekend and hope that the green glow is nothing more than a backdrop to your weekend in the surf and sand.

~Foxy, Ristin, Dal & all the FurDU crew.

Now, of course, we all work hard to make this a great event for you all but we could not have done it without the help of a few people, and we would like to thank them all for their contributions towards the conbook and the event.

Thank you to Daiku, Dalfox, Dyluck and Foxy for their hard work on the conbook.

And thank you to all of the following talented artists and creators who have submitted the amazing artwork for this years edition:

Honourable Guests

Now we don't expect youse all to make the trek across the blasted wastes to this small corner o' beachfront without a good reason. So, we've sent out runners to the last functionin' communication hub and requested the attendance o' a few survivors that might just be worth talkin' to. Take a look at who we managed to 'coerce' into joining the enclave, if only temporarily.

First up, we have a couple o' familiar faces from before the disaster who, I'm told, rode the very airwaves themselves to come all the way from Scotland and the USA to join us. So why don't you get your snorkel and boogie on down to the hippest joint on the pier: the Foxes and Peppers shows. There'll be singin', pianoin', and various other noises brought to you by the fandom's premier band.

Pepper Coyote and Fox Amore have been playin' together for over 3 years with shows spannin' the globe. Fox and Pepper have attended FurDU separately in years past, but will be together in Australia for the first time ever.

Their new album, Spread Thy Wings, is available on all major streamin' platforms.

Musical stylin' ain't the only thing on offer this year: we also have MUTTASUR! This artist-illustrator has taken the caravans from Melbourne across the glowin' desert to bring youse all a right pile of wares. As both the brand and the person, MUTTASUR has been makin' furry and anthropomorphic art and illustrations for over 10 years.

MUTTASUR creates works such as comics, merchandise, pin-ups, NSFW art, 'zines, and much more.

Their artwork is made using digital programs such as ClipStudioPaint, Photoshop, and Wacom products (we are still tryin' to understand how these survived the apocalypse), and also with traditional media such as Copics, watercolors, and more. Find their orange table in the dealers den for some fancy new goods and custom commissions!

Lastly, we have another artist we managed to procure, surfen' the tsunami from across the Tasman Sea just to be here for us all. Stucat is an artist from New Zealand who has been enjoyin' drawin' anthro characters for many years, and is an artist at Weta Workshop. He has worked on many different projects over the years, such as The Hobbit, Mad Max: Fury Road, The Amazing Spiderman 2, and Dr Grordbort's Invaders. He is also known to us locally for his work on many o' the past covers o' the FurDU conbook.

The Venue

Once again, the wonderful folks at the Mantra on View have let us use their hotel as FurDU's home, as they have done for seven out of the ten years we've been going! Because Apocalypse Beach is so long, we've had to put the convention in two floors of the hotel. Level 2 is where you'll find our main rooms for panels and events, the chillout zone, Con-Ops and the Headless Lounge. Just across the way is the NOSH Restaurant and Bar: a great place for meeting up with your fellow survivors and getting sustenance. Upstairs on Level 4, you'll find Junkertown (the Dealer's Den), our Game Zone and another chillout space! There's also much more there too: the big balcony with views across to the adrenaline park (great for photos), a gym, tennis courts, and of course, the swimming pool!

The Mantra on View is located a short distance away from the excitement of Cavill Avenue and within a deathclaw's stride of the beach. If you wish to explore more of Surfers Paradise, everything is near at hand, while the G:Link light rail station is just north of the hotel to take you to places further afield along the Gold Coast.

Charity

FurDU believes in giving back to the community, especially to our animal friends who don't have a voice, and we have raised well over $27,000 over the years to support these causes. We are proud to support our chosen charity this year: Fresh Start Rescue.

Fresh Start Rescue is a Brisbane-based, completely volunteer-run group that operates through much of South East Queensland. Their main objective is to try to put a stop to animals being put to sleep in shelters: they have developed a network of foster homes that take care of these otherwise healthy animals until a perfect forever home is found for them. Literally, it's in the name — they rescue animals from the shelters and give them a fresh start. They do not give up on each and every animal they rescue.

As one can imagine, such an undertaking requires a lot of expenses, especially in regards to veterinary fees, and as such, many animals are adopted out at a financial loss to the organisation. This is especially difficult for the charity when they receive no government funding or sponsorship from big business. FurDU is proud to support Fresh Start Rescue, a local charity that seeks to make real change within the community and stem the tide of animal euthanasia.

