Choose YOUR Adventuring path for the weekend!

What adventures would YOU like to take part in over the course of the next few days? Laugh yourself silly? Dance the night away? Dinner at the local tavern with friends? Use this handy dandy guide to build your own adventure at iFC. Make note of the quests you want to accomplish, and cross them off as you succeed in conquering them! For Example:

Tuesday	6pm	Flights bar
Thursday	8pm	The hotel parking lot

Dinner with friends
Summoning the Death Lich

So grab a quill and jot down all the things YOU want to take part in over the weekend. Please remember to check SCHED for any up to date changes in panelling.

Greetings fellow furries, both new and old.... It's once again time to gather together... and explore the adventure that IndyFurCon 2025 prepares to unfold! The outcome of which is yours to roll... fur initiatives that favor the brave and the bold!

With over 100 hours of programming, 24 hour tabletop gaming, nightly dances, a fursuit parade, and more.... Endless opportunities await those willing to enter our conspace and explore! All brought to life by our talented team of nearly 100 staff and volunteers, whom we celebrate & recognize this year.

As we commence our 16th year of IndyFurCon, let's take a moment and reflect on how we got here today. IndyFurCon began as an idea, kicked around in our furry message boards & chats (remember our old Whoozfur Yahoo Group... yeah, those were the days). Passion for the idea really took off most notably when, as a community, we were told we weren't capable of making this happen.

Nothing riles up a group of Hoosiers more than being told we aren't capable of doing something. This kicked off a series of pizza party discussions that would lead to the plans for what would become the IndyFurCon that you see today. I know this firsthand because I was there and am one of a few staff from that time still active today.

It's been one heck of an adventure to get to where we are now. Year one is a testament to the beginnings of the culture we've nurtured as a team. We didn't know what the heck we were doing, but boy did we have a blast doing it... and bringing the spirit of what makes iFC to life.

We became experts at winging-it, identifying problems and persevering through challenges along the way.

Through our mistakes and triumphs, we have learned to see the potential that each member of team iFC brings, not just for our event... but for our growth as individuals too. It is a testament to this culture as to why I ended up in this role. All of this thanks to the work of those that came together over 16 years ago, daring to actually try and bring this dream to life.

We carry on this dream in the memory of staff whose time was taken far too soon. We carry on this dream for the benefit of our Indiana furry community, for me and for you. To create a space where all feel welcome, to spread their feathers, shake their tails, and celebrate being what it means to be uniquely you.

It is within that spirit that our mascots, Linnea and Samuel, and all of us at team iFC welcome you to IndyFurCon 2025!

A Roll fur Initiative Story

Samuel and Linnea stood in front of another adventurer's worst nightmare.

A plain wooden door.

A very large one to be sure, but was it as simple as it looked? Or was a trap lying in wait to spring on them as soon as they pushed against the heavy wood slab. Next to it were glittering stones inlaid into the wall. It looked as if the stones could be moved along grooves carved into the stone. Maybe it was some puzzle they had to figure out to open the door.

Samuel was already rolling his shoulders, preparing for whatever lie ahead. "Should we just try the door?"

Linnea gripped her staff tighter, the uneasiness rising at the prospect. The door swung out, not in, meaning pushing the thing with her staff while they stood clear of the entrance was out of the question. "I don't know, looks like there's something about those gems on the wall, don't you think?"

Samuel stepped forward, going slow and placing his hooves carefully, to take a closer look. "Hhmm. I suppose you may be right. Maybe they need to make some sort of shape?"

The gems were all a gleaming yellow. They reminded Linnea of stars. Maybe they were meant to make a particular constellation? Linnea began to move the stones around through the grooves worn into the stone.

When one was set into the correct spot it sank further into the stone, letting her know she was making progress. When they were all set Linnea stepped back, surprised to see they were in the shape of the constellation that hung over IndyFurCondia every night.

"You did it." Samuel said, leaning in close to get a better look at it.

"Don't sound so surprised." Linnea grumbled.

