

ROCKET CITY furmeet

ISSUE

4

HUNTSVILLE

ALABAMA

05.26.27.28.2006

RCFM is proud to support PCDS

Parenting Children of Different Species

PCDS is a private, non-profit organization dedicated to rescuing animals from the local shelters who are about to be put down. The man who founded and runs this organization (from his own home south of Huntsville) has devoted most of the time, energy, and money to the prevention of the needless deaths of animals who were most likely beloved pets at one time...and hopefully will be again one day.

Between the charity auction, the donation jar, and an impromptu raising of money, we raised a little over $1209 in 2005 that went directly to PCDS to help in the care and feeding of these rescued animals. Thank you everyone for bringing in your donated items to the auction, placing your bids, and making donations. Let's see how much more we can raise for PCDS in 2006!

Join us at 10:00am on Saturday, on the East side of the hotel (outside) for an adoption fair, or visit their web page and check out the Pet List where you can find animals who need good homes:
<http://www.petfinder.org/shelters/pcds.html>

Adoption Information:
Call 256-773-2596. Weekends only 256-426-2638, or email pcds35640@yahoo.com

A non-profit, tax exempt animal welfare charity.
Donations can be mailed to

PCDS
P.O. Box 344
Hartselle, AL 35640

Table of Contents

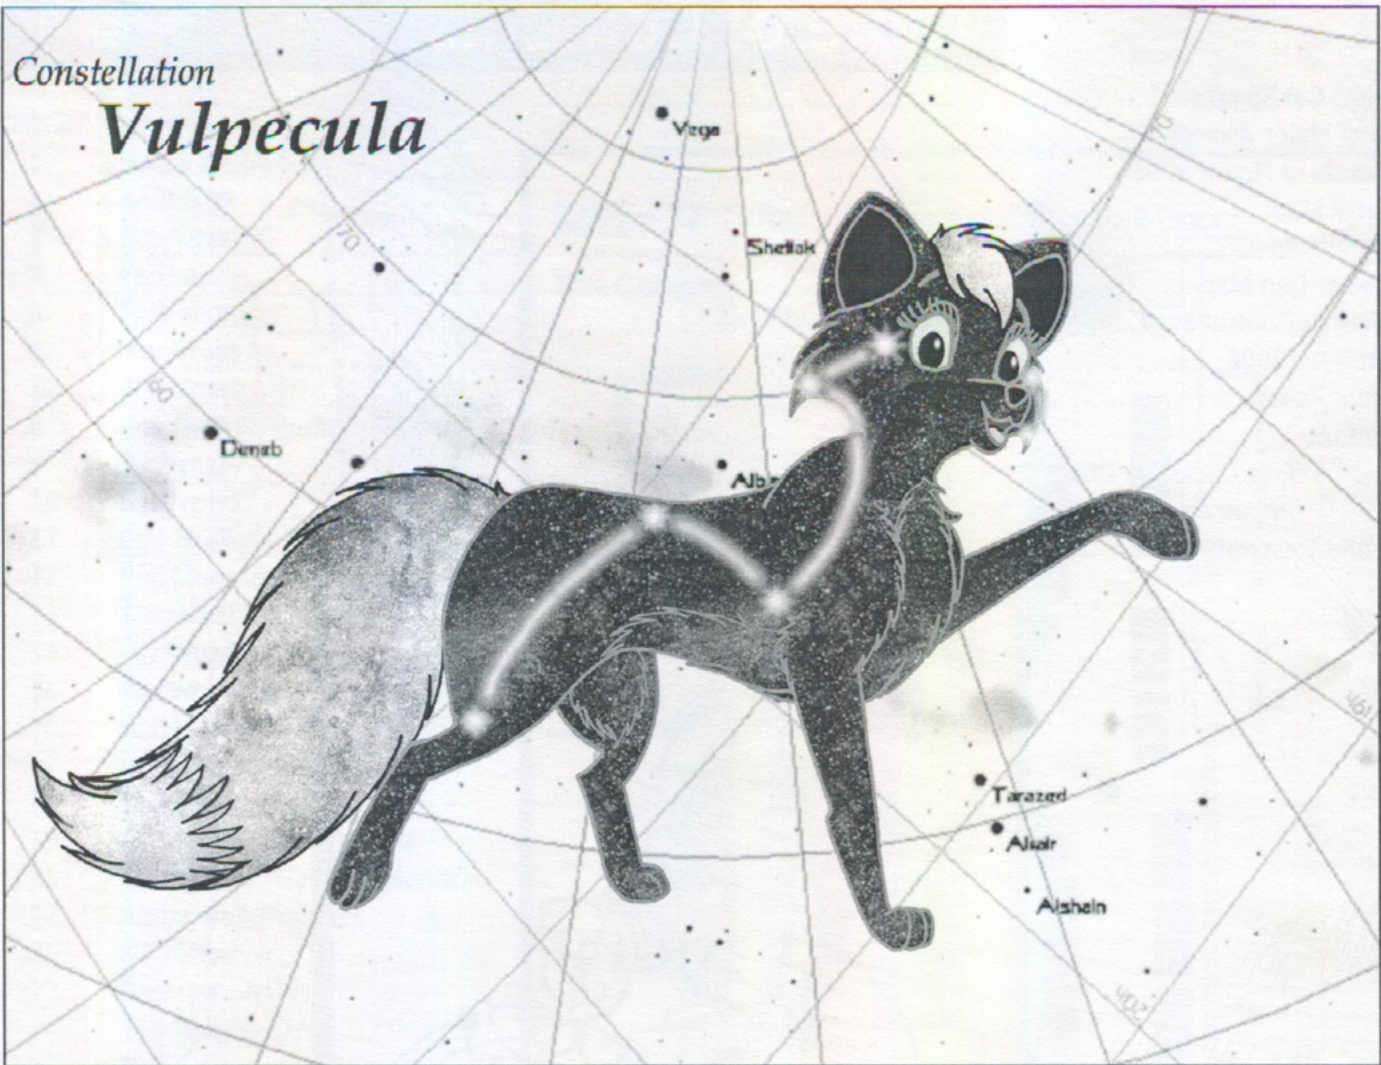

Head Cat Speaks.....	3
Ursa Major Awards.....	4
Guests of Honor 2006.....	6
Local Map.....	8
Hotel Map.....	9
Dealer Den Map.....	32
Mission Control Staff.....	10
Staff for 2006.....	12
Meet Rules.....	14
Fiction
'Five Clicks' by Chaka Wolf.....	16
'Preserving Furry Time' by KO.....	18
Event Description.....	21

Art Credits

Anime Cat: p. 7, 21, 23, 24
 Aura Moser: Front cover, p. 22, 25
 Daniel 'Hoagiebot' Keller: p. 2
 Evol: p. 6
 Kiwihunter: Book design, all uncredited illustrations
 Setsu-P: Back cover, p. 1, 14
 Raketh/Nick Roberts: p. 8

Please remember that all art featured in the RCFM conbook is copyright each respective artist, and characters are trademarked to their respective creator. Please do not reproduce or redistribute any of the art found in this book.

Daniel "Hoagiebot" Keller

F W A

February 2007

Furry
Weekend
Atlanta

Stop by Table 28 in the Dealers' Den!

the HEAD CAT SPEAKS

Welcome everyfur to RCFM: The Fourth Dimension! Commonly known as 'Time', the fourth dimension can lead you back and forth throughout our history AND our future. But this time right now, right here, is the best time of all, because we'll all gathered together for another wonderful Furry weekend of fun at RCFM!

Time is a fickle thing. It can lead you from the Stone Age to the Age of Reason to a Starship hauling freight to distant worlds. Time also keeps slipping away and forever disappearing into the past, so jump right in and go find all those Fun things we have available this time around! You'll find that we are once again using ALL major areas of the Radisson Suite hotel.

We are confident that RCFM will continue to surprise and delight you here in it's fourth year... and beyond! If you go from hanging out with friends, to suddenly battling in the LAN room, or having lunch with the Guests of Honor, or even strutting along in the fursuit parade... you could be in a time rift - or you could be having a highly entertaining weekend in Huntsville.

This will be our biggest year ever! The restaurant conversion idea that gave us the new Dealers' Den came directly from hotel manager Randy Brown himself. That idea alone resulted in a huge expansion of the event schedule, and that's only one example. This is only one of -many- such innovations we've experienced this year, all to ensure that you have a great time at RCFM!

Now it's time to put all the cares and worries of the mundane world behind you. You've successfully made it past the portal and you're now in the Fourth Dimension! It's time to see all the wonderful events, panels, friends, food, music and excitement that the RCFM Staff have worked so hard to line up for you this year.

So pull up a chair around the ancient fire, set your blasters on 'stun' and be prepared to let your Furry self loose! We have now entered The Fourth Dimension and Time itself may never be the same...

The URSA MAJOR AWARDS

2006

Named for the constellation in the shape of a bear, RCFM is honored to host the 2006 Ursa Major Awards this year. Formally known as the Annual Anthropomorphic Literature and Arts Award, the Ursa Major Award is presented annually for excellence in the furry arts. It is intended as Anthropomorphic (a.k.a. Furry) Fandom's equivalent of the Hugo Award® presented by the World Science Fiction Society, mystery fandom's Anthony Award, horror fandom's Bram Stoker Award, and so forth.

Anyone may nominate candidates for the Awards. Nominations for 2005 works opened in January 2006, and the final voting for the Awards took place a few months later.

To be eligible, a work must have been released between January 1 and December 31 of the calendar year for that award, and must include a non-human being given human attributes (anthropomorphic), which can be mental and/or physical (for example the intelligent rabbits in Watership Down for the former, and Bugs Bunny for the latter.) Simply including an animal character is not sufficient to qualify.

The Ursa Major Award was administered and presented during its first two years by The ConFurence Group, a membership organization dedicated to promoting anthropomorphic fandom-related events. It is now presented by the Anthropomorphic Literature and Arts Association (ALAA), a membership organization dedicated to promoting anthropomorphic literature and arts through such projects as this List and Award, and others which may be undertaken later. Discussions are currently taking place to improve their effectiveness and expand their presence throughout Furry fandom.

*'Etching of Bears searching for Ursa Major', attributed to New Kingdom, Dynasty 18 artist
Khiwi-Hunter, circa 1350 B.C.*

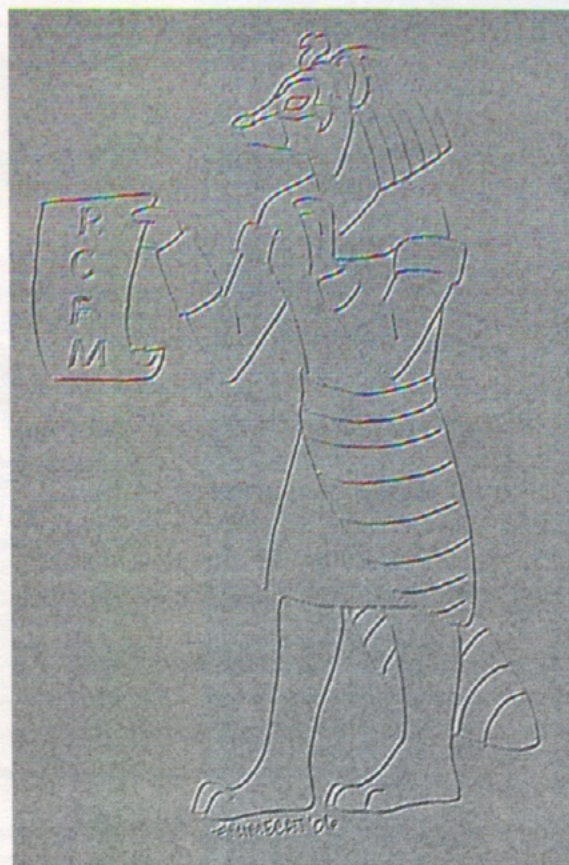

Here are the categories for 2005:

- Best Anthropomorphic Motion Picture
- Best Anthropomorphic Dramatic Series
- Best Anthropomorphic Novel
- Best Anthropomorphic Short Fiction
- Best Anthropomorphic Other Literary Work
- Best Anthropomorphic Comic Book
- Best Anthropomorphic Comic Strip
- Best Anthropomorphic Fanzine
- Best Anthropomorphic Published Illustration
- Best Anthropomorphic Game

Voting began in mid April, and decisions will be announced at the awards ceremony here in Huntsville, Alabama. To learn more about the Ursa Major Awards, go to:

<http://www.ursamajorawards.org/index.htm>

Join us for the Ursa
Major Awards, Saturday,
May 27th, at 3:00pm in the Magnolia Room!