If you would like to know more about Fresh Start Rescue and the great work that they do, take a look at their website: <https://freshstartrescue.wixsite.com/freshstart>

Apocalypse Beach Survival Guide

Awright, ya lot. It's tough out 'ere in the Wastes as ya know, so if ya want to make the most of yer trip to Apocalypse Beach and get out the other side unscathed, then follow these 'ere simple rules:

First of all, the most important rule to survive the Wastes is the 6-2-1 Rule. That means:

- Get at least six hours of sleep each night; and
- Eat at least two proper meals a day; and
- Have at least one shower every day.

Now, we all know the rain might be radioactive, the ocean is dirty, the pool and spa get nasty, and deodorant attracts zombies. Ya gotta use good ol' soap and running water, mate, or else.

Remember that Apocalypse Beach, the hotel and the streets around it are public space. If ya have to think twice about doin' it in public, keep it in yer hotel room. Really.

There's gonna be a huge crowd around Surfers while yer here 'cos o' the fireworks shows, so expect queues around the place, 'specially at food places. Give yerself some extra time to get some grub, and don't leave yer stuff unattended.

We get some fantastic beasts 'round 'ere called fursuiters. They're really, really great, but ya gotta treat 'em with respect. Don't sneak up behind 'em. Ask first if ya wanna take a selfie with 'em and 'specially if ya wanna hug 'em. Remember: costume does not equal consent!

We get some other creatures 'round 'ere that ain't so good. They mostly come at night. Mostly. These dimwits are fueled by booze and other substances and think they can get away with abusin' and hittin' some random strange-looking person. S'truth, it happens. There'll probably be more o' the blighters 'cos o' the fireworks shows. Make sure ya travel in groups, 'specially at night, and when yer outside the hotel keep yer human disguise on: no ears or tails visible. If yer suitin', have a handler durin' the day; at night, just don't go out in suit. Use yer smarts and don't make yerself a target.

Just to the south o' the hotel is a place called Cavill Avenue. If yer wearin' a fursuit, don't go there at all. The local authorities don't like it. If they catch ya, they'll ask ya for an "entertainer's licence", and then there'll be a lotta trouble. FurDU can't help ya with, includin' an expensive fine. If yer goin' to Cavill, wear yer human disguise.

Make sure ya keep ya fluids up. That means water and lots of it, especially if yer one o' those suiters! Faintin' due to dehydration is a real danger in these warm climes, so take care!

There's a big beach out there, and an even bigger and more dangerous ocean that can't be trusted. If ya wanna go for a swim, only swim between the red and yellow flags: they're for yer safety!

Tobacco and vapes might provide ya some comfort, but ya gotta use 'em where and how yer allowed. Queensland has tough laws and pretty much sees vapin' as the same as smokin'. Ya can't smoke inside yer hotel rooms (yer balcony's an exception), and certainly not in the convention space or rest o' the hotel. Nor can ya smoke on the beach, Cavill Avenue, near a bus stop or tram stop or taxi rank, and within five metres o' any sort o' public entrance anywhere, includin' the hotel doors.

Make sure ya have yer conbadge and yer armband when yer comin' into convention space. If yer a suiter, point out which wrist it's on so the Warden can check it's there. If ya don't have 'em, the Wardens will not let ya in. No exceptions.

Got any questions or need a hand with somethin'? Ask a Volunteer! They're the folks wearin' the fluoro yellow vests. There's always a Volunteer in Con-Ops, which is on Floor 2, in case ya can't find one nearby.

For more information and details, familiarise yerself with the FAQ's at <http://furdu.com.au/faq/> and the Conditions of Entry at <http://furdu.com.au/legal/>.

Last, but not least: have fun, mate!

6/2/1 RULE

6 hours
of sleep

(unless you're lazy, then 15)

2 full meals

(Doesn't have to be dead lizard)

1 shower

(Spa doesn't count as shower)

A Short-ish History of FurDU

It cannot pass mentioning that this year marks the tenth occasion that anthropomorphics enthusiasts have made their way to the Gold Coast under autumnal skies to gather under the FurDU banner for a weekend of fun and frivolity. Such an occasion warrants a retrospective look to mark how far FurDU — or to use its full name: Furry Down Under — has come since its early days.

In The Beginning...

The Naughties were a desolate time for furries living in Australia, where the only way to participate in a convention meant an expensive overseas trip to the United States or Europe. Although meets had sprung up in most capital cities and the Melbourne-in-December Furmeet (MiDFur) had evolved into a fully-fledged convention by the last years of that decade, the calendar was particularly absent for the rest of the year.

Two Brisbane furs: Flamedrake and Oz Kangaroo (aka Duke the Dancing Dog), having done the overseas convention tour and seeing the burgeoning fur population in South East Queensland, decided that the time was nigh for a second convention in the Australian scene. Theirs would be a con with a difference: an opportunity for furs to gather, to be social, and to have fun, without the pomp and pretentiousness and panel-upon-panel-upon-panel of other conventions they had visited, by emphasising the typically laid-back aura characteristic of life down-under. What better place was there to have their convention than the playground right on Brisbane's doorstep: the Gold Coast. And thus, with the assistance of another Brisbane fur, Joey Foxcoon, Furry Down Under was born.

