Safety & Conduct

Attention visitors to Space Station Doubletree! Before we can launch into the fun, we need to take heed of some very important advice to keep you all safe and well for the weekend. You don't wanna cause the spacestation to suffer any hull breaches!

To begin with: the Golden Rule for every convention: 6-2-1:

- Get at least 6 hours of sleep each night
- Eat at least 2 meals per day
- And Have at least 1 shower each day

This will ensure you are ready to engage in the fun with us all weekend

If you are Fursuiting this weekend we highly advise you get yourself a handler to help you navigate, especially during the Fursuit Walk and make sure you drink plenty of water during your suiting escapades.

Those who have come to see the Fursuiters are asked to please be respectful. Always ask before hugging or taking a picture of any fursuiter. Try not to sneak up behind a fursuiter, remember their vision is limited in their suits.

Make sure you have your Con Badges on you at all times when venturing into the con space. Be aware that WAFF is restricted to 18+ and you should always have a valid form of Photo I.D. which will be checked before you are given access to con space.

The venue is strictly non-smoking. If you wish to engage in such you may do so outside and away from any entrances of the venue.

If you need a hand with anything, have a question, or want some more advice please feel free to talk to any of our staff or volunteers. You can recognise them by their ribbons on their badges. You can also get in contact through the official WAFF telegram chat group at: https://t.me/WAFF_Official

For the complete Code of Conduct please view it on our website at:
<https://www.waff.net.au/terms>

WAFF 2019 Guest of Honour Sneakyylion Arts

Sneakyylion Arts is the business name but people can call me Sneaky. I was born here in Perth, WA, and have lived here my whole life. I started drawing at a very young age, some of my earliest memories would be around 5 years old spending time colouring with my dad. I've always been creative and love experimenting with different art forms and recently got into costume making.

[What was your first drawing? Or the earliest you can remember?]

I've honestly done so many over the years I couldn't tell you, but I definitely do still have some old treasures around, like these for example.

[What do you currently create?]

I spend a lot of time in Photoshop doing digital art, however I do love traditional art as well, it's where I started from and I always go back to it. Painting, drawing, sculpting and costume making, you name it.

[Do you have any inspirations?]

I grew up on Things like Disney, Beatrix Potter and various others. I am always discovering new artists and sources of inspiration.

[Do you have a favourite thing you have created?]

That's a hard one, it's really subject to change I suppose. I have many pieces I've been fond of for different reasons at different times in my life.

[Are you currently open for commissions?]

Yes, I most certainly am! If anyone is interested in having a look at my work or if you have any questions just jump on my website or Facebook page. Or come see me in the Dealers Den!

<https://www.facebook.com/SneakyLion>

[One of Sneaky's Favourite Pieces]

[What is your favourite part about being a Furry?]

I love how creative and colourful this fandom is! It's nice to find a group of people with an appreciation for what I do and have like-minded people to talk to. It's pretty amazing seeing everything the people in this fandom have created and it's a lot of fun to be a part of that.

Waterlogged

The cover had sounded like a good idea at first; nobody paid any attention to the dozens of bleak, featureless vagrants who lived outside the Terminal. But he hadn't taken the impending rainy season into account. The sweltering days were punctuated by four-hour nights with the same level of humidity. His cobbled-together shelter was disintegrating rapidly. It was miserable work. The vast majority of his time was spent pan-handling while he covertly watched the thousands of faces passing by. At times, he dozed, hiding his face under the lapel of his coat. It smothered him but he couldn't risk being recognised. The others wore their every possession - he had to do the same.

The water pelted the roof of his shelter, bowing the cardboard that was doing its best to resist the monsoonal rains. He tried to ignore the sound, to eke out a meagre hour or two of sleep, but he could feel the walls starting to buckle. All of a sudden, it reached the tipping point. The lip of the box collapsed and dumped a reservoir of warm, filthy water onto the man beneath. He swore. It had been a hell of a week.

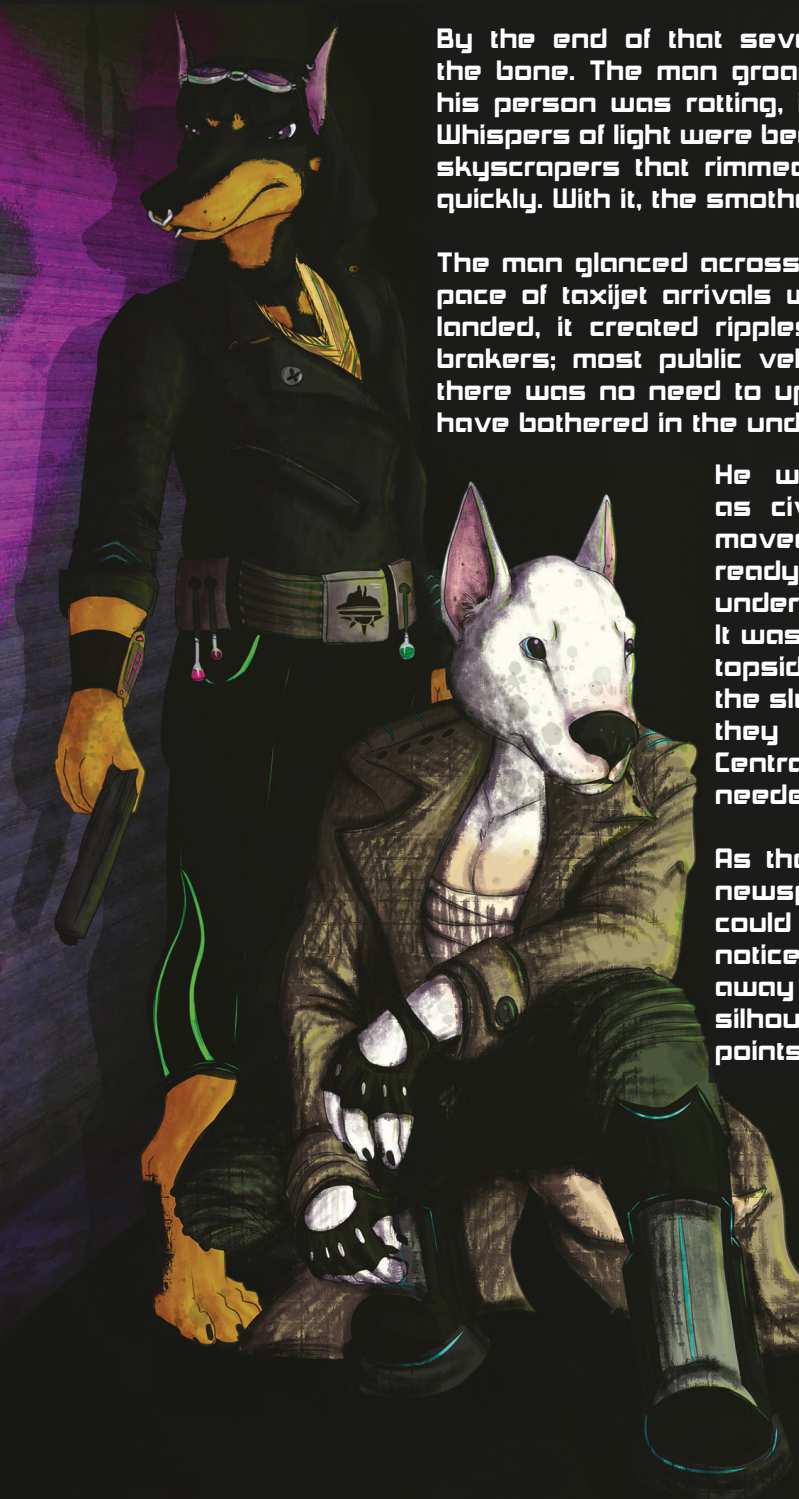

By the end of that seventh short night, he was soaked to the bone. The man groaned. He was sure that something on his person was rotting, if the stench was anything to go by. Whispers of light were beginning to creep between the towering skyscrapers that rimmed the undercity. Morning would come quickly. With it, the smothering warmth would return.

The man glanced across the street towards the Terminal. The pace of taxijet arrivals was starting to pick up. As each one landed, it created ripples along the derelict bitumen with its brakes; most public vehicles now were hover-powered, so there was no need to upkeep the roads. Not that they would have bothered in the undercity regardless.

He watched, observant and undetected, as civil servants and private executives moved from the Terminal into their taxijets, ready to be taken to the farflung parts of the undercity where there was still employment. It was surprising how many from Arkadea's topside, who were affluent enough to escape the slums, still worked below. That was why they had decided to station him outside Central Terminal. If there was someone you needed to find, this was the place to do it.

As the man shifted around on his sodden newspaper bedding, debating whether he could leave his post for a morning piss, he noticed it. On the back of a jacket, walking away through the crowd - the logo. The silhouette of the city, the half-sun with five points, the flat line between them that signified the Divide. And atop it in defiant pink spray-paint, the cross. It was her. Piss be damned, he had to follow her. He scrambled to his feet, wrapping his coat tightly around himself and striding off after the disappearing cross - that calling card of the elusive criminal cartel - Persephone.

FRIDAY

My First Furcon & Icebreakers Friday 11am-12pm

Orientation for fresh ensigns! We'll mould you into the perfect ambassadors for the fleet yet. Come on the crash course of furcon etiquette and start chipping away at all that interstellar icing!

Con Stories: Furry History Friday 12pm-1pm

Come hear about the glorious days of early furry fandom, and the hell stories about cons that once were! Cartoonists, happy times and fans from hell: 'Alf' dolls stuffed with meat - Telly Tubbies launched into space. Chicks and explosions - dogs and cats LIVING together...

Damn, but it was fun!

References In Art: Artistic License Friday 2pm-4pm

What is it, really? Are you a "Real Artist" if you use a reference? Or is it stealing or cheating? Ko (Perth, local) and Archer (DC, visitor) will explain techniques for using references (live model, video, or still images), demonstrate their individual techniques, and invite audience to join in! Please feel free to bring your sketchbooks, canvases, tablets, or stone slabs to this interactive workshop!

Guest of Honour Meet n' Greet Friday 4pm-5pm Sponsors Exclusive Event

Operative Sneaky and several bridge staff will be in the Executive Lounge with enough gargle blasters, twee ambrosia, and milk to forget Capella.

A Sponsor Badge of WAFF will gain you entry.

Opening Ceremony Friday 6:30pm-7:30pm

The captain will be giving the opening address accompanied by a demonstration by the marine platoon. Attendance is not mandatory but you will be at an extreme loss of enjoyment if you miss it!

Dance

Friday 7:30pm-10pm

The hall is cleared and our Chief Sound Engineers will be presenting their most recent projects. Will we go blind? Receive the precision of a storm trooper? Be reborn as a bowl of petunias? There's only one way to clog the med bay! Come join in this Friday Night Dance with our Audio Visual Duo! Bring your best lightsabres, bioluminescent appendages or glowing apparel and lets light up this dance floor!

SATURDAY

Brief on the Walk Saturday 10am-11am

Away missions are not always dangerous, but it's good to be prepared. Key operational staff will brief attendees on the route details and contingencies for the Fursuit Walk. Recommended if you intend on joining the away mission!

Fursuit Walk

Saturday 11am-1pm

The away mission, learning about and mingling amongst the local populous! Make sure to wear your "suits" if you're not accustom to the local atmosphere. Off the script exploration is permitted but stick together and we might come back with all our red shirts!

Meets for Dummies Saturday 2pm-3pm

"How to host a fur meet, you dummy."
- Bonnie, 2019

A Q&A panel for holding your own meet.

Furcraft:

Furry Fashion Challenge Saturday 3pm-5pm

The game show themed fashion challenge where teams work together to design, create and flaunt their Furry Fashion Creation in under 2 hours! The replicator is on the fritz! Materials and Scrap Everywhere! Use what you can! Hosted by Kimba and Reelay.

Pub Quiz:

Trivia at the Space Cantina Saturday 6:30pm-8:30pm

Did Han shoot first? Would Africa fit on the moon? Is "yiff" really a sound that foxes make? Test your knowledge of space, science fiction and all things furry at our annual pub quiz. Recruit a team of rebels, sink a pint of blue milk and join in for your chance to win fabulous prizes! Bar service available for your enjoyment!

SUNDAY

WAFF A.M.A. Sunday 10am-11am

Bridge staff will be open to informal exchange around the comings and goings about current and future directions for WAFF. Now's the chance for all lower ranked personnel to have access to top secret information.

Fursuit Games Sunday 11am-1pm

Brush up on some of those big, bold, and beautiful fleet basics in a contest of skill and spirit! To the winners go a cycle's worth of bragging rights and automatic renewal of fitness certification. The rest of you, I'll see in remedial training.

Fursuit Life Drawing Sunday 2pm-3pm

Life drawing with a twist - your model is a fursuiter! Warm up with a few drawing activities, then work on a more lengthy piece. All levels of experience welcome and materials are provided.

Guest of Honour Panel Sunday 3pm-4pm

Now is your chance! Our wonderful Guest of Honour Sneakylyl Arts is hosting a panel for you all to come and enjoy. Come get some information about what its like being an up and coming artist and have your questions answered.

Dealership 101: Dealing Do's & Don't's Sunday 4pm-5pm

An established local artist Magicdawolffy will talk about the trials and tribulations of being a Furry Artist. From the funny and entertaining to the wildly cringe worthy, come hear what could be in store for you if you take on the bold profession.

The Paw-rice is Right! Sunday 6:30pm-7:30pm

Come on down for a furry-flavoured revival of everyone's favourite price-guessing game show. From stickers and pins to $5000 fursuits, contestants will be challenged on their knowledge of the furconomy - or simply their luck! Audience participation is encouraged so bring your cheering voice.

Charity Auction & Closing Ceremony Sunday 7:30pm-9pm

So ends another recreation cycle, stay those lugubrious faces though as our last act will be an auction of generously donated items in benefit of the organisation Lifeline WA! May all signals be heard, from wherever they hail. And before we all turn in to "not-aquire" the hangovers for which we definitely won't need extra welfare, the captain would like to impart some final words. See you there!

Other Activities

Artist Alley & Lounge Everyday 10am-10pm

Artists are welcome to come here to draw, to set up a price sign and take commissions too if they wish. A chill space for art to take place in all its forms. Available during the whole convention.

Board Games & Chill Everyday 10am-10pm

A space for relaxing and hanging with your fellow crew. Play some games, chat with crewmates, or sit and people watch. This space is open for the whole convention for your enjoyment.

Games Zone Everyday 10am-10pm

A set up of various video game consoles available for all you space cadets willing to show your skill or test yourselves. A fun way to pass the time and socialise as well.

Photoshoot Op Saturday 2pm-5pm

A photoshoot will be set up behind the rego desk area. Come and line up and get your snaps taken by our local photographer Packrat-MKX who has donated his time to capture the fun of this convention!