'Etching of a Raccoon', attributed to Old Kingdom, Dynasty 5 artist Ahnime-Khat, circa 2423-2301 B.C.

10 years.
More than 350 hours of videos played.
Over 600 pizzas.
3,000+ con badges, t-shirts, and program books.

...and we're just getting started...

MEPHIT FURMEET 10

September 1st thru 3rd 2006 Holiday Inn Select Memphis Airport Memphis, Tennessee

This year's Guest of Honor will be:

Jodi Tong (j3t)

Artist, Creator of the web comic "Lang Lang," and winner of two MFM T-Shirt Contests!

HOTEL ROOMS: $89 PER NIGHT

ATTENDING MEMBERSHIP: $35 (UNTIL AUGUST 1, 2006)
SPONSOR: $60, SUPERSPONSOR: $100, DECADE LEVEL: $400

www.mephitfurmeet.org

GUESTS OF HONOR

2 0 0 6

AURA MOSER ARTIST GUEST OF HONOR

Aura Moser holds a bachelor of fine arts degree from the School of Visual Arts in New York, NY. She has worked on the production of the animated shows Courage The Cowardly Dog and Venture Brothers on Cartoon Network and Global Thingies on Sesame Street, as well as a few small independent short films. She has illustrated many stories and comics for sofawolf.com, magickeys.com, Moldred The Malcontent, Extinctioners, and many others.
www.autumnunicorn.us

KINKY TURTLE RCFM'S SPECIAL GUEST

The "turtle" with 3 arms is back, this time as our special guest. KT is known for his cartoon diaries of conventions and events, as well as his archive of con photos. You can find his works at <http://www.conmicro.cx/~kturtle>.

SANTA FOX PANELIST OF HONOR

Santa Fox is an avid pawpeteer and fursuiter; and if you don't see him wandering about a con with a pawpet on his hand, it's probably because he's running around in one of his many fursuits. Not only is Santa Fox a performer, but he also designs and builds all of his pawpet and fursuit characters. When not hanging out at a furry gathering, Santa Fox can be found doing professional puppet shows and costume character greetings throughout the Greater Atlanta Area.

SUB-LEVEL 3 MUSICAL GUESTS OF HONOR

John and Lennox form the musical duo Sublevel 03. They have been performing their unique electronic-driven alt-rock for the fandom for four years, and come to RCFM again for an encore performance on Saturday night. Find out more about furry's first band at <http://www.sublevel3.us>.

WANT TO SEE YOUR WORK IN PRINT?

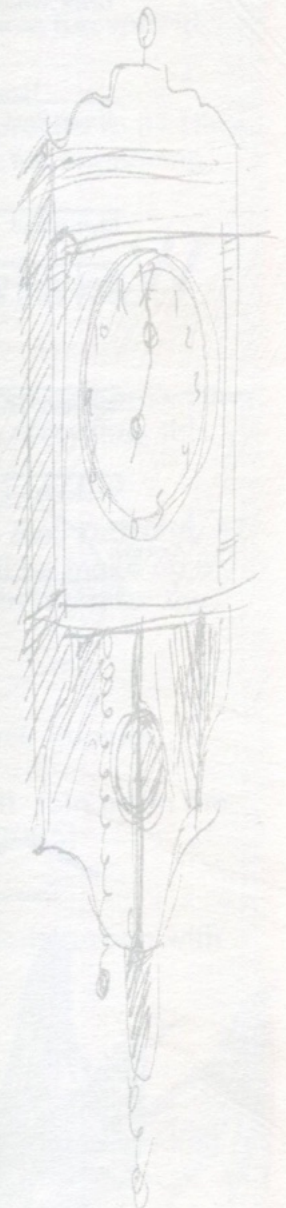

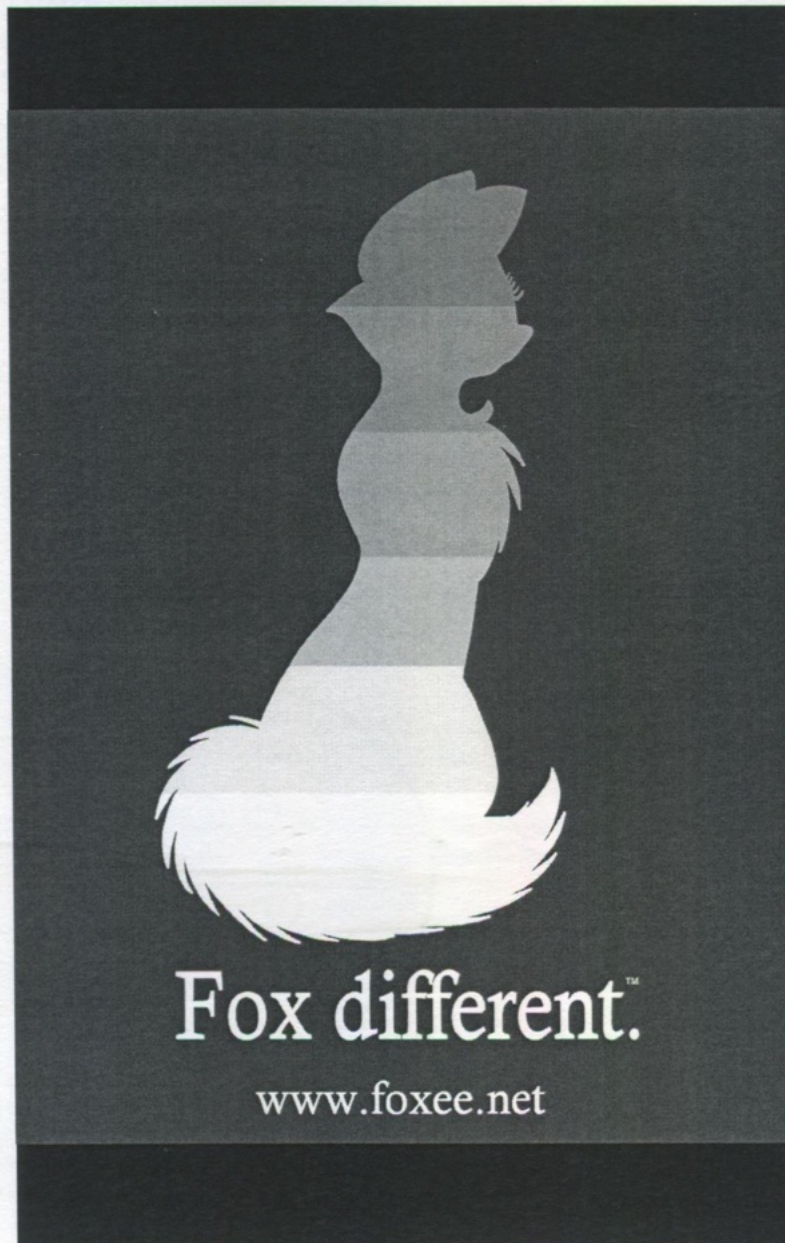

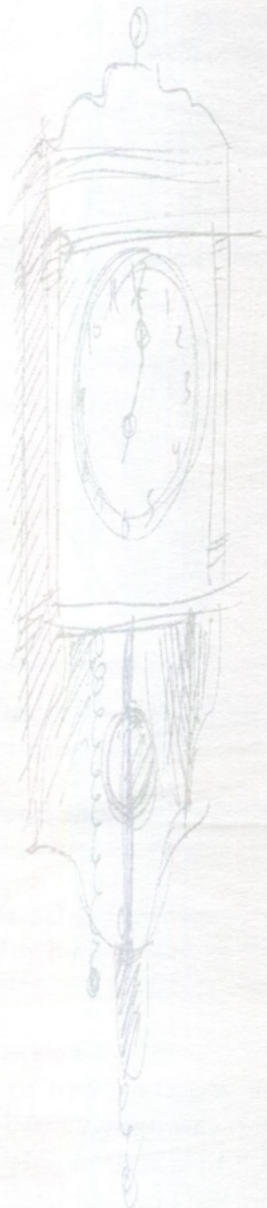

Enter the RCFM 2007 'SCI-FIVE'
CON THEME art contest this weekend!