The First FurDU's

FurDU 2010, "The Beach", took place in The Vibe Hotel on Ferny Avenue, Surfers Paradise, just a block or two from the convention's current location. Less than a hundred furries attended that first FurDU, most of them from the Brisbane area. The convention had to share the hotel with a wedding, and the schedule was full of down-time and suggestions on what to do around the Gold Coast between events; but, the formula proved an absolute success. Word was spread far and wide across the country, including onto the then-popular ACTFur on Air podcast. By the time FurDU 2011 rolled around (and Joey was officially on the board), with another Gold Coast-centric theme of "Night Life", The Vibe was bursting at the seams to contain the enthusiastic furry crowd. Highlights of these early conventions included Flamedrake's gameshow nights (with Joey's amusing tinkering behind the scenes), raiding unsuspecting restaurateurs with ear-and-tail wearing patrons, and the ever-present pool crowd. The Dealer's Den was nothing more than a few desks set up at the back of the one-and-only room, with the stage at the other end. It was also here that FurDU began its Charity Auctions, supporting Australia Zoo's Wildlife Warriors.

Partycon Takes Off

With the number of attendees ever growing, FurDU 2012, “Carnival”, took place at the southern end of Surfers Paradise at the Watermark Hotel for the one and only time at that location. The Special Guests for that year included the comedian Anthrax, the designers Dustan and Lupie, and the entire Australian ACTFur on Air crew. Attendees fondly remember when, on the Saturday, the entire conspace was literally turned into a carnival with stalls, sideshow games and fortune-telling, with much “Carnie Cash” changing hands. Despite rainy weather spoiling much of the weekend, the clouds magically parted for enough time for a Fursuit Walk to the beach.

But even the Watermark was no match for FurDU’s popularity and its “Partycon” reputation, and the convention moved again into its current home, then called The Outrigger. FurDU 2013, “The World of Tomorrow”, took place on Level 4 of the hotel and attracted two international stars as Special Guests: Fox Amooore and Stucat. Amid the dieselpunk and impromptu music-making, the Dealer’s Den finally got its own room (for part of two days, at least) and the chillout zone set fast the now FurDU tradition of social gaming (many furs were accused of being a spy that weekend). This year was also the start of FurDU’s association with the legendary Hungry Chicken, located around the corner from the hotel: the chicken was so delicious and the con-goers so ravenous that attendees managed to completely clean out this store’s supplies over the course of the weekend. For this and the next several years, FurDU would support the Animal Welfare League of Queensland, going on to raise over $27,000.

The con was so good in 2013 that it (and Fox Amooore and Stucat) came back for another go in 2014 with the fantastical “Fhloston Paradise”, a tribute to all things from the movie, The Fifth Element. Special Guests this year also included the artists Vurt and Silverfox. This was also the year that FurDU started to draw a steady crowd in from Asia, cementing FurDU as a truly international convention. Many sponsors from that year still treasure the replica Multipass that Joey 3D-printed. With a burgeoning convention, the executive grew to include Jet Dingo and Foxy Malone, both convention veterans. Despite being forewarned, once more Hungry Chicken could not keep up with demand to the philosophical delight of its owner. It is hard to think that FurDU once fitted into what is now taken up by the Game Zone and the Dealer’s Den.

It was these two years that proved pivotal to FurDU's success, so much so that it outgrew Level 4. It was time in 2015 that FurDU moved into the big rooms on Level 2. The con went prehistoric with the theme "Jurassic Safari", and Vurt was brought onto the executive. Finally, the Dealer's Den had its own room, all convention long: con-goers and dealers recall well the wall-to-wall crowds through what is now the Second Stage. Con-Ops wasn't left out either — it graduated from a desk at the door to its own room at last. The artist Macroceli and the author Jay Stoot were the Special Guests for this year. Live entertainment took up much of the schedule, with attractions such as comedy shows, game shows and tournaments. The Friday was the wettest ever FurDU day, with near-cyclonic weather conditions threatening the convention; but congoers awoke to a miracle on Saturday morning with perfect blue Queensland skies, and the giant swimming pool was soon full of furries.

Changing of the Guard

With Oz moving to the United States, and Flamedrake and Joey moving interstate, the trio at the heart of FurDU could no longer run the convention effectively. Enter FurDU's new chair, Larry Lynx, who steered the convention through 2016, "Toon Town". This was the year that Pepper Coyote was Special Guest, and thrilled audiences at multiple concerts. Sadly, Hungry Chicken was no longer with us, having closed during the course of the previous year. The convention ran to a tight budget both in terms of finance and time to prepare, but thanks to following Oz's, Drake's and Joey's visionary formula, the convention was a roaring success. The volunteers, led by Foxy Malone, banded together to go above and beyond as the furiously paddling legs under the graceful swan. It was only natural that, with her leadership, dedication and experience, Foxy would become the new FurDU Chair when Larry decided to step down.

