ART SHOW

If you are an artist, a sculptor, or just a fan of furry art, then these events are for you! Here you will be able to show off your pieces of art at the exhibition, and also sell them at the show and auction. And, of course, you may purchase some works to your liking!

Art Show is held in two stages: an exhibition with sale (hereinafter – the exhibition) and an auction.

Art Show rules are exhaustive, but easy to understand. We've just tried to reflect what is commonly implied in such cases and events, to avoid excessive questions and disputes. Please read the rules thoroughly.

Whilst betting at the exhibition and auction, or by placing your works at the Art Show, you agree and accept the rules of the Art Show.

FOR BUYERS AND AUDIENCE

Payments for the purchased items are performed IN CASH ONLY, and in Russian Roubles (RUR). Other payment methods (e.g. credit cards) are NOT accepted. Please, keep track of your financial resources.

Art Show does not sell or buy art. Art Show is acting as an intermediary between the seller and the buyer of artwork.

Please be noticed, that photo and video recordings are strictly forbidden in Artshow and also on Auction.

BIDDING

How to Bid:

1. A buyer should write down his bid on the tag:

- o The bid should be an integer value in roubles, without cents;

- o The bid value must be written legibly and numerically. We are not going to do puzzle-solving, trying to figure out what price you meant to set. Incomprehensible or illegible bids will be rejected;

- o The bid should be higher than the minimum threshold and greater than any previous bid.

2. The buyer should attach the bid tag in the first free field from the top in the corresponding item label. Stickers that are attached elsewhere violate the rules of the exhibition and will not be processed. When all four bids are made, further bids may be made at the auction ONLY.

IMPORTANT! In case less than 15 items are eligible for the auction, items with 3 bids will also be included in the auction list.

A buyer can place bids as many times as necessary, if the work is for sale and there are free cells for bidding. Some of the works might be “not for sale”; therefore, bidding on such items is not available. Such exhibits will not have bidding cells on their labels.

ART SHOW

IMPORTANT:

- The bid qualifies as a commercial offer and requires the buyer to purchase the item won by the last price that's been set by him.
- Do not modify, remove or overlap the bid tags. In case of an erroneous bid, the buyer can inform the Art Show team, who may cancel the bid.
- The buyer is solely responsible for the safety of his tags. Therefore, it's for you, and you only to ensure that the others would not be able to bid on your behalf.
- Any collusions and arrangements between artists or their agents and customers are prohibited. False bids, bids made in order to over-price the item, bids on behalf of someone else (without the owner's consent) are also prohibited.

THE AUCTION

Works of art which receive all four bids (unless otherwise specified – see above) will be put up for the auction. The time and location of the auction will be indicated in the schedule of Rusfurence.

At the auction, bids may be placed by anyone, no matter if they bid on the item at the show or not. Therefore, you may lose the item you were willing to buy.

The maximum bid is not limited, but remember that you must pay in cash for all of the purchased items before the end of the art buyout. (see Art buyout).

If you have made any bids at the Art Show and those items are put on auction, try not to miss the auction.

In case no one came up with a higher bid for the item at the auction, it will be sold at the last price offered at the show.

Art Show organizers may prevent the buyers from participating in the auction, in case they violate the rules of Art Show and/or Rusfurence.

ART BUYOUT

The location and time of delivery of the won items will be specified in the programme of the Rusfurence.

During the art buyout, customers are required to pay and pick up the purchased items from the organizers of the Art Show. Do not linger till the last minute before the end of the art buyout.

The list of items bought along with their price can be retrieved from the organizers of the Art Show.

The payment for the items is made in cash, and in Russian Roubles only. We do not accept credit cards, cheques or any other form of payment. Also, you would better obtain some low-value bank notes prior to the buyout, as we may be unable to provide change.

If you do not fetch your purchased items during the buyout – we will try to contact you. In addition, your name and contact information will be given to the vendors, and they will also try to get in touch with you. Please relieve us from this tedious business.

The list of customers that have not redeemed their won items will be further publicly available to everyone at the Rusfurence website. Such behavior may lead to ban from the con or other forms of punishment.

The Art Show does not purchase artwork and does not sell it either. We do not charge for allocating space at the stands and do not take interest from sales activities. Art Show is acting solely as an intermediary between the author and the customer: we provide space for exhibiting your works and organize events.

FURTURAMA

After the completion of delivery of bought items to the customers – the money collected and the remaining works will be returned to the authors or their representatives.

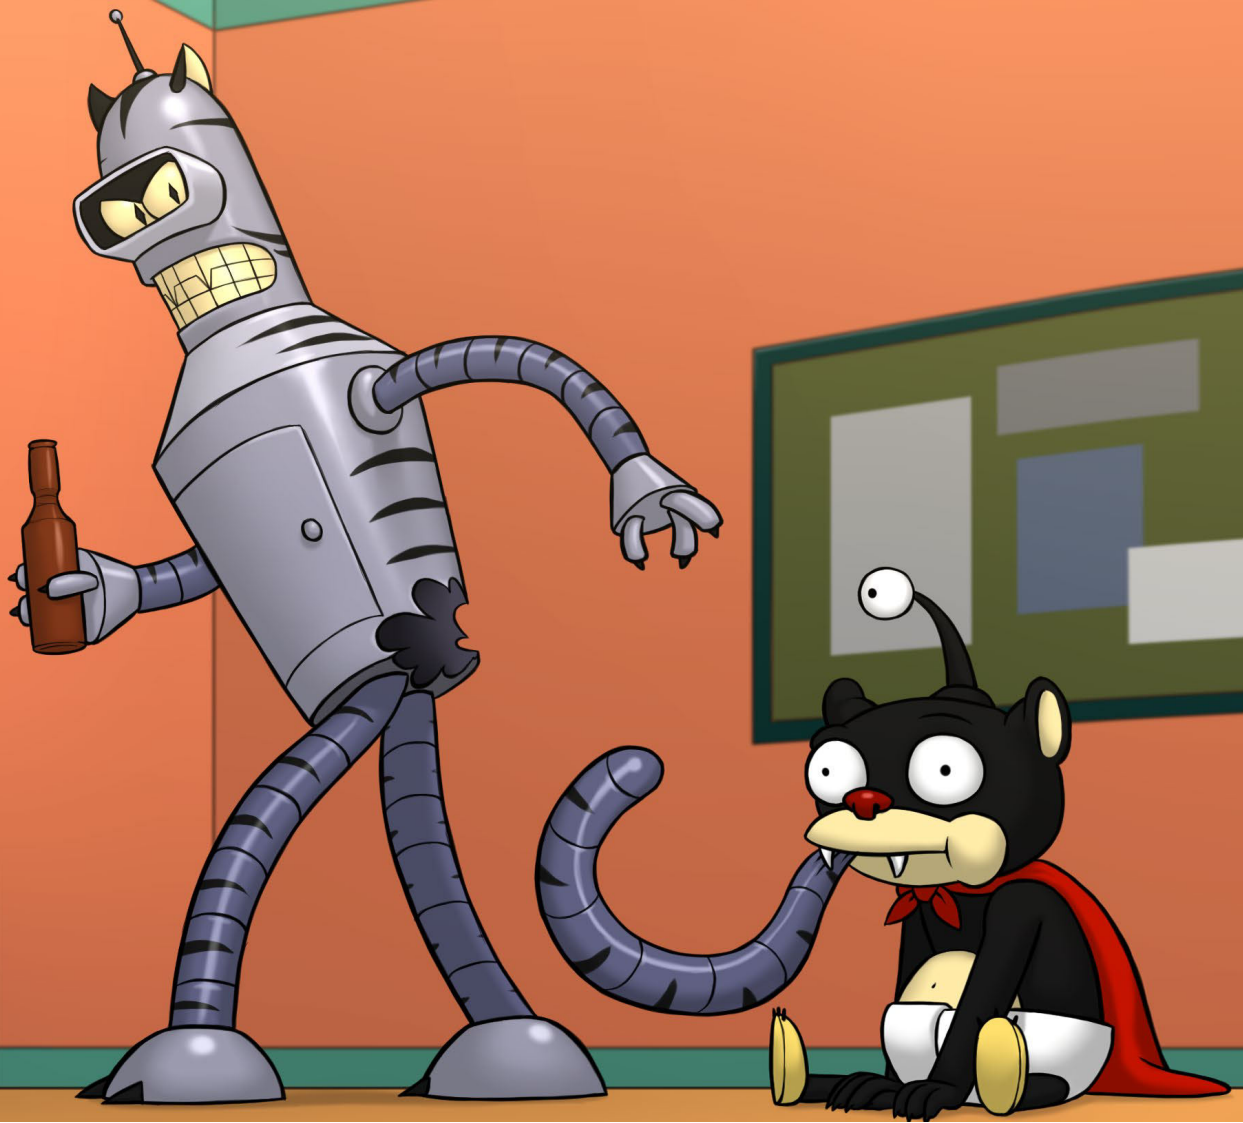

The authors or their agents will receive contact details of their customers and, if required, will be able to draw up the sale deeds.