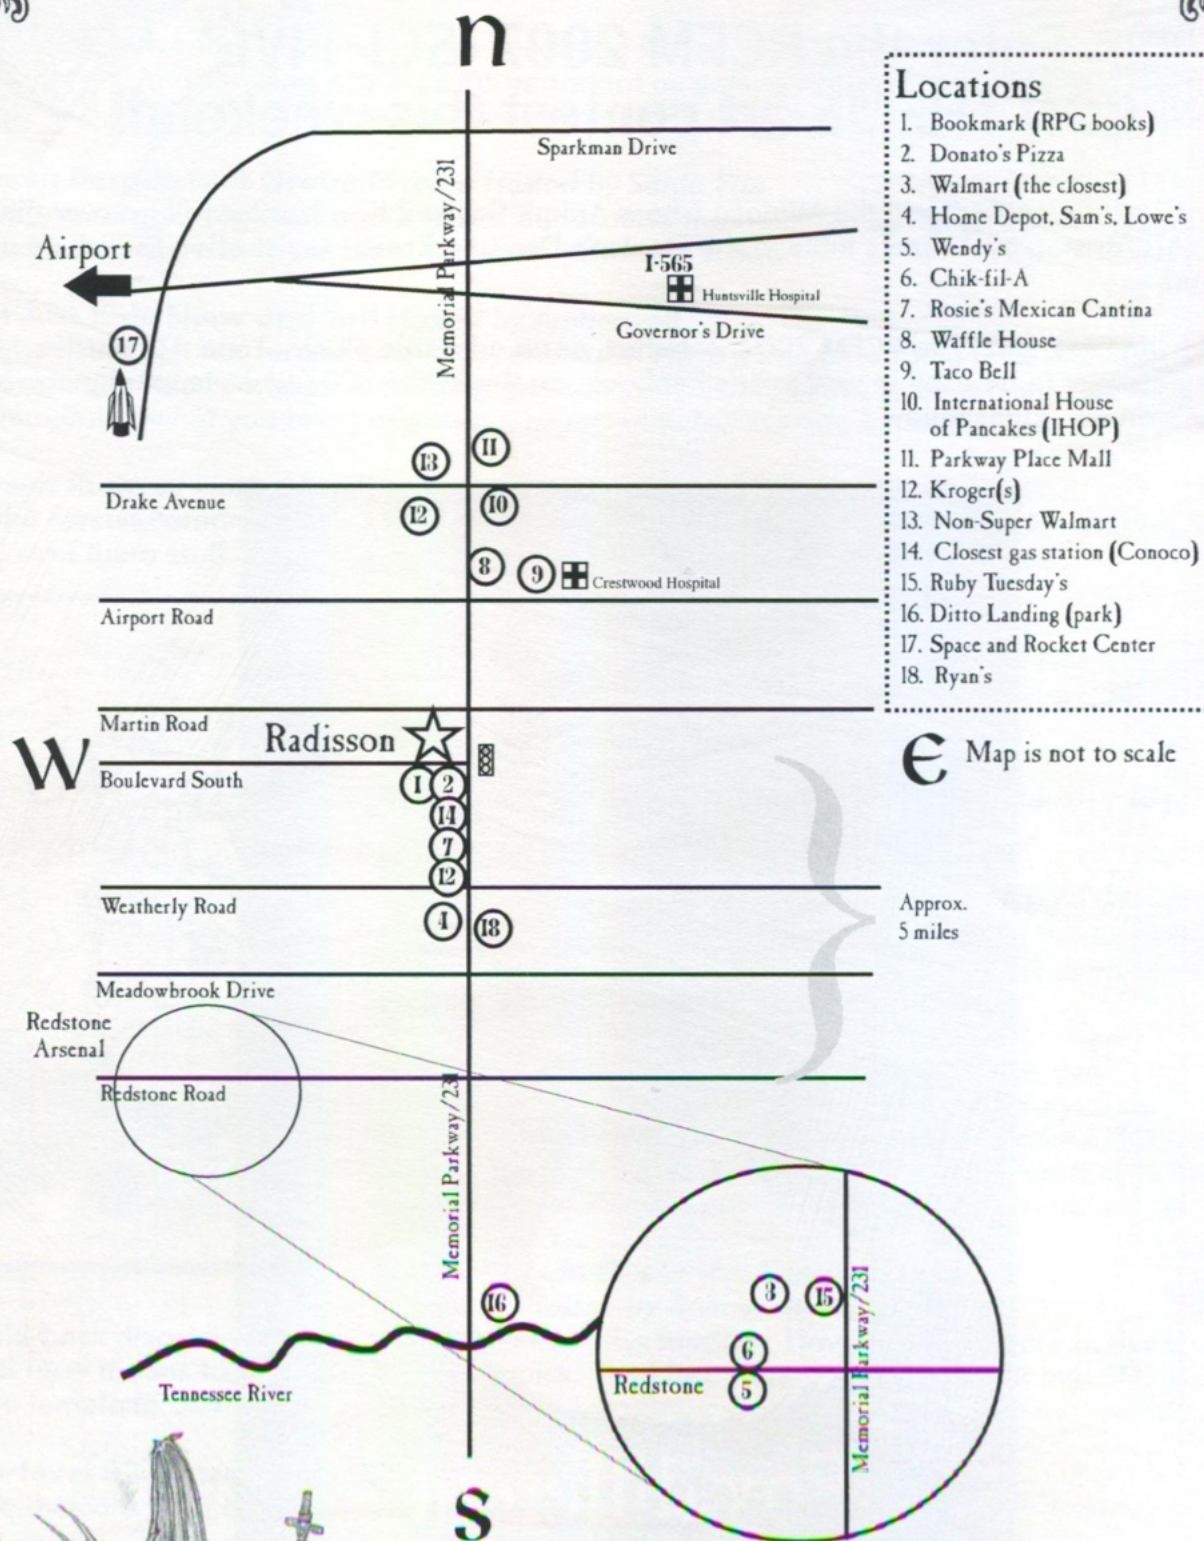

Stop by at 6:00pm on Friday in the Mimosa where Anime Cat and Kiwi Hunter will go over the contest rules, or stop by Anime's table in the Dealer's Den/see Kiwi in registration to pick up an entry form!

You could win FREE ENTRY to RCFM 2007, a T-shirt, or an adorable plush -- and ALL entries have the potential to be used in next year's conbook, on the RCFM 2007 website, or signage at next year's Meet! Enter today!

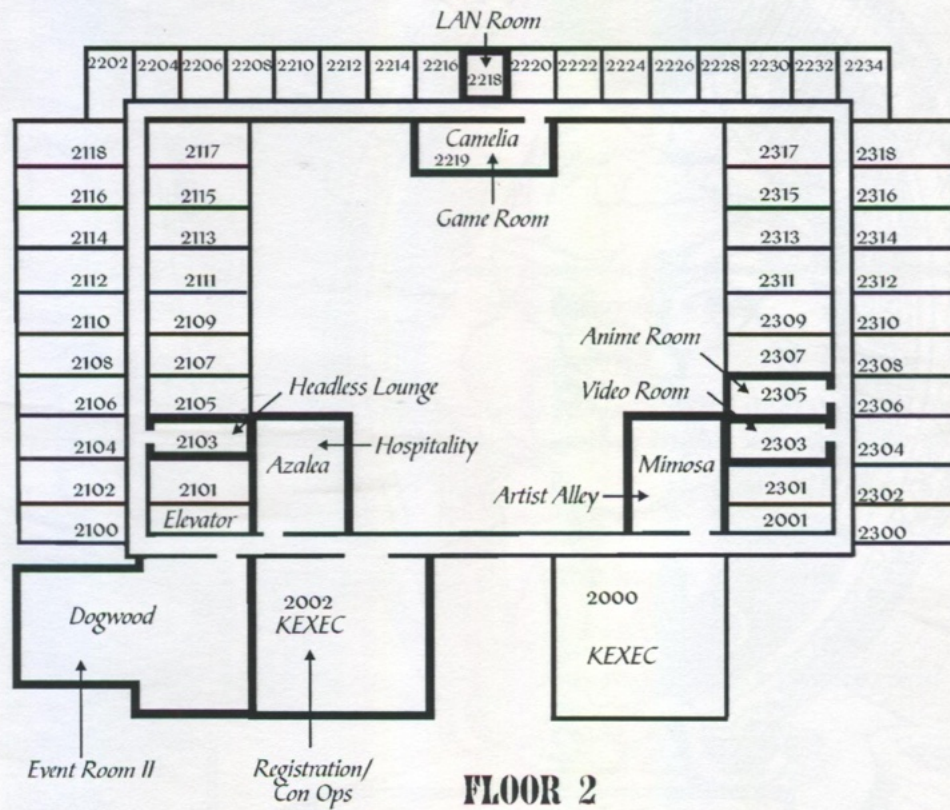

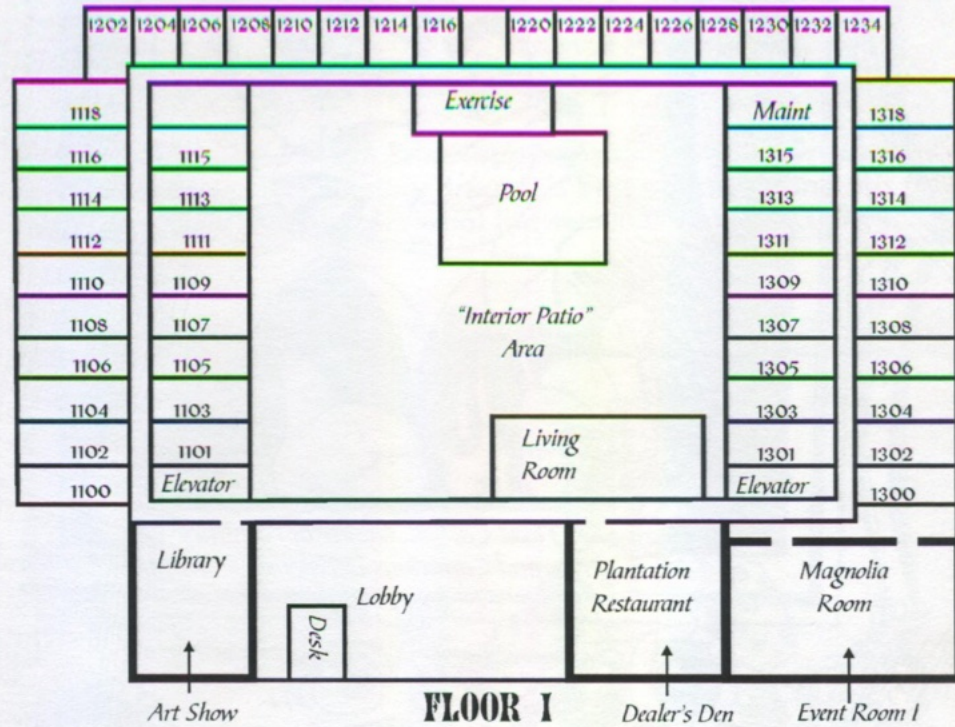

ye old area map

~whenst thou does thirst or hunger, or require a visit to thy local wal-mart, a provision of a map can prove most helpful. keeping in thy directions that upwards equals northernward, we provide this, the area map~

Hotel Map

Mission Control staff

KO - Head Cat, or "Maker of Arbitrary and Capricious Decisions"

Brody Catsmouth -
Co-chair, Treasurer, & Founder

Alexander Katz - Master of Security
& RCFM Third Banana

*Lacy Amberwolf -
Master of T-shirts, Furdadia & Second
Life Liason, & Herder of Offspring*

Draconis - Master of Events and Fursuit Wrangler

Tallyhawk - WebTiger

Kat - Hospitality Mistress & Tax Guru

*Shirokuma - Co-Commander of the Dealers'
Den & All Things Monetary*

RCFM Staff 2006

*Boba Ferret
Video Room Carpet Shark*

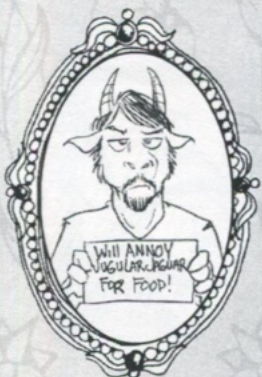

*Brimstone
Pastry Chef
& Sugarcoma Inducer*

*Brine
Booster Gopher
& Liason*

*Furp
Furst Aid Medic &
Security Slave*

*Jim Groat
Chaos Generator
& RCFM Rabbi*

*Jugular Jaguar
Con Mascot*

*Kiran Lightpaw
Keeper of Registration*

*Pita
Head Cat's Assistant*

*Racoon
LAN room Sorcerer*

*Samii Tiger
Volunteer Herder*

*Thalyn Chatnoir
AlleyKat*

Travis Games Master

*Vincent
Mascot's Assistant & Cuteness Gauge*

*Cerise Wolf
Staff Marine,
Third World Relations*

*Chestnut Stallion
LAN Room Sorcerer*

*Evol
Controller of the Auctions*

Haystack Caldoon Hospitality Guy

*Heros, the Noisy Panther
Electronic Equipment
Officer & Assistant
Master of Events*

*Jayrith
The Mysterious Unknown
Staff Member*

*Kiwihunter
Assistant to Graphics,
Hospitality, Registration, & anything else we can think of*

*Lira Kino
Resident Anime Maven*

*Spiral Raven
Art Show Raven*

*Setsu-P
Mistress of Security
(three pounds of evil in a one-pound bag)*

*Oldfreak
Master of Puppets*

*Techwolf
Server Wizard
& Official Meet
Furtographer*

*Yoken
Co-Commander of the Dealers' Den
& All Things Monetary*

Rules, General Guidelines, and Code of Conduct

OR

“Don’t Mess Around When Setsu-P’s in Town”

We are here to have a Meet, a get-together, a gathering of friends, and the chance to meet new ones. We are here primarily to have fun and be ourselves. Still, we have to spell out those things that will and won't be acceptable behavior in public areas, even though this may seem like common sense and to be self-evident.

The policy must be in place for the protection of all and must be held to by all. The reason we do this now is so there can be no argument later about what the policy was, since this code of conduct applies to everyone at the Meet without exception. Violations of these guidelines will be taken seriously for the protection and safety of all attendees.