The Premier Australian Furry Convention

FurDU 2017, "The Outback", was the first year under Foxy's charge, assisted by Dalfox as secretary, Ristin as treasurer, and many other staff members and volunteers; it was also the first year that FurDU took over its old stomping grounds on Level 4, claiming every piece of available convention space in the now Mantra on View. The Guests of Honour for this year were the author Kyell Gold and the artist Deus ex Moose — this also reflected the con's shift to being open to over-18's only. The Dealers Den moved to what had been the old main stage room, and was an immediate success to the delight of those on both sides of the counters.

2018 was just as successful, despite the Australian furry community being rocked by the sudden deaths of two of its seminal members, Marko and Tzup, soon before the convention. With its Film Noir theme of "Murder in Surfers Paradise", beneath the dark shadows lay an exuberant convention filled with an even bigger Dealer's Den and headlined by the artists Tracy Butler, Darren Close and Electrixocket as the Guests of Honour. It was also this year that FurDU was honoured to be the host for the Ursa Major Awards, the first time that the ceremony, which celebrates the best in anthropomorphic arts and literature, had been held at a convention outside of North America. Truly, FurDU had become the premier furry convention in Australia.

Towards the Future

One can only guess at what the future holds for FurDU. Given that this year ticket sales reached hotel capacity of approximately 800, one can surely assume that FurDU's popularity will continue to grow in the coming years in the safe paws of Foxy Malone and her dedicated staff and volunteers. Many changes surely lie ahead for the convention as it will go from strength to strength. One thing will remain, though: Furry Down Under is a convention for furs to unwind, to relax, to socialise, to gather with like-minded anthropomorphics enthusiasts, and above all, to have fun.

Here's to another ten years, and many more!

Event Schedule Friday

Main Stage

Your First Furcon and Icebreaker

11.30am – 12.30pm

Hosted by: Foxy Malone, Squigz and friends

If this is your first furry convention, or if you don't know anyone here at FurDU, then this is the panel for you! Sometimes we find ourselves in unfamiliar territory and don't know where to start. Get all the info you need to make the most of your convention experience. Then, stay for the Hug and Howl Furies to help you break the ice with your fellow attendees — you might find people aren't quite as scary as they seem.

How to Animate Your Fursona

1.00pm – 2.30pm

Hosted by: Ponah and Ellaemu

Let's all get together and make a fursona, and give it life by animating it in front of your eyes! Learn how to do basic 2D animation and graphic design with the help of Ponah and Emu, as well as get your questions answered about animation and character design. WARNING: may contain inappropriate humour and memes!

GOH Muttasaur: Art Tips & More

3.00pm – 4.00pm

Hosted by: Muttasaur

Our Guest of Honour Muttasaur is back at FurDU 2019 with an art panel. Come hang out and learn tips and tricks about digital art, the art process, and art theory. Ask Muttasaur your questions in their Q&A discussion. WARNING: NSFW content and discussion may be included.

Opening Ceremony — GOHs Foxes and Peppers

4.30pm – 6.30pm

Hosted by: FurDU, Fox Amooore and Pepper Coyote

The big official welcome to FurDU 2019, with important information and staff introductions. Stay in your seats though, because we kick off with a bang with our Guests of Honour Fox Amooore and Pepper Coyote — LIVE!

FurStep Floor-Wars

7.00pm – 8.30pm

Hosted by: ScribblesDragon, Kori Karma and Rusty

It's the ultimate dance-off! FurDU's very own version of Floor Wars is an "all-styles dance battle" event, where furies are pitted head-to-head in a round-robin style competition to see who can out-dance the other. Come check out some sweet moves!

Back to the wasteland once more...

As the sun sets on the green horizon o' the third day, this little gathering is over. Youse'll make yer way back to whatever vault or bunker ya call home and prepare for another year in this blasted landscape. We of FurDU thank ya for yer attendance and invite ya back to do this again next year. We hope that the weekend was valuable for ya all, an' ya got all the supplies ya need for another year.

Life's not easy these days and it's likely ya 'ave some work to do back where ya came from: mutated creatures to kill, fallout to clean and just general survival to manage. We hope ya enjoyed the events we put on for youse all these last few days and with luck we'll see ya next year: safe, alive and radiation free!

We would also like to give out an 'onest thankya to those who chose to sponsor this year. Yer support has helped us make this year an outstandin' event:
