Betrayal at House on the Hill

 Westin - Cambria

"What was that? Was it a ghost? A werewolf? An interdimensional being? Oh it was your friend. Or are they anymore? Maybe they are the monster. Or maybe they control it. Join us as we explore a mansion so scary even the ghosts want out. I mean..a totally relaxing place where the rooms certainly maintain order and you won't have to defend yourself from anything at all. That sound definitely wasn't the door locking you all in."

 3:30pm - 5:30pm

Let's Play Inspectres: A Cooperative RPG

 Westin - Somerset

Inspectres is a game where the dice barely matter, and your imagination and creativity are all that's required! Thematically based off of the original Ghostbusters movie, the party runs their own ghost busting franchise. Players take turns improvising NPCs, and sometimes even give each other traits! You don't have to have played an RPG before, we'll teach you!

 4:00pm - 5:30pm

Escape Room ($)

 DLCC 401-402

Calling all barbarians, wizards, and rogues! Furry Logic casted Revive on its Fantasy Escape game, previously featured at furry cons in 2019! Ham Furs Q&A

 DLCC 310-311

So you're a beginner interested in Amateur Radio... or maybe you're a long-time operator who wants to meet fellow furries in the field... or perhaps you fall somewhere in the middle? Ask yourself, do you want to get a chance to ask those burning technical questions to a panel of long-time radio operators and examiners? Want to get hands-on and a chance to handle various types of Amateur Radio gear and technology? No matter where you are on the experience spectrum, if you answered yes to the above questions, then you should come out to our Ham Furs Amateur Radio Q&A Session at Anthrocon! Based on the great audience questions we had at last year's meet-and-greet panel, we've slightly restructured our panel this year to offer an official Q&A session in addition to show-and-tell. Our team of Volunteer Examiners will be on hand before the FCC Amateur Radio Exam to answer your questions about anything from basics of Radio Frequency operations, to specific how-to for today's technology. Our panel has a combined 40+ years of RF, Engineering, and IT/Cybersecurity experience to draw on, and is happy to talk about our nerdiest hobby. If you have specific or very technical questions you'd like to have answered during the panel, please feel free to send them to so our panelists can prepare an answer.

 5:00pm - 6:00pm

 DLCC 310-311

 5:00pm - 6:00pm

Overcoming Shyness and Anxiety

 DLCC 317-318

This panel is geared towards the shy, anxious, or otherwise socially awkward folk in the fandom. Do you have trouble making friends? Talking to artists? Finding communities? Going about your day? Then stop by and get some advice on where to start and how to enjoy your time!

 5:00pm - 6:00pm

SCP Foundation Orientation for Trainees

 DLCC 407

"Welcome to the team! So today is your first day at the SCP foundation? Trainees will join Dr. Groening (Puzz) for your initial introduction you the SCP foundation. The foundation's mission statement is to Secure, Contain, and Protect anomalous items, ideas, and lifeforms. Often the only thing that protects the non-anomalous from the anomalous (and vice-versa) is a lack of knowledge, so secrecy is of utmost importance! We will discuss the mission of the SCP foundation, discuss notable anomalies, and do our best to keep as many of our trainees as possible safe from losing all threads of sanity in the process. Amnestics will be provided for trainees who wish to leave the program."

 5:00pm - 6:00pm

Fursuit Handling & Solo Suiting

 DLCC 408-410

Information on how to be a handler for fursuiter(s) while still enjoying your own con experience, or what to expect whilst suiting with/out a handler, and managing yourself at the con. (Will include Real-experienced examples/scenarios, supplies, and visual representation(s) of how it works from both sides, as a handler and a suiter.) I mainly intend for this to cover things listed above but for a slightly more detailed breakdown for those trying to decide if this is the panel for them to attend or listen in on, I'll list a small ToC of everything I intend to cover and the order I'll cover them in.... - Introduction & describing experience (brief) - Fursuit vision and body types, mobility, fragility, cleanliness, different types of styles and fur that can handle different types of strain or touch. - Tips on what to carry on-hand while handling, what to look out for, how to respond to others, how to communicate and set up coordinated plans with suiter(s). - Audience questions <--If no questions backup topics will be to go into further detail on some topics above as well as having some present suiters add their experiences. ~ Featuring various fursuiter(s) helpers as well

 5:00pm - 6:00pm

Furry Scrabble

 DLCC 406

It's the crossword game you've played all your life, but never quite like this! Join host Randy Ringtail as he brings the classic '80s game show to Anthrocon! Watch as contestants are drawn from the audience to test their crossword skills and win great prizes!