An attendee of RCFM, staff and volunteers included, will be given two warnings for minor offenses and badge removal on the third offense. Serious offenses may have more severe penalties applied, but could result in badge removal and expulsion from the Meet and all Meet areas.

RCFM Security Staff will have distinctive uniforms and/or badges and will be patrolling or stationed at needed locations. Please cooperate with RCFM and hotel security at all times. (Hotel staff should be considered the same as a member of the Meet Security Staff.) If Security asks you to move your activities or modify your behavior, failure to do so is a violation.

Don't hesitate to go to our Security Staff with problems, even if it is of a sensitive nature. They are here to make a safe, fun Meet for everyone and not just to enforce rules.

You must have your badge on you and visible at all times in Meet areas. Fursuiters or others in costume are also required to wear a badge at all times. If you need a badge with a different name for this reason, you may inform the registrar of the name and get a badge for it at the registration desk.

Alcohol is not allowed in Meet areas, including the hallways, lobby, and on hotel property. Alcohol is not allowed in hotel areas, excluding the Hotel bar. Please tip your bartender.

Please be discreet if you have any alcohol in your private room. No public intoxication will be tolerated, as per Alabama law, and the proper authorities will be notified in case of any incidents.

Meet participants under the age of 21 found drinking alcohol will have their badges removed and will be expelled as this is a major violation. Anyone found serving alcohol to anyone under the age of 21 will have their badges removed and will be reported to the proper authorities. Meet participants found with illegal substances will have their badges removed and will be reported to the proper authorities as this is a major violation.

Weapons are not allowed in any Meet areas, whether part of a costume or not, unless safeguarded or peace-bonded. Safeguarded or peace-bonded weapons must be inspected and approved by a member of the Security Staff before they will be allowed in any Meet areas.

There will be no harassment of any attendee of any kind. Harassment is a major violation. If you are told "no" or "leave me alone," you do not need to be told a second time. If you find yourself a victim of harassment of any kind, please notify a member of Security immediately.

Any RCFM attendee may be required to show valid identification and/or proof of age at registration. A distinctly colored badge will be issued to minors.

Attendees under the age of 18 must inform the registration desk of their age at the time of check-in and are required to have written permission from a parent or legal guardian to attend the Meet. Minors under the age of 15 must be accompanied by a parent, guardian, or appointed representative at all times in Meet areas. Penalties for security violations by a minor will be levied upon the minor and the parent, guardian, or appointed representative. Minors may not be admitted to certain areas or attend certain events, so please be aware of any areas or events designated as Adult-Only.

The taking of pictures for personal use is acceptable, but please ask before taking pictures. If any pictures are used for professional purposes or for broadcast media in any way, shape, or form without the express permission of RCFM Staff, they will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Professional media and members of the press, in any shape or form, will not be allowed in any of the RCFM or hotel areas unless they have requested a staff-approved press pass before May 10, 2006. Those requesting a press pass will be interviewed and have their background checked for legitimacy. Individuals or groups granted a press pass must visibly identify themselves as press at all times, to the approval of RCFM Staff. Press will also be required to request permission of any and all individuals in any and all Meet areas for interviewing, taking of photos, film or video, or any other activity intended for broadcast or public release.

All Rules, General Guidelines, and Codes of Conduct apply to members of the press or other visitors to RCFM, especially the policy on harassment.

Please keep public displays of affection to a minimum in all public areas. Overt displays of affection can be considered a violation by security staff. Hugging, back scratches, and non-sexual kissing is fine, but this is a family oriented environment and will be kept that way.

Nudity or obscenity in violation of state or local law will be considered a serious violation and can result in badge removal and expulsion. Fursuits and other costumes are subject to these same nudity and obscenity laws and, if necessary, must be dressed or behave accordingly. Outright displays of BDSM or bondage gear should be kept in private areas as they may be considered a violation. Collars are fine, but please don't go overboard.

Remember that we're here to have fun, so be sure to enjoy the time that you spend at RCFM and we hope to see here again next year. :D

"I don't understand . . . magnetic generator?"

The fox moved to the window and pointed a black-furred digit. "There."

Tearing his eyes with some difficulty from the furry apparition in his living room, Jerry looked out across his back yard and the narrow valley that marked his property line. On the far side the gray silhouettes of three high-voltage transformers lay at the intersection of two long queues of steel towers. "You mean the substation?"

"There at that place our worlds will pass through each other. It cannot be stopped. We will use your planet's natural magnetic field to make the intersection possible. The magnetic field of your . . . substation . . . changes with time. We cannot pass alive through a changing field. It will kill us. We are many times many. We do not want to die. Help us. Please."

As Jerry tried to understand, the clock clicked off another extra-long second. "What do you mean by passing through each other?"

"I have not the time or words to explain. I am a part of the team studying the intersection. It was I who discovered the magnetic field." The fox fished a paw-shaped medallion from beneath his tunic. "This was once worn by a great leader. He saved many from death. It was given to me for . . ." The creature's ears twitched as he sought for the right word. "for luck. I learned your words and I learned to slip into your world. We do not want to die. Can you stop it?"

An image flashed through Jerry's mind: he saw himself, breath reeking of Scotch, trying to persuade the electric company to shut down the power to half the city. "I'm afraid I can't. I don't even know how. Our society depends on electricity. It is never turned off except by accident or to make repairs. Even in an emergency it might take hours to turn it off."

The fox's ears drooped. Jerry saw in the creature's eyes a sadness that seemed bottomless. "We will die then. It is for nothing." In the silence that followed, Jerry heard the clock's works click.

"What will you do?" asked Jerry.

"Die. I have failed."

"But you can stay here. You'll be safe."

"No. I cannot live here and I cannot return. There is no safe." As Jerry watched, the fox suddenly appeared older. It was as if the creature had aged decades in mere moments. "As I said, I have used my own time to slow yours. When your star sets, the intersection will begin. My kind will be no more. I . . . will be . . . the first." The creature sagged, and Jerry caught him. His last words were lost to Jerry; they were spoken in a language he could not understand. As the fox died, his body seemed to dissolve, losing mass until Jerry was left holding nothing but the pawprint medallion on its chain.

Click.

As Jerry looked around, his grandfather's clock resumed its familiar

Five Clicks

by Chaka Wolf

Jerry Atkins poured himself a glass of Chivas and sank into his easy chair. This was the best part of the day for Jerry – those precious few hours after the end of his official workday and before the phone began to ring. The long but necessary calls from his west coast business partners had become a regular part of his life, but he longed for the days before the opening of the California office. Back then, the calls were all from the same time zone, and he could deal with them during regular business hours.

As his San Jose colleague's clock edged toward six P.M. when their printers would spew out the day's numbers, Jerry watched the sunset as the long-case Seth Thomas in his living room ticked towards eight. This old timepiece had been in the Atkins' family for generations; it was quite literally his Grandfather's clock. As Jerry sipped his drink, he heard the soft ticking of the old clock stop. Jerry had wound the clock regularly, just as his father and grandfather had taught him. Now it had stopped just shy of seven-forty. Lowering his gaze to the pendulum, Jerry noticed something which caused him to jump from his chair for a closer look. The pendulum had not stopped at the bottom of its swing, but at the extreme right-hand end. Impossible! As he peered through the cut-glass door in the clock's waist, he heard a distinctive click. This was a sound that the clock had made millions of times. He knew that, buried in the mechanism behind the clock's face, the escapement had just advanced one tooth: the clock had just ticked. Jerry's astonishment deepened when he saw the pendulum start to move almost imperceptibly to the left. The journey that should take only one second was shaping up to be a very long trip.

"Hello."

At the sound of that one word, spoken in a room in which Jerry knew he was alone, his contemplation of the horological oddities of the Seth Thomas was forgotten. Whirling, Jerry stared open-mouthed at his guest.

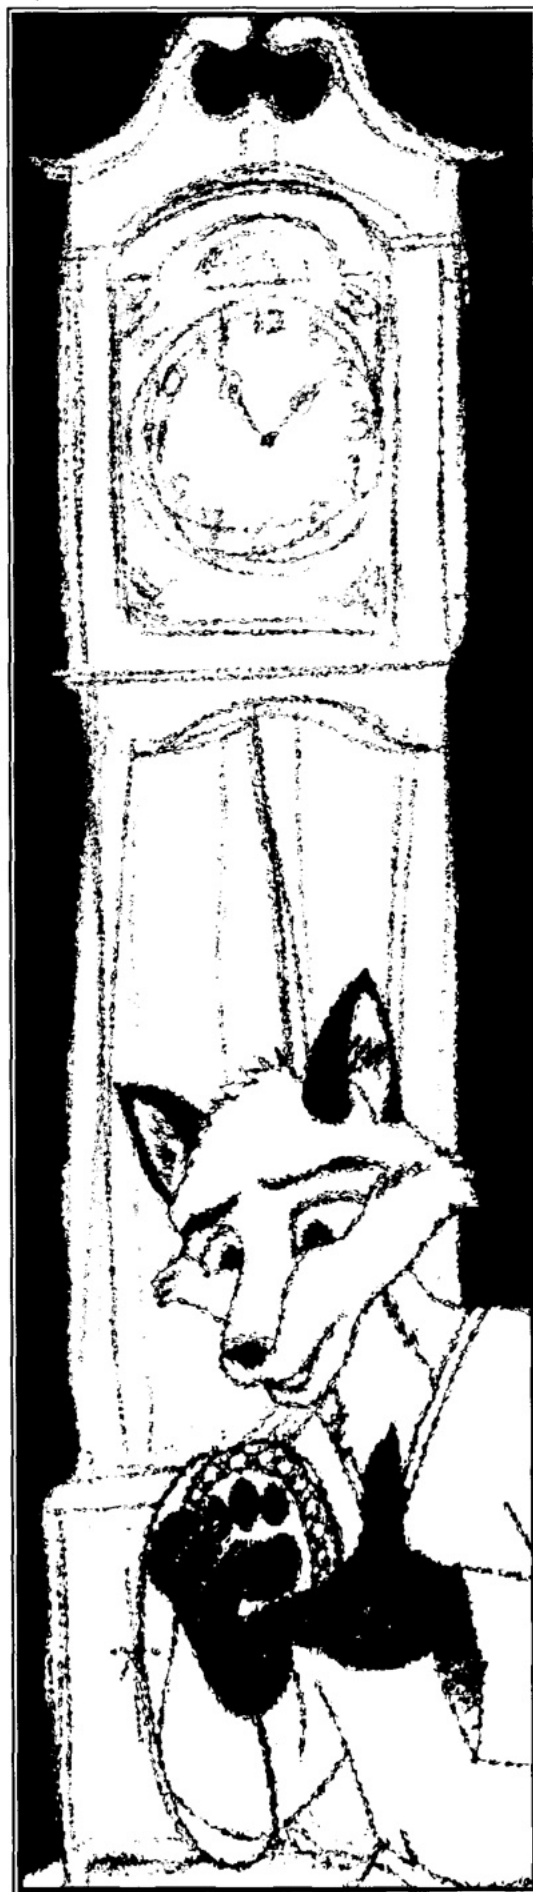

Jerry had seen foxes before. They were common in the northern Alabama game fields where he and his friends hunted. He had, however, never encountered a fox which walked on its hind legs, nor had he seen one that would match this five foot tall specimen for size. He was also quite sure that no fox, regardless of size, had ever worn clothing or said hello to him. The silence in the room was perfect until, behind him, the clock's pendulum reached the left-most end of its swing.

Click.

Moving on noiseless paws, the animal approached. "Can you help us? We will die."

"Wha . . . what are you? What do you want?"

"I have little time," the fox responded, "I can only live in your world for a short while. I have stretched your time at the cost of mine. You must turn off your magnetic generator or we will all die."

beat. Although his conversation with the unique animal had seemed to last several minutes, according to the clock only five seconds had passed. His eye was drawn to the mahogany gun cabinet which stood beside the clock. Hanging the fox's pendant around his neck, he snatched his keys from his pocket. With trembling hands, Jerry unlocked the glass door and withdrew his hunting rifle. Grabbing the drawer pull at the bottom of the cabinet, he yanked the drawer out hard enough to spill its contents onto the floor. Tearing open a box of ammunition, he loaded the rifle as he ran to his back yard. The sun touched the horizon as he began shooting.

The Huntsville Times, Friday, May 26 2006:

Several neighborhoods lost power Thursday evening when three transformers were vandalized at a substation which serves north Huntsville and rural areas near Winchester Road. According to local authorities, terrorism is not suspected.

http://www.jpl.nasa.gov/magnetic_blink:

Magnetic "blink" recorded near Huntsville, Alabama.

Last Thursday, scientists at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory recorded a momentary anomaly in the Earth's magnetic field near Huntsville, Alabama. Physicist Eugene Rafferty: "Something caused the Earth's magnetic field to weaken significantly for one hundred sixty-two milliseconds at 19:43 on Thursday, May 25. The area affected was small; less than one mile in diameter. After studying data from three separate Gauss meters, faulty equipment has been ruled out. At this time, we can offer no explanation for this phenomenon." When asked about the power failure which occurred in the area a few minutes before the event, Dr. Rafferty said, "The two events are completely unrelated. As I understand it, the power failure was caused by vandalism. Furthermore, the power had been off for nearly a minute when the magnetic anomaly was recorded."

'Preserving Furry Time' by KO

Professor Jarvis McManus, PhD, wasn't having a very good evening. This fact was not immediately obvious to those around him though, despite the fact that he rarely took an evening away from work to visit the local pub.

A couple of the students from his research lab had noticed that he was sitting at the bar watching the news on TV, but they refrained from disturbing his trains of thought. It was well known on campus that McJar's trains could run pretty deep when he was staring blankly at a television. In truth, he wasn't paying attention to the TV at all. There was something about the constantly moving images on the screen that kept his brain in motion as well, and tonight he some truly disturbing thoughts to resolve.

Earlier that week his research team had successfully introduced a genetic reversion serum to a living gerbil that rendered it completely hairless. The very next day the Sponsor company that funded his research had called to say that they needed a genetic reversion technique that could be applied to human testing by the end of the month or they would terminate his funding. The irony of having his corporate Sponsor throw cold water on their victory in the lab didn't faze him a bit. The fact that he had 19 days to produce a viable genetic reversion process for human testing did.

The worst part was that the research team now had a PROCESS that was proven to work, but they didn't have a technical goal to go along with it. Project C-7, which had come to be known as the "Shaved Gerbil Injection", was the only one to successfully utilize the experimental genetic reversion process. And he sincerely doubted that the lab's corporate sponsor was interested in rendering people permanently hairless with a simple injection.

"Looks like it's going to rain tomorrow, eh?"

He hadn't noticed the smallish fellow with the mousy brown hair sitting beside him until hearing this comment, apparently referencing the weather news currently on the TV. "Yes," he mumbled drily, "The meteorology department mentioned something yesterday about a 'Humid Gulf Front' moving into the area tomorrow, whatever that means."

The little man was quiet for a few moments, then offered, "I know a penny is the traditional currency, but I'll refill that mug for your thoughts." He then followed this statement up by waving down the bartender without waiting for an answer.

Glancing over at the man, and lifting his newly filled mug to drink, McManus noticed that the fellow had a whiskery mustache that made this intruder upon his thoughts look even more like a twitchy, if pleasant, rodent. "And what interest could you possibly have in my thoughts, kind sir?", he replied back.

Shrugging, the stranger smiled and said, "Well... a little conversation is always better than staring at the TV all evening. My name's Randy, by the way."

Feeling less reserved than usual, after several mugs of fine lager, the Professor shook the man's extended hand and stated, "Jarvis McManus, Professor of Genetics Research over at the University. Pleased to meet you."

The fellow seemed to wait for him to add to his simple statement, so he continued, "Well... as for thoughts, I introduced a modified gene to a testing gerbil a few days ago that makes it go bald. Now the Sponsor of my research wants me to send them a usable genetic product of some kind, but I really don't think they want something that makes people go bald. Which leaves me in a tough spot, because I really don't have anything else to send them right now. It's a stressful situation, to say the least."

At this admission, Randy seemed to consider his new friend's dilemma for a moment and said, "Can't you just flip that gene over, or whatever you do, and make it so it grows hair on people? I know there seems to be a market for those kinds of things."

Sighing at the simplicity of the average layperson, McManus shook his head and explained, "Reverting that gene to the positive, rather than the negative, would actually cause animal-like fur to grow on almost all of a person's epidermis, rather than just their head. I'm afraid that this isn't a hair-growing drug but rather a fur-growing one, since those hair genes are in a completely different place."

Nodding thoughtly, Randy seemed to accept the wise Professor's simple explanation, and muttered, "Can't imagine a market for a thing like that, I guess. Unless maybe it's outdoorsmen or Eskimos, or sumthin'. I know I wouldn't mind a good coat of fur when the wife drags me out to go camping every March and every September." He looked back at the TV and seemed to think no more about the subject.

McManus, however, paused mid-drink at this bland comment and stared fixedly at the tiny hairs on the back of his fingers that were holding the beer mug. The noisy pub world outside his mind ceased to exist for a moment as his thoughts raced wildly. A reversal of the C-7 project, activating the gene they isolated rather than depressing it's effects, COULD theoretically result in a production of fur-like hair growth in humans... and his team COULD produce such a genetic reversion injection in the next two weeks or so, if they concentrated on the project... and the Sponsors hadn't said WHAT genetic reversion experiment he had to send them... they had simply said to send them something to prove that he was making progress in his research... and who's to say that people in cold climates WOULDN'T welcome a naturally-grown fur coat...

The mousy little fellow startled as the Professor suddenly set his beer mug firmly down on the bar. Oblivious to the small pile of one-dollar bills he'd left behind on the bar, McManus grabbed Randy's hand and quickly shook it as he hurriedly said, "So nice to have met you, Randy. Sorry to leave so suddenly, but I just realized that there's something very important I need to take care of back at the lab."

Few people noticed as the Professor rushed out the front door and down the street. This pub and its patrons were used to the strange behavior of University Professors and those who associated with them...

Lars "Randy" Demeter glanced casually over his shoulder at the restroom door as the only other person in the small room walked back out into the pub. He smiled slightly and twisted the communicator on his shirt pocket that was disguised to look like a simple button.

"Control, this is Randy," He muttered in low tones. "Re-direct principle C-7 has been successfully introduced to pivotal subject. Primary objective believed to be achieved. Please advise regarding necessity of further re-direction principles."

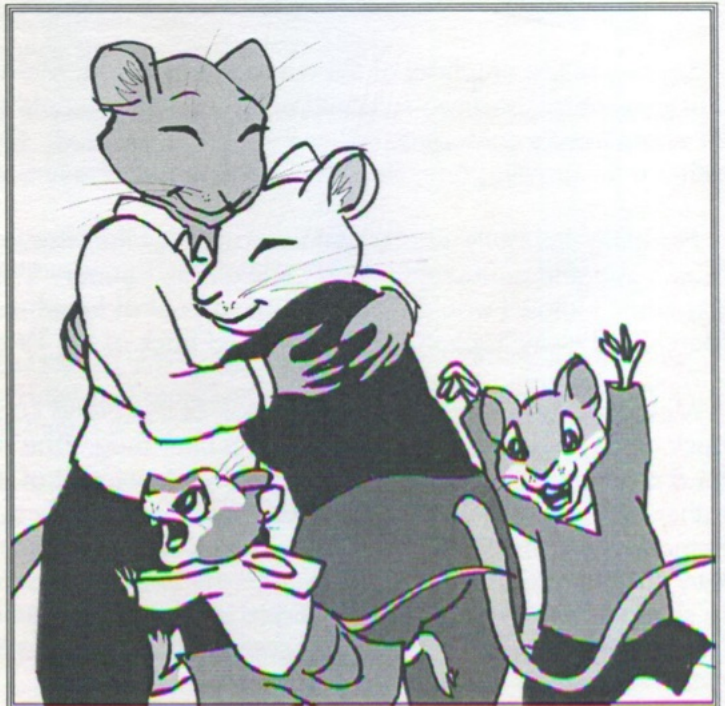

He finished washing his strangely naked paws in the sink, while listening to the static-filled hum of his tiny golden ear stud. It still amazed him that Timeline Control could communicate with their re-direction agents 500 years in the past, using what appeared to be a shirt button and a tiny ear decoration. The technology was certainly nothing he understood, but it had never failed to work for him while on a mission. The click and buzz of Control's response transmission came to him while he was fussing with the unfamiliar headfur called 'hair' in the restroom mirror.

"Checking... Checking... Got it. Results are as follows... Principle C-7 estimated at optimal re-direct average of ninety-eight point four percent. Estimated time-period pollution quotient of point three. Exit through front door and turn left. Walk one hundred meters North and enter taxi #534. Ask the driver to take you to the 'Biltmore Hotel'. He'll drop you at the return point and you can come on home. Good job, 'Randy', and welcome back to civilization!"

Lars chuckled quietly to himself as he left the restroom and walked out the front door of the pub. He knew that that the genetic technicians back at Control would be waiting for him as soon as he exited the return-portal chamber. Even before he had left his own time they had prepared his reversion therapy injections that would return his body to its normal, furry deer-mouse appearance.

Looking at his nearly hairless fingers and wiggling his oddly flat nose as he walked down the street, he again thought how strange it was to look this way. Especially since it was completely normal to all these people around him. He knew very few people at home who chose the "standard" human appearance, even though personal choice was the primary principle behind the Furry world that he called his home.

He shrugged and headed toward his taxi, choosing instead to think pleasant thoughts of wrapping his tail around his white-furred wife and hugging their whole bouncy litter of vari-colored children when he finally got back to his own Timeline...

Cappuccino with KO*Hosted by KO*

Come join the Head Cat each morning for the best coffee at the Meet! Cappuccino to order, if you talk nice to the kitty behind the bar. The Original, consisting of a cinnamon boost and frothy milk, will be available all hour long. Come say 'hi to KO!

Anatomy*Hosted by Evol*

Evol Pink shows you the general points in proper artistic anatomy. Topics covered will be proportion, male and female body shapes, proper heads/hands/feet and any other suggestions. Models will be present. Bring your sketchbooks and pencils!

Meet News*Hosted by Draconis*

Get your opening RCFM News here! Each day of the meet find out about volunteering info, interviews with famous folk, announcements, general information, and so much more!

Let's Draw*Hosted by Amberwolf*

Take some time out to explore the world of art using crayons, markers, and pencils. Materials provided but feel free to bring your own as there will be a limited amount.

99% Virgin Fur*Hosted by TBA*

This your first convention? Your first Furry con? Perhaps looking to get more fun out of being here? Then check this panel out and learn how to get more out of being here.

Sandwich Lunch*Hosted by Kat*

A fur meet travels best on its stomach. Look here for the first food event of the Meet with meat! A reward for all those who get here early and help us get the whole Meet going!

Kid's Lunch*Hosted by Amberwolf*

Bring the cubs all together for a meal, each day of the meet. Remember to bring some food for your kit, pup, or cub.

Puppeteer Meet*Hosted by Oldfreak; Santa Fox; Brace Bear*

Meet the people who hide behind the stage to breath life into their alter egos. Meet other puppetiers and learn what is the plan for RCFM this year. If you don't have a puppet of your own, there will some loaners available.

Kid's TV Time*Hosted by Amberwolf*

Chill time in the early afternoon after lunch. We will be showing episodes of Foster's Home for Imaginary Friends, Teen Titans, maybe a movie such as Shark Tale or Finding Nemo. Movie times to run later past 4:00 p.m.

EVENTS

Fursuiter Meet Hosted by Santa Fox; Brace Bear What are the plans for the weekend? Who is going to be here? You don't need to have a fursuit to be a part of our fun as we all know that there others out there longing to be sweating with us. So, join us and get to know the funniest part of the fandom.

Color Pencil Technique Hosted by Aura Moser Our guest of Honor, accomplished artist Aura Moser, demonstrates her color pencil techniques. Come and learn how to more effectively render in this medium!

DJing Fur Hours of Fun Hosted by Genki; Heros
Want some insight to DJing? Mixing music and knowing how to select the right music? Instructional and sharing ideas.

Guests of Honor Hour Hosted by KO; Aura Moser; Santa Fox; Sub-level 03; KT; Brody
Come and meet our People of Honor. Aura Moser, Artist of Honor, Sub-level 03, Musical Guests of Honor, Santa Fox, Panelist of Honor, and Kinky Turtle, our Special Guest. We are sure you will have a common interest with some of these furry folk so please bring your questions and interest here.

Opening Ceremonies Hosted by KO; RCFM Staff
Join with the RCFM staff for opening greetings and updating announcements of events for the Meet. Spend an hour with us as we introduce the Guests of Honor, the staff, and our charity. Host is KO, our Head Kitty, and the rest of the RCFM Staff.

Sandwich Dinner Hosted by Kat
Sammiches, sammiches, sammiches. Oh, and chips and sweets, too.

Home Recording Studio Hosted by Sub-level 03
Learn how to record your own music or dialouge. Software, hardware, and other info to make it happen right.

Fursuit Construction: Designing Suits for Realistic Movement
Hosted by Santa Fox
Join our Panelist of Honor, long time puppeteer and fursuit constructor and performer Santa Fox, as he gives tips and advice on building fursuits.

Con Theme Art Contest
Hosted by Anime Cat; KiwiHunter

Join us as we announce next year's theme and we put your ideas to paper in the start of our weekend long contest. Sharpen your pencils, uncap your markers, and get a fresh sketch book ready.

Making Furiends Hosted by Alex
We all want to have friends, but all things need refining. So feel free to listen to some ideas or stand up and introduce yourself. What works best for you?

It's a Wonderful Furry Life Hosted by Alex; Khir
Life has its ups and downs, sometimes the ups outweigh the downs but not in your life? Too much depression? There are many folks out there willing to help but you need to help yourself by showing up.

EVENTS

Musical Jam Hosted by Sub-level 03; Critical Fail; 2, The Ranting Gryphon; Heros Join some of the musicians of the fandom, bring some music, or lyrics you have written, and see if they can put it to either music or words. If nothing else, listen to what they might come up with.

Copyrightious! Hosted by Nexxus

US Copyright Law and the DMCA: What it means to writers, furry artists, and art collectors.

Munchiken Hosted by Travis

Kick down the door, kill the monster, grab the loot, backstab your buddies. Fun all around!

Dessert Orgy Hosted by Brimstone; Kat Once again Brimstone brings RCFM the very best in desserts made by him for RCFM attendees. The culinary dragon is best at baking and this truly shows with his beautiful dessert creations. Who knows what the sweetest hour of RCFM will bring?

Iron Artist Hosted by Thalyn

It's the Second Annual Iron Artist event at RCFM! Come see some of your favorite artists go head-to-head in a tag team, timed art contest. Who will win? Who will meet the bitter taste of defeat? Come along and find out!

Puppet Performing "How To" Hosted by Santa Fox; Brace Bear

Now you have a puppet and wanna impress and scare your friends! Join Oldfreak and friends to share insights and knowledge in the time honored art of puppetry.

When Worlds Collide Hosted by Samii Tiger; Alex Have you ever been out with a group of furs and not known what's the "breaking point?" Or have you had someone tell you to take off your tail and ears at school or work? Then this panel is for you. Furry etiquette in how to deal with non-furs and fellow furs alike will be discussed.

Furry Connection Online

Hosted by Jugular Jaguar; Fenrirwolf

Showing you the way to contact other furs online through many different ways.

Liar's Club Hosted by Draconis; 2, The Ranting Gryphon; KO; KT

Listen to a panel of 2, KT, a fursuiter and your Head Cat as they tell you what items are to our contestants. The problem is that some of them are lying. Perhaps all of them. Who do you trust? Who can you trust?

Writing: In the Beginning... Hosted by Rabbit; Chakawolf

In writing, you have to start somewhere. How to get started and the basics of writing.

2: The 2nd Time Around Rant Hosted by 2, The Ranting Gryphon

This is 2's 2nd year performing here at RCFM. Come and hear him rant about furs, life, and current topics as well as things wrong with the world.

EVENTS

Raccoons! Hosted by Jugular Jaguar

Through his own entertainment, you will share in a discussion of the positive and wonderful things about those cousins of the bear, the raccoon. Don't forget that 2 is having a show so don't miss that.

Intro to Second Life Hosted by Shadow

The newest sort of online computer fun. This is a great way to meet other furs online and this panel will help you get started as well as showing you the tricks of making things work.

Prowl Parade Hosted by TBA

We get together and marshal our numbers till 11:30 when we will start our late night stalking and prowling around the hotel. Silently!

Texas Hold 'em Hosted by Horse's Ghost

Play one of the most popular poker variants running around the ESPN circuit. A short lesson in how to play will be followed by a tournament, hosted again by Horse's Ghost.

Heros' Rave Dance Hosted by Heros

Friday night, join Heros for a rockin' RCFM dance! We'll kick it off with some 80's for about the first hour, then move straight into the heavier beats. The noisy panther will be debuting some never-before-heard compositions, all performed on the brand new light and sound system. The dance goes until they make us shut it down, so come on out and join us for a night of chest-pounding fun! Dances will be allowed to run as late as we like, so long as we get no noise complaints.

Howl and Growl Hosted by Chakawolf

Howl with the wolves or growl with everyone else as the moon passes. Gather in Hotel front lobby just a bit before the time is at hand.

Musical Revolution Hosted by Sub-level 03

Flain's Film: Untitled Hosted by Flain Falcon

Flain's Film. Flain's Film! Party time. Excellent! This is Flain's newest work and the title is "Untitled." A funny film. Come and check it out.

Stupid Pet Tricks Hosted by Tallyhawk

Bring your stories of the things your pet has done.

Milfurs' Breakfast Hosted by Commander Kitsune; Furp

In the Military? Inactive? Have family that has or is serving or just interested? Join a like minded group for something far better then the Mess Tent.

PCDS Adoption Hosted by Joel

Join Joel any maybe find that special creature that has been saved from a kill shelter and be able to bring him or her home.

Puppet Construction "How To" Hosted by Santa Fox; Oldfreak

Join some of the fandom's best puppetiers and their friends to see a practical demo on how to make simple pie mouth puppets. You will see the how to's of making your own furry pal! Oldfreak has 12 puppets to his credit so, if you wanna know how, join us.

Fur Wheel Drive Hosted by Spike; KhirMoonclaw

We all have a car or a way to get around. At some point or anyother, we talk about cars and how many of the manufacturers are influenced by nature and give their cars animal names. Talk about tricking out your ride and look for some door prizes also.

Writing Reading Hosted by 2, The Ranting Gryphon

Join the writers, some of whom are published, as they share with you a reading of their work and the whys of the character, maybe why they do what they did and more. If you have written work, bring it along. If you don't want to read your work, we hope to have readers there for you. Please volunteer to be a reader if you have a good voice.

Hot Dog Lunch Hosted by Kat Red hots! Get yer red hots!

Comic Expressions Hosted by Evol Otter

Join anthro artist Evol Pink in learning how to make the most of expressions in art. Wild takes, facial expressions and an overview of the "toony" style are just a few things that will be covered in the panel. Bring your sketchbook and get ready to have fun with it!

Fursuit Accessories Hosted by Fyrefang; Fenrirwolf

You have your suit, do you want to add some character to it? Here are some ideas and some ways of building items for enhancing your performance.

DDR Competition Hosted by Travis

Show us your moves! We'll be running this again this year.

Advanced Recording Hosted by Sub-level 03

Doing it and doing it well. They have this down pat and are willing to share their time so, if you have any interest in recording, this would be for you.

Making Entertainment Hosted by Brody; Santa Fox; Draconis; KT

How do we entertain folks? Part of this panel will be make up a skit using your ideas and perhaps get you to be in a skit for the Sunday variety show.

Vincent's SwimFest Hosted by Amberwolf

Join the gang for lots of swimming and pool games. Parents must attend with their guppies.

Ursa Major Awards Hosted by TBA The 'Oscars' of the anthropomorphic world! Join us on the red carpet and see what fiction, cartoons, games, and movies win 'Best Of' for 2005!

Head Construction Hosted by Solion

Our host is one of the most realistic head makers in the fandom. Harder head construction with different engineering ideas of jaw movement.

Furries in Animation Hosted by Aura Moser

Charity Auction Hosted by Evol Otter

Bring your items for the Charity Auction to benefit the RCFM charity, PCDS. Also, join in bidding for all sorts of unique items.

EVENTS

On Being a Responsible Fur

Hosted by Commander Kitsune

Many people wonder how you can be successful in the world and still be a furry. All things in moderation. And showing respect is as important as getting respect. Listen to some grey muzzles relate to how they do it, where they went wrong, and what they've done to overcome adversity.

Fursuit Parade and Group Picture Hosted by Santa Fox

The fursuiters get together again to wander around the hotel led by Panelist of Honor, Santa Fox. Who knows where they will end up. Group picture to follow.

Not Just Kids Show and Tell Hosted by Amberwolf

Maybe this is just not for the kits, pups, and cubs. Have some interesting item you have come across in your life? Perhaps something given to you? Could prove to be an interesting panel. Just be mindful of what you bring as you are expected to tell the tale behind it.

Fursuit Runway Hosted by TBA

Is the Fursuit Parade a little too fast for your camera? Here, those that wear fur become models and strut there stuff and at a slower pace just to get their photo taken from you.

Sports Fur Hosted by Kiran; Crazywolf

Sports chat with those who love and follow sports. Many subjects only limited by time and group interest.

Pasta Feed Hosted by Kat

What will the Kat cook up in the tastes of pasta? Only time will tell.

Improv! Hosted by Crazywolf; Tigerpaw; Flain Falcon; Conan; Kiran; Brody Lots of comedy troupe laughs in this "Who's Line Is It Anyway?" styled show, starring your favorite FWA friends.

Imaginary Friends Hosted by Amberwolf

Ever have that special friend who only you see? Would you like to talk about them and introduce them to others? Also, tell us some of the things they talked you into that may have gotten you into trouble.

Females in the Fandom

Hosted by AnimeCat; Kiwihunter

A laid-back discussion group about females in the fandom: How many of us are in the fandom, what furry means to us, art, and other topics. Feel free to pull up a chair and talk. You don't have to be female to attend, but it helps!

Sub-level 03 Concert Hosted by Sub-level 03

Here they are for a another great interactive show. Look for some new acts and appearances.