The authors alone are responsible for the declaration of income, taxes, etc. Sales at the Art Show are personal transactions of the artists. If you are a professional commercial artist, it may be required.

If the work is sold, but not paid for by the buyer, we will try to contact the buyer and resolve the issue. If the issue cannot be sorted out, the author or his agent will be provided with the available contact information of the buyer to be able to complete the transaction on their own.

Since the act of purchase / sale of work is committed between the author and the buyer, the Art Show staff cannot pay out the money that has not been collected from the customers. The author has the right to use any means to complete the transaction effected during the auction.

ACCREDITATION RULES

GENERAL INFORMATION

ACCREDITATION PROCESS

The main idea behind these rules is to increase the amount of good content related to Rusfurence. Sadly, during and after convention we see a lot of photos and videos with low quality and these materials ruin the impression of Rusfurence not only for attendees, but for possible guests as well. We also want to control collaboration with the press, independent photographers and videomakers. Like before, attendees are more than welcome to make photos or videos during Rusfurence, but if the event they want to film or make photos at is official (held at main event hall or marked as «Organized by Rusfurence Staff»), then they will need to be accredited to get the best «Filming» spot possible. Accredited Attendee will be able to use designated (best) spots for filming or making photos and will have an opportunity to collaborate with Rusfurence's Media Team. Without accreditation, attendee will be allowed to film or take photos only from spots for Non-accredited Attendees. Rusfurence Staff and Media Team's Teamlead may deny your accreditation request without any further explanation.

There are two ways to apply for accreditation: 1) You can apply for accreditation by choosing the right option in your profile on our website. 2) You can apply for accreditation at the convention by contacting members of Media or Registration Teams. If your application is accepted by Rusfurence Media Team, you will receive printed list of rules – you will need to carefully read these rules and sign this document to accept them. After signing this document, you will receive your accreditation in the form of standard plastic card which will have your registration data, accreditation type (photo or video) and accreditation expiration date. If you lose this card, then you will have to pay 50 RUB to get a replacement.

ACCREDITATION RULES

We have a limited amount of «Filming» spots and thus we can give a limited amount of accreditations. We hope our attendees understand that we can't extend amount of accreditations we can give due to limited amount of possible «Filming» spots.

Only registered attendees can apply for accreditation.

CHARITY

This year Charity Team has chosen the “Dogs as assistants for disabled people” training center. It is located in Moscow and has a more than 12-year-old history. The Center’s main goal is to provide rehabilitation services to visually impaired people. Guide dogs become their friends and assistants, help them gain independence and confidence. Read more:

Another field of work is the “Sunny Dog” project for children with special needs. For them, rehabilitation classes with therapy dogs are conducted. A special education teacher and a psychologist develop an individual “canis therapy” program for every kid, and specially trained therapy dogs help to establish contact and gently encourage the child to communicate and cooperate with the teacher. Read more:

The services are free of charge both for kids and for adults. Sponsors and volunteers make this possible. The Center will gladly accept your help.

In order to raise funds for our four-legged friends, we will:

- tell you about the dwellers of the dog training center;
- introduce a representative of this organization to Rusfurence participants;
- hold a Charity QUIZ, where you can use your gray matter;
- orchestrate a Charity Musical Flat Party, where you will enjoy the warm and cozy atmosphere, relaxed communication and the opportunity to perform your favorite music;
- give out various memorable souvenirs (pretty cool souvenirs! ;-)) to the most active benefactors;
- organize an excursion to the training center for those who are willing to help in person or to get acquainted with the center (it depends on the number of those who wish);
- provide lots of hugs (within the powers of Charity Team :-)).

Truly yours, Charity Team Lead
MiSt StarShine, ^-^