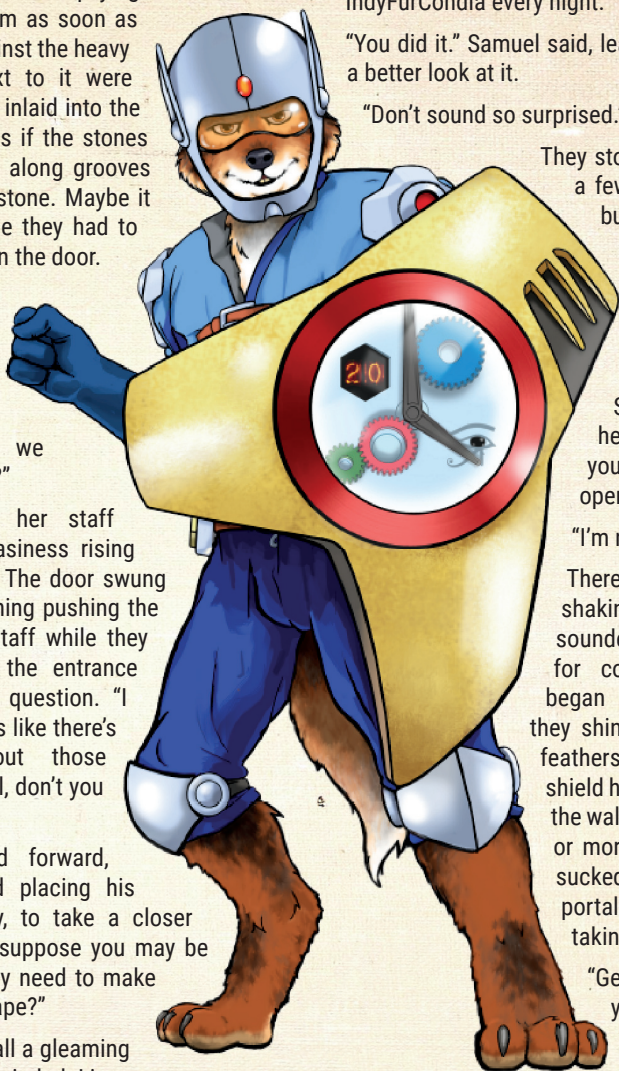

They stood there silently for a few moments, waiting, but the door remained shut. There was no click, or clunk, or even a creak to let them know there was any change.

Samuel cocked his head to the side. Do you think we should try opening it now?"

"I'm not."

There was an earth-shaking boom that sounded far too close for comfort, the stones began glowing so brightly they shined through Linnea's feathers as she tried to shield her eyes. Before them the wall began to disappear, or more aptly began to be sucked away, a swirling portal with twinkling lights taking its place.

"Get back!" Samuel yelled, grabbing Linnea by the back of her cloak. "We have to get out of here!"

Linnea was able to agree, whatever possible treasure had been beyond that door wasn't worth risking the portals for. She didn't even know what spells could counter act it. Not that it mattered. More were opening along the passage they had come down. She couldn't cast enough spells even if she knew which one.

The portals were growing massive, swallowing the stone and reaching the tall ceiling. Sammuell pulled at her again to get Linnea moving, and they started running back the way they came. As they ran things began reaching out of the portals, limbs of creatures Linnea didn't recognize, as well as tentacles and amorphous faces that leered out at them.

In some of the portals there were flashing lights and alarms that sounded, mechanical whirring and metal shards flying out. She was almost struck by a sharp piece of scrap metal, but Samuel covered her with his shield just in time.

Mercifully they had not been very deep underground, however, as they broke free from the dungeon entrance things were not much better above ground. More portals were opening throughout the sky, lightning cracking.

"What in the nine hells is going on?" Samuel gasped.

Linnea had no answer. Didn't even know where to begin trying to figure out what was going on. Ahead of them the city of IndyFurCondia lie in the distance, and they could see there were portals opening above it as well.

It was chaos, all around them more bits of metal whizzed by. Samuel was having a tough time trying to keep the both of them safe with his shield. Now that Linnea had at least some of her bearings about her she was able to use her staff to shield them with her magic. Eventually bigger pieces of some sort of craft began to emerge, as well as beasts neither of them recognized.

Suddenly something went screaming toward the earth right above their heads, stopping them in their tracks. The two of the watched this smoking thing come to a skidding crash landing, creating a tench of earth in its wake. Linnea couldn't make out what it was, it was white and silver, with flashing lights all over it. There were what might have been wings at one point, but now they were crumpled. The whole thing was made up of sharp angles. Hard telling if it was supposed to look that way, or if it was due to the crash.

Samuel and Linnea edged around the side of it. It wasn't as big as Linnea had thought, now that they were closer to it, and there was what looked like black glass on the top of it.

Then those windows started to part from the rest of it with a loud hissing noise, causing the pair to leap back. Linnea had her staff in front of her and Samuel had his long sword gripped tightly.

From the top of the contraption wobbled a very haggard looking fur. They wore strange clothing that matched the contraption they were emerging from, made from a fabric Linnea didn't recognize. When their eyes landed on Linnea and Samuel she realized they were an ordinary looking Coyote. Well they looked ordinary anyway.

They lifted a paw to their head wincing, but despite the pain they smiled down at them.

"This is just a guess, but I take it I'm not in Kansas anymore?"

Special Skill - Swiss Army Paw: The board's all purpose fixer - ready to jump into any role and handle whatever needs doing. Mechanical Effect: Assist or substitute another board member's skill check, adding a bonus or allowing a reroll; your flexibility earns extra goodwill from con staff and volunteers

Mascots

Name	Samuel L. Hatchet Mascot	Lvl	16	Species	American Bison
------	--------------------------	-----	----	---------	----------------

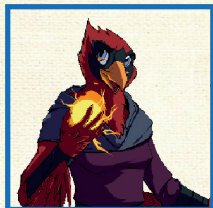

Organization	11	Adaptability	8	Resilience	8
Strategy	11	Teamwork	11	Leadership	11

Usually the embodiment of the "strong and silent" type, Samuel an American Bison (Bison bison). Samuel has been with iFC since 2010, doing his best to be kind to everyone and keep an easy going presence. Especially since he knows his glorious horns and mane can appear intimidating at first. His latest hobby is learning about gardening. Every iFC he looks forward to seeing all of the first-time con attendees, and urges everyone to try to go to at least one meet up.

Special Skill - Great Minds think Alike: Can send messages mind to mind with others. No sound or eye contact is needed, but often the teammates of Samuel can be heard groaning as he sends another pun.
Mechanical Effect: When wielding a farm implement (such as hand axe, pick, pitchfork, or scythe) as a weapon, get faster growth and strength.

Name	Linnea Sonnet Mascot	Lvl	15	Species	Northern Cardinal
------	----------------------	-----	----	---------	-------------------

Organization	11	Adaptability	12	Resilience	11
Strategy	14	Teamwork	16	Leadership	9

Linnea is a northern cardinal (Cardinalis cardinalis). She is a sassy, fun-loving bird that loves to be in the spotlight. She is honored that she is able to continue to be a part of IndyFurCon. Her favorite part of iFC is the theming, especially the photography backdrop, where she takes pictures with her friends.

Special Skill - Eclipsed: Raise or lower light levels generated by light/darkness spells by a greater degree at no cost.

Name	Oz Mascot	Lvl	3	Species	Winged Plush Dragon
------	-----------	-----	---	---------	---------------------

Organization	9	Adaptability	13	Resilience	12
Strategy	10	Teamwork	16	Leadership	13

Oz (Draconis crochet) the Security Dragon DI is an emotional support dragon who has worked security at conventions across the Midwest and Northeast US. As an inducted and beanie member of the Dorsai Irregulars, Oz can often be found giving snuggles and support to distressed con-goers and hanging out in the Safety Office with fellow Safety Staff. Oz loves posting on Instagram and invites you to follow them @ozthesecuritydragon. They have many friends at iFC and want everyone to have a safe and fun convention!

Special Skill - Bestow Hope When you heal a creature by channeling positive energy, you also relieve its fear. If a creature you heal is shaken, that condition ends. If the creature is frightened, it becomes shaken instead. If the creature is panicked, it becomes soothed instead. Mechanical Effect: Your innate adaptability allows you to imitate others of your kind nearly flawlessly, to the extent that you can utilize their mastery over skills almost as if you had personally trained in their use.

DSS

(Dignity Support Services)

It is with great pleasure that we here at IFC would like to introduce our newest team, DSS (Dignity Support Services)!

With iFC having surpassed a single year attendance of over 2,000 people in 2024, we have decided that we have grown large enough that we really should have a team devoted to helping our guests with disabilities enjoy all that iFC has to offer.

This is where our DSS team comes in.

For this year, our main focus is assisting people with physical disabilities to be able to maneuver around the con, find available expedited seating, etc. Do you have a wheelchair, walker, or other mobility aid? We are working on maximizing space for maneuverability with minimal "choke points". Do you have a disability that makes it medically painful to stand for extended periods of time? We are working on having additional seating available throughout the con space, and aiding you with expedited seating and line assistance.

Also this year, we are implementing an elevator etiquette plan, giving elevator priority first to people with disabilities, second to fullsuit fursuiters, and then everyone else.

We feel that all attendees of IFC should be able to enjoy the convention with dignity and respect, including those with disabilities. In years to come, we will be expanding on the services that we have to offer people with all disabilities, and we look forward to making sure we treat everyone with the dignity and respect they deserve.

If you, or someone you know with a disability is attending IFC 2025, please stop by our table near the Help Desk at the con to find out more info and how we on the DSS team can help you enjoy your time at IFC 2025!

- Ashiera Pony - Dignity Support Services (DSS) Team Lead

Volunteering

We are looking for some adventurers willing to donate their time and skills. The gathering known as 'IndyFurCon' is seeking those willing participants to help assist various departments throughout the weekend. Help the event AND YOURSELF (to some magical merchandise). Rewards increase as donated time increases! You can earn:

4 Hours – Sponsor Print

8 Hours – Con Shirt

16 Hours – Free Attending Pass for 2026

24 Hours – Free Sponsorship for 2026

Quests of Years Past

Since we started on the Campaign of "IndyFurCon: A quest for a great end of summer convention" back in 2010, iFC has had some wonderful guests of honor. We've had the extreme pleasure of various musical and comedic performers gracing our stages, and artists work adorning our convention shirts, conbooks, badges, standees, etc. A number of them have even continued to help with theming, artwork, and just plain "helping out the con where they can" for years AFTER their stint as Guest of Honor. We would like everyone to take a quick side quest and ponder some of those previous Guests and forever friends of iFC.

D BRUIN

The one who kicked it all off. In 2010 "Tropical Furry Fun" was the theme, and D Bruin was our GOH! "My socials are dbruinart on Twitter and bsky, and my Furafinity is www.furafinity.net/user/dbruin. NOTE there is some NSFW content on those, just so you know!" Dbruin did the Linnea standee this year!

CHRIS B CRITTER

Artist from 2012: Furs in Space! You can find him via chrisbcritter on fur affinity... chrisbcritter71 on telegram and chrisbcritter71 on instagram. He is still active in the fandom "currently doing a few commissions and still working on a comic book hopefully to get out one day." Chris designed Fransisco, our intrepid shield bearer of the adventuring group. Pending the time off approval from work he is hoping to make it out to the con. If you see him say hi! Chris did the Francisco standee this year!

QUACK QUACK HONK

A GoH so nice we had her here twice! Set to appear in 2020 - the gathering that magically disappeared due to... worldly circumstances... ahem. She not only helped out with Virtual iFC but graciously updated all her art for 2021. She is a wonderful artist, appearing in the Alley or Den of conventions across the fandom. She is also a member of the Dorsai watching out for the health and safety of furies in her spare time. "Quack is the owner and artist of Quack Quack Honk Designs which has been in business for roughly 10 years. You can find links to her various appearances on her website. She works in traditional media (usually Copic marker or color pencils)." Quack donated quite a few hours to draw, transfer, and color her contribution this year and YES you can find her in the dealers den this year at iFC. QQH did the Samuel Standee this year!

BLOODHOUND

Storybook Villains in 2014 featured the artwork of Bloodhound. "Between being a mom and a painting instructor, I don't spend as much time on furry art as I used to... But I'm still churning out the kibbles n' bits from time to time!" You can find them and their (occasionally spicy) artwork on bsky via @bloodhound.bsky.social or at www.furafinity.net/user/bloodhound. Bloodhound designed this years sponsor and volunteer pin art!

Welcome Back to Oinking Acres

After raising over $14,000 for them last year iFC is excited to welcome back Oinking Acres for our 2025 charity! A 501c3 nonprofit rescue and sanctuary located in Brownsburg, Indiana; their mission is to help as many animals as possible, educate people about farm animal rescue, and provide permanent, lifetime sanctuary to every animal they take in. We hope you all open your hearts (and wallets) in supporting them again this year. You can do so here at con both at their table and at various charity raising panels. You can also check out their website oinkingacres.org as well as their patreon at www.patreon.com/oinkingacres

What We've Achieved

- Rescued 500 pigs since 2017.
- We have placed over 350 pigs since 2017.
- In 2017 we started to renovate our old 1910s dairy barn into a safe haven for farm animals, mostly pigs.
- In the span of a year we raised our capacity number from 8 to 100+ pigs.
- In 2018 we expanded our fencing so all our pigs could have outside space. However, we are at capacity again and are in need of funds to expand the fencing. We have the land but lack fencing around all 36 acres.
- We have assisted in multiple hoarding and neglect cases and have pulled pigs from several county and city shelters.

13+ 13+ Teen: Crude humor, suggestive themes, violence/blood, moderate profanity

17+ 17+ Mature: Sensitive topics, intense violence/gore, mild sexual content, heavy profanity

18+ And, in the last section IndyFurCon at Night, all panels will require ID checks due to being: 18+ Adults Only: Requires ID checks. Sexual content, violence, and other adult material

Convention Services

Opening Ceremonies

G

Thursday 7pm, Secondary Events

You arrive at the city of Indylurnapolis. You have left the trappings of your old life behind in order to start a quest... AN ADVENTURE. This... this is where it begins. Come join the local Barons who lord over the land to guide you through the next few days. Prepare your spell slots, grab your rations, and be ready for things to get.... Dicey.

Closing Ceremonies

G

Sunday 6pm, Main Events

So many questions... How did the adventuring go? How many joined us in our questing? Did the quests get completed or were they abandoned in shame? Did we raise enough gold for the charity? And what's in store for NEXT year? Join us and find out.

Ironclaw Escort Duty Part 1

G

Friday 9pm-Midnight, Tabletop Gaming

Host: Leonard

An important ship from Zhong Guo was blown off course, then ran into pirates. It ended up docking in Thanon, barely able to stay afloat. An important cargo destined for Triskellian needs to be escorted to ensure it makes it all the way to its proper destination. Should be a routine mission, but the offered pay is quite good.

Feedback

We Want Feedback! While the AV team does an amazing job preventing mic/speaker feedback, that's not the kind we're talking about. IndyFurCon can only grow and continue to thrive with feedback from YOU the ones who attend the convention. It doesn't matter if it's life-shattering level feedback, or the most minor detail you think we might not have noticed. Hit up feedback@indyfurcon.org or the QR code in this section and let us know how we did, where we can improve, and what you'd like to see moving forward!!!

It's a no judgement zone event where people talk about their kinks with the panel audience!

IFC's Hear Me Out Cake

Saturday 10:30pm-11:30pm, Panel Room 2

Host: MelancholySeabiscuit

Let's hear what IFC's attendees have to say about what atrocities they'd take on a lovely evening stroll to remember. The High Council (Me) and audience will be judging and discussing whether or not you are a certified FREAK, or if your "hear me out" is just a conventionally attractive furry. Will it make the cake??? Either print, draw, or write down your Hear Me Outs.

Little Paws Preschool

Saturday 11pm-2am, Secondary Events

Host: Ellie, Citrine, Jaylin, MarMar, Lanier

Welcome back to school. We are having an adventure!!! Come express your little side by coloring pictures, making personalized name tags, singalong and more. Feeling shy? We'll also be watching vintage cartoons if you just wanna come be small.

18+ Adults Only: Requires ID checks. May contain sexual content, violence, and other adult material

621 Feud

Saturday 11:30pm-12:30am, Tertiary Events

Host: Putseem

A classic gameshow gets silly with an adult, furry-themed twist! Come up on stage, strategize with your team, and fill in the blanks with the e621 tags you think are the most popular! The winning teams get a grand prize! Adults only, please!

NSFW Sketchbook Swap

Saturday 11:30pm-2am, Panel Room 4

Host: MelancholySeabiscuit

In the mood to whip out your pen and sketchbook after dark and match other's artistic freak? Look no further than this panel right here, and get ready to draw some sauce. Drop and Swap type sketchbook swap. Bring your own art supplies! This panel is for 18+ ONLY; ID required.

Keep Rhinos Horny

Saturday 11:59pm-1am, Panel Room 2

Host: Blackjack and Kashipan

Tales from two adult store workers! This 18+ panel will answer all the questions you have while remaining sex and body positive! Come laugh, get advice, learn about toys, positions and how to be safe and comfortable.