Stuffed Sidekicks Hosted by Chakawolf; Sparrow

When does a plushie take on a life of its own? Does it just stay in one spot in your house or car or does it prowl around on its own? Does he or she have a name and a personality? Bring one or several sidekicks with you but remember we only have an hour to introduce them.

EVENTS

Live Models Hosted by Torishima; Evol Otter

Models appear for the artist to study and draw shapes, lighting, and composition. Human and maybe some suiters, also.

Booster Appreciation Party Hosted by KO; RCFM Staff

All sorts of treats just for the Boosters without who we could not expand RCFM. Here is one our biggest appreciation parties. This event is for Boosters, Staff, and Special Guests only.

All Request Dance Hosted by Amberwolf; Alex

Look for one long dance where time never ends and your knees go weak. Perhaps the dance will run till the Sun Rises? Dances will be allowed to run as late as we like, so long as we get no noise complaints.

Musical Puppets Hosted by Santa Fox

Get musical with puppetry. Lots of puppets provided for loads of musical fun.

Spanc Hosted by Spiral Raven

A great game by Steve Jackson games. It's all in the name of the game: Space Pirate Amazon Ninja Catgirls. What else do you need to know? Prizes provided by Steve Jackson Games.

Getting Published Hosted by Nexxus

How to submit your comics or writing for publication to distributors and how to print on your own.

Midnight Story Hour Hosted by Chakawolf; Draconis; Amberwolf; KO

Late time for the kids to hear stories but we all love a good story. So, bring one and you can share in milk and cookies. Of course, story tellers get first dibs on them. Scary, funny, or pointless stories are fun or just attend to hear them.

"After Midnight" Hosted by Clover; Nightwolf

Talking about things furs don't want to talk about.

2 Early 2 Rant Hosted by 2, The Ranting Gryphon

Once again we ruffle the gryphon's feathers by awaking him early to talk about how to rant and help you rant later in the day for the Rant with 2 at 3:00 p.m. So, let 2 take you under his wing so you can fly and be free.

Booster Brunch Hosted by Brody; Aura Moser; Santa Fox; Sub-level 03; KT; Boosters Gather in Registration Room for a great offsite morning meal.

Variety Show Rehearsal and Planning Hosted by Draconis

Here we put the final touches on skits and acts for the Variety show. If you have not already put together an act, show up here and you could be part of one. If you have a skit or an idea, bring it here and share. Open to all who are interested in being a part of the show.

Pik A Nik Hosted by Amberwolf

Join the kids and enjoy a relaxing time eating lunch out of doors. Remember to bring your own basket and tablecloth. Weather permitting, of course. Please do not feed the bears or other wildlife. Contact Amberwolf on Saturday for details.

EVENTS

Leftovers Lunge Hosted by Kat

One more chance to finish off the food brought in by us. Feel free to dig in as it leaves us with less to pack away. This will last until we are out of food or everyone is bloated and full.

Walley World Character Playtime Hosted by Roy Walley Jr.

Once again, Walley World will provide games for the RCFM Fursuiters to play. Look for certificates for feats of fantastic winning or just getting through a challenging event.

Airbrushing Your Fur Hosted by Solion

Join Solion, creator of realistic suits, to learn what works best for airbrushing your fur for your suit.

Christian Furs Hosted by Kiran Lightpaw; Commander Kitsune

Join Kiran Lightpaw and Zeek Harper for a discussion about being Christian in the Furry Fandom. Topics will include dealing with religious persecution in the fandom, balancing your furriness and religion and dealing with the negative stereotypes associated with Christianity.

Super Smash Brothers Melee "In the Round" Hosted by Travis

Four player smashing action! Recommended for beginners to the game and people just looking to have fun. If we have enough people, we may even run an impromptu competition for the heck of it.

Animaniacs Back Again! Hosted by KT; Vakkotaur

Remember Animaniacs? Pinky and the Brain? They're not out on DVD just yet, but we'll be talking about them and looking forward to them. Come join us and reminisce about your favorite episodes!

Rant with 2 Hosted by 2, The Ranting Gryphon

2 makes this look so easy doesn't he? Here is your chance to rant with The Gryphon. Be sure to attend 2 Early 2 Rant this morning to get some inside pointers unless you are confident in your skills on stage. Just remember that 2 will be allowed to shoot you down for any bad rants. If nothing else, get some feedback after your stint on stage from the master himself.

Super Smash Brothere Melee "One-on-One" Hosted by Travis

Two characters enter! One character leaves. Recommended for more advanced players.

Writers' Problems Hosted by Chakawolf; Rabbit Chaka and Rabbit teach techniques on how to move past common roadblocks in writing.

Comic Design Hosted by Aura Moser

Join our Artist Guest of Honor in a demonstration of how to create readable, intuitively flowing comics.

Variety Show

Look for skits, gags, and antics from your fursuiters and puppetiers. Also look for acts and songs as well as other performances from the unfurred folk.

Flea Market Auction Hosted by TBA

Here is something new for you. A chance to sell your old furry items, be they plush, comics, art, puppets, fursuits, books, or what have you. Please note that all sellers will need to get a paw tag for selling items in the auction. This enables you to get paid at the end and the proper collection of state taxes. See Shiro or Yoken in the dealers room some time after the dealers are set up but before Sunday, please.

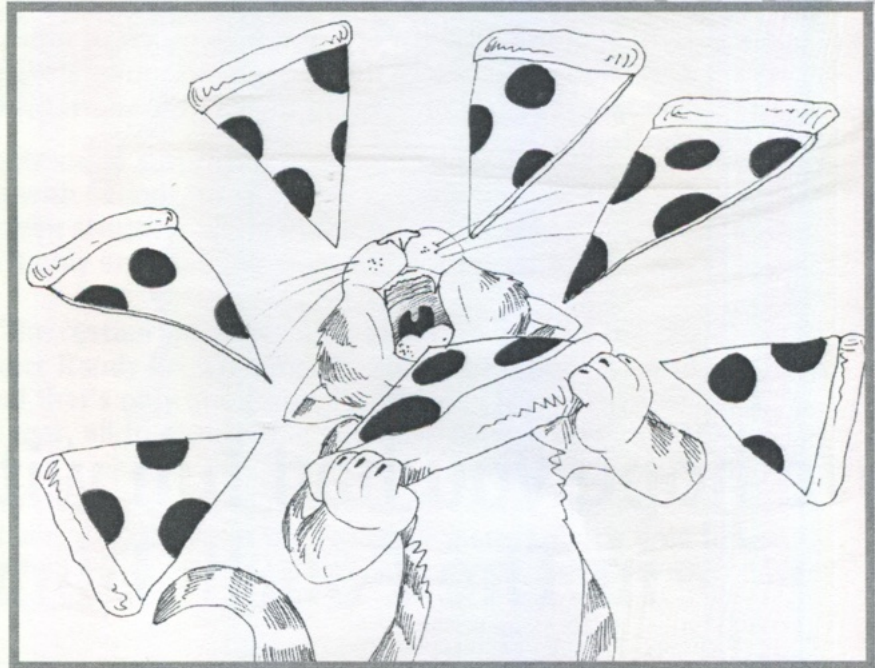

KT: The Man: The Turtle:

The Diaries Hosted by KT

How does that turtle draw all those cartoons about the cons he goes to? How does he remember all those details? Come get a behind-the-scenes look at KT's cartoons and con diaries.

Pizza Feed Hosted by Kat

Time for your last big meal before we close the Meet! All sorts of different pizzas to be offered but remember to be generous with the donation jar to keep this going.

Setting up Events

Hosted by Santa Fox

Ever wanted to take your puppetry or fursuiting talents out into the non-furry world, but not sure how to find opportunities to perform? Let Santa Fox show you how he got started with pointers and tips on how to package and present yourself for best reception as well as how to locate events that would be dying to have you as an entertainer.

Closing Ceremonies Hosted by KO; RCFM Staff

Time has run out. Time after time we have used this word to promote this year. The end is near! Join us for last laughs and last announcements including info about next year.

Critical Fail Concert Hosted by Critical Fail

Just because the Meet is over doesn't mean you have to leave. More entertainment from our own. More entertainment from our own local furry rock band.

Horse's Ghost Black Jack Hosted by Horse's Ghost

Blackjack is back! Horse's Ghost will be our dealer again this year.

Amber and Alex Sunday Social Hosted by Alex; Amberwolf

Gather here after Closing Ceremonies if you just want to relax. Look for some soothing music and chat about the Meet.

Fur Libs of Ill Repute Hosted by Spiral Raven

Con _ (noun) getting to ya? At RCFM you can _ (verb) to Furry Mad Libs! You'll _ (verb)! You'll _ (verb)! Bask in _ (adjective) glory! If you're looking for something to do late at night, so hyped up on sugar and caffeine that you're hallucinating, then you've found the droids you're looking for. Innuendo and nonsensical entertainment abound.

EVENTS

Helium Hilarity Hosted by Jim Groat

A Q & A session but all questions and answers are done with a good inhale of helium.

Genki's Wild Rave Dance Hosted by Genki

Dances will be allowed to run as late as we like, so long as we get no noise complaints.

Modern Mythology Hosted by Commander Kitsune; Nexxus

What are the myths of the modern era and how much of them relate to anthropomorphics? C.S. Lewis and J.R.R. Tolkien were two of the great myth makers of the 20th century, but there were plenty of other people creating or revising myths in modern times. Come share ideas on modern myths as it relates to pop.

We hope you had fun with us this year in The Fourth Dimension!

We Hope you'll join us next May, 2007 for

RCFM SCI FIVE!!!