 5:00pm - 6:00pm

Grand Rounds: A Healthcare Furry Meet & Greet!

 DLCC 306-307

"Do you spend your time outside the fandom in a clinic, ambulance, or hospital? Looking to meet other furries who also work in healthcare? Swing on by and meet some of the other creatures you may find at a doctor's office near you! From techs to docs, all healthcare workers are welcome to come and mingle. We also encourage anyone interested in pursuing a medical field to stop in and ask questions! No medical advice should be offered or requested by attendees. Any health concerns should be directed to convention medical staff or emergency services."

 10:30am - 12:30pm

A Queerer Furry History

 DLCC 335

You are already aware of the history of the furry fandom, but when, how and why did furies get to be SO QUEER? In this talk, Arrkay from the award winning video series "Culturally F'd" takes a second look into the queer origins of the furry fandom. Our journey takes us through homophobia fueled flame wars, a convention described as a "pride parade on acid", all the way to litterboxes in classrooms. Together we'll peer into the past of queer and trans furry artists, marches, frolics and raves, and even some pre-fandom stuff just for fun.

 11:00am - 12:00pm

Diplomacy

 Westin - Pennsylvania

In the game of Diplomacy you will take control of one of the 7 great powers in Europe during World War 1 with the objective to conquer the most strategic supply centers in a given amount of time/turns. But here's the catch, all units you control have a strength value of 1 and you must have a higher attack value to dislodge other players' units in their territory meaning you will likely need to secure support from another nation to complete your conquests. That is where the "Diplomacy" comes in as you will negotiate for support, alliances, establish demilitarized zones, or even stab former allies in the back to secure your objectives and the best part of the game is anything you say or "agree" upon with another player is non-binding.

 12:00pm - 4:00pm

Fuzzy Tales: Under the Turbulent Sea

 Westin - Lawrence

A century has passed since the events in Greece and Atlantis is abuzz with new rumors. A fleet of ships vanished during a storm weeks ago, carrying cargo of unknown origin. Recently, fishermen claim to have seen a strange glow beneath the waves, and whispers of a curse have begun to spread. You are part of an expedition, ordered by Poseidon to investigate the wreck and recover what remains of its cargo. But as you prepare to swim into the depths, you begin to wonder: What really happened to The Fleet and why do the fishermen refuse to sail near the site?

■ Fursuit Parade Signup - Friday ■

 DLCC 309

The number of participants in the parade will be limited, and as such, all participants must be pre-approved. You must either wear or bring the costume that you intend to wear in the parade, or alternatively a photo that shows all elements of the costume, to the registration point outside of Room 309 on Friday between 3 pm and 9 pm, or on Saturday from 9 am until 12 pm . We cannot register any participants after 12 pm on Saturday. Parade Rules All participants must have a costume that is "anthropomorphic" in nature. The parade is not for general cosplay. (i.e. the addition of ears to existing costume armor does not qualify for participation in the parade.) Full-body fursuits are encouraged. Partial fursuits must incorporate additional elements in addition to a head, hands, and (optional) tail (these at the wearer's discretion based upon their interpretation of the species/character). Examples include: footpaws, sleeves or leggings, or other costume features that define the character. No human skin should be showing. All clothing and costume elements must conform to the Anthrocon Standards of Conduct. Handlers will be permitted to assist with the donning and preparation of a costume in the staging area ; however, handlers will not be permitted to walk in the parade. Exceptions will be made for handlers who are assisting performers with mobility challenges and participants under the age of 13 who need a parent or guardian to accompany them. Due to the nature of the parade lineup area, the presence of escalators on the parade route, and other aspects of the parade, Anthrocon strongly recommends that fursuiters whose costume design requires a handler (i.e. an oversized or overly bulky suit) should opt to participate in the Block Party as an alternative to the parade. Even if a costume has been pre-approved, any costume that is determined not to meet these standards at parade time will not be allowed to participate . Any elements that are in violation of our standards of conduct (examples: tactical gear, fetish wear, etc.) are not permitted in the parade. Individuals causing disruption or interference with parade operations may be refused participation as well as face revocation of convention membership. All fursuiters must hydrate before the fursuit parade. It's for your own safety! No stopping in the parade route - we require fursuiters to continue moving in the parade except in case of emergency. Staff and volunteers are positioned along the route should you require assistance. Flags affixed to flagpoles are not allowed. Flags that are hand carried or worn (such as a cape) that abide by our Standards of Conduct are allowed. People with ADA accessibility needs or young children are permitted handlers. No photography or video is allowed inside the lineup area. This includes selfies whether handheld or on selfie-stick. We understand that these changes may not be universally popular and we want our attendees to know that these decisions were not made lightly. As both the convention and parade reach unprecedented levels of attendance and participation, it has become necessary to implement these new rules to keep the parade safe for all attendees. We are confident that the Fursuit Parade and Block Party will continue to provide a unique and wonderful experience for Anthrocon attendees and Pittsburgh citizens alike.

Shedding Inhibitions: A Guide to Public Fursuiting

 DLCC 306-307

So you own a fursuit, know how to care for it and are having a blast with it at conventions? Great! Perhaps you've also considered bringing your fursona out into everyday areas, but the idea makes you uneasy, uncertain or insecure. This is very common, and understandably so - it's a big step! I'm Ferdinand, a ferret with fifteen years of public fursuiting under my belt, and I'd like to pass my experience and hard-won nuggets of knowledge down to you. In this informative panel, learn the important differences between consuiting and public suiting, as well as: - where to go and not to go - what to bring - proper etiquette with the general public - when to interact (and when to steer clear!) - keeping your suit safe ...and more! I hope you'll join me, and learn if public fursuiting is right for you!

Adult Writing - Fan-Fiction

📍 DLCC 310-311

This year we're "slashing" our adult writing panels to bring you a totally new discussion on writing adult material. We'll be talking about the process and art for those times when you really want to see some canon characters in some very non-canon situations. How true to the original characters should you stay? How do you furrify (while making up your own words) properties that aren't originally furry? Will you keep it a tasteful romance or go all out? All this and more in our first panel focused on adult writing in fanfiction.

 9:00am - 12:00pm

■ Fursuit Parade Signup - Saturday ■

 DLCC 309

The number of participants in the parade will be limited, and as such, all participants must be pre-approved. You must either wear or bring the costume that you intend to wear in the parade, or alternatively a photo that shows all elements of the costume, to the registration point outside of Room 309 on Friday between 3 pm and 9 pm, or on Saturday from 9 am until 12 pm . We cannot register any participants after 12 pm on Saturday. Parade Rules All participants must have a costume that is "anthropomorphic" in nature. The parade is not for general cosplay. (i.e. the addition of ears to existing costume armor does not qualify for participation in the parade.) Full-body fursuits are encouraged. Partial fursuits must incorporate additional elements in addition to a head, hands, and (optional) tail (these at the wearer's discretion based upon their interpretation of the species/character). Examples include: footpaws, sleeves or leggings, or other costume features that define the character. No human skin should be showing. All clothing and costume elements must conform to the Anthrocon Standards of Conduct. Handlers will be permitted to assist with the donning and preparation of a costume in the staging area ; however, handlers will not be permitted to walk in the parade. Exceptions will be made for handlers who are assisting performers with mobility challenges and participants under the age of 13 who need a parent or guardian to accompany them. Due to the nature of the parade lineup area, the presence of escalators on the parade route, and other aspects of the parade, Anthrocon strongly recommends that fursuiters whose costume design requires a handler (i.e. an oversized or overly bulky suit) should opt to participate in the Block Party as an alternative to the parade. Even if a costume has been pre-approved, any costume that is determined not to meet these standards at parade time will not be allowed to participate . Any elements that are in violation of our standards of contact (examples: tactical gear, fetish wear, etc.) are not permitted in the parade. Individuals causing disruption or interference with parade operations may be refused participation as well as face revocation of convention membership. All fursuiters must hydrate before the fursuit parade. It's for your own safety