SUNDAY NIGHT 9:00PM

CRITICAL FAIL

www.criticalfail.com

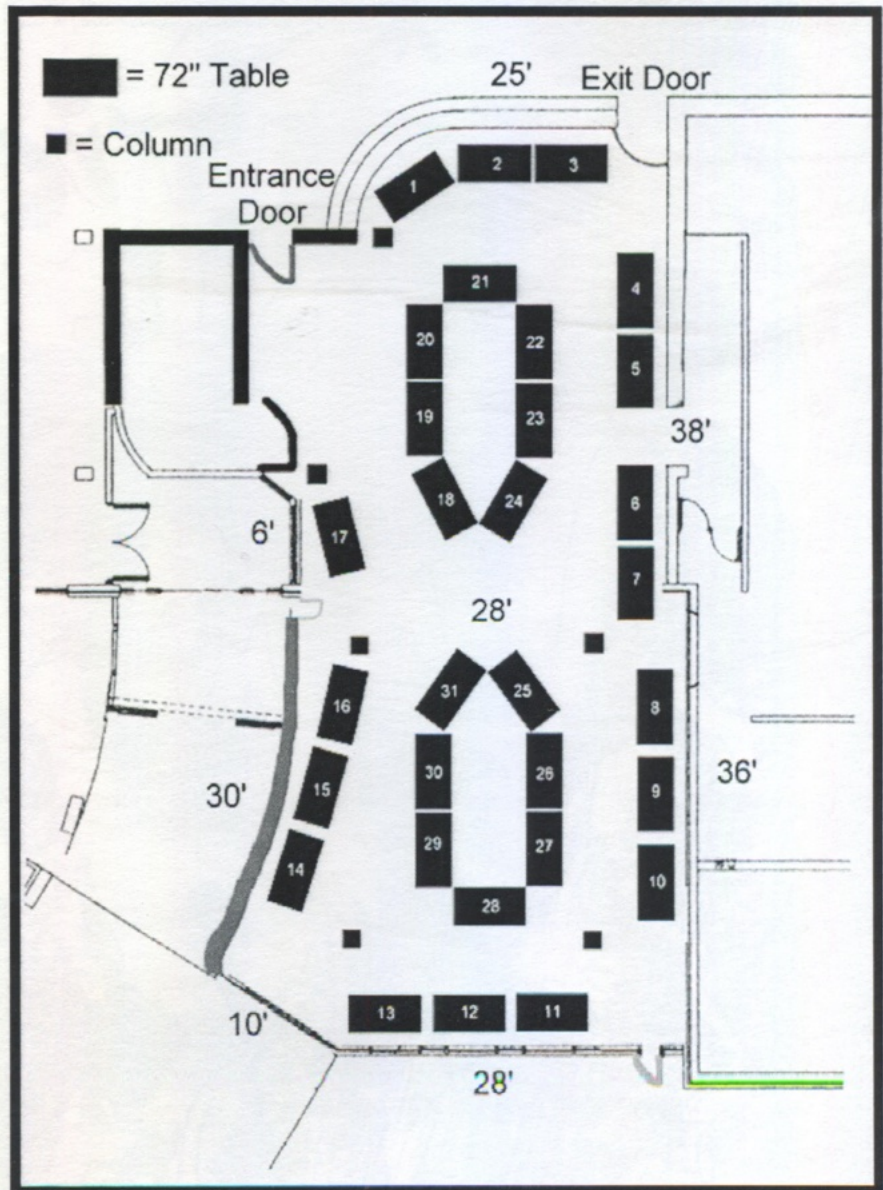

MAGNOLIA ROOM

KIWIHUNTER 2006

DEALERS' DEN

Table

- 1 Dealers' Den Ops
- 2 AnimeCat
- 3 Sub-Level 03
- 4 FurNation
- 5 FurNation
- 6 Jim Groat
- 7 Jim Groat
- 8 Zim Gekko - PuffinPaws.com
- 9 Bushycat
- 10 Bushycat
- 11 Phil Morissey & Ursula Husted
- 12 Phil Morissey & Ursula Husted
- 13 Stickdevil & J3t
- 14 Fuz Wuz Gear
- 15 Fuz Wuz Gear
- 16 PCDS (charity)
- 17 Ursa Major Awards
- 18 The Dragon Girl
- 19 '2' The Ranting Gryphon
- 20 Aura Moser (Guest of Honor)
- 21 Amberwolf Graphics
- 22 Bill Holbrook
- 23 Sparrow...A Rabbit
- 24 The Dragon Girl
- 25 M & T Comics and Cards
- 26 M & T Comics and Cards
- 27 Bonk
- 28 Furry Weekend Atlanta
- 29 Fossil
- 30 M & T Comics and Cards
- 31 M & T Comics and Cards

FUR PLANET The FurNation
Multimedia
Online Store!

Printed by FurNation Multimedia
Check out our comics online at:
www.furplanet.com

AmberWolf GRAPHICS

www.amberwolfgraphics.com

one paw does it all

graphics

t-shirts

custom screenprinting

embroidery

website design

publications

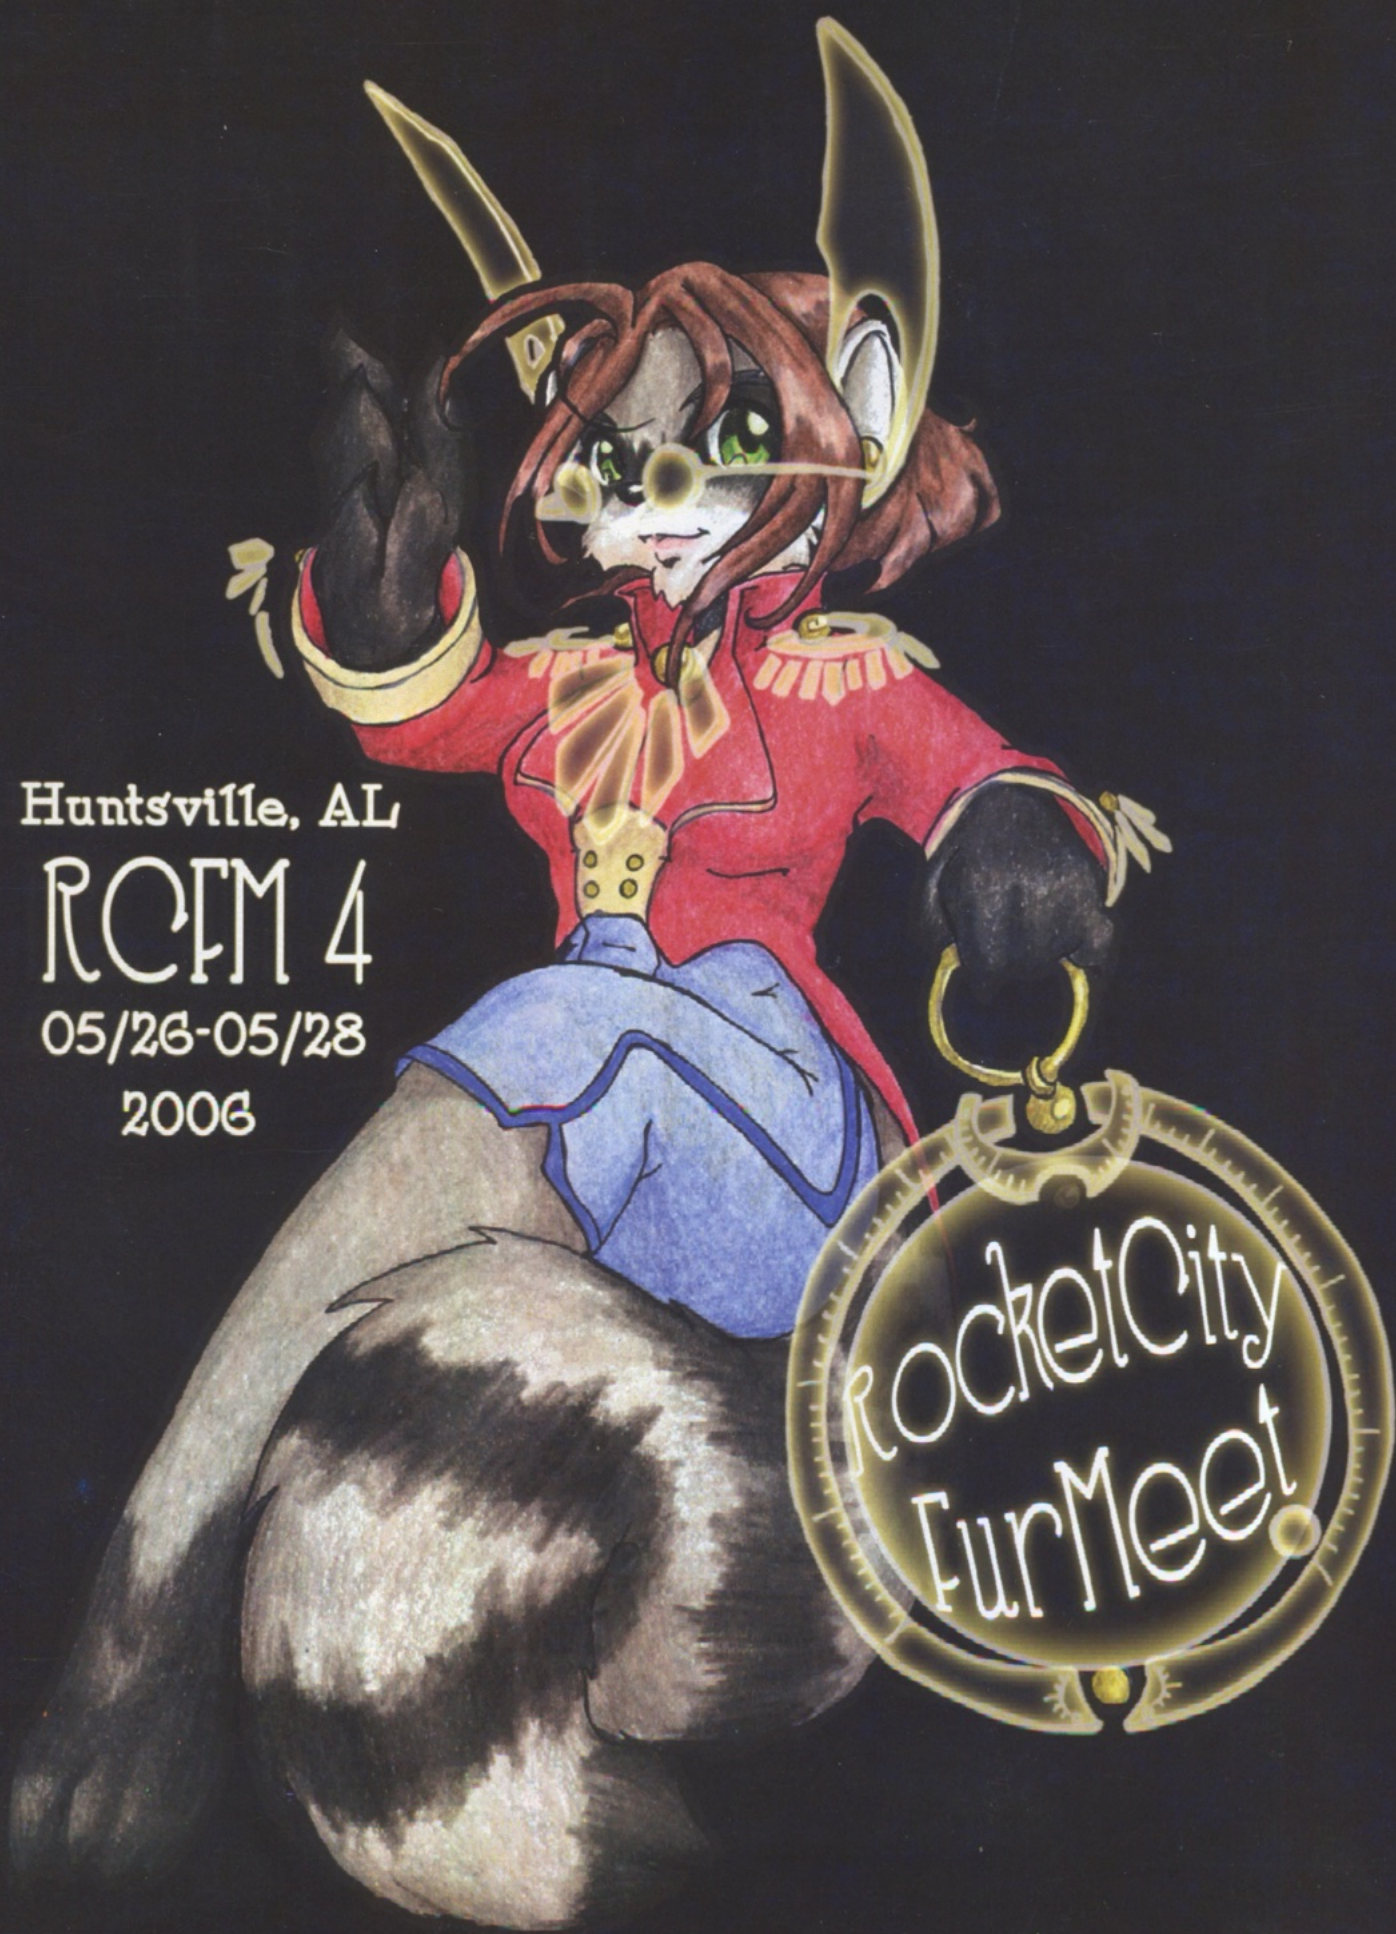

call us now!

205.239.WOLF

1.866.884.4745 (troll-free)

e-smell us! alphawolf@amberwolfgraphics.com

we don't bite....much....

Huntsville, AL

RCFM 4

05/26-05/28

2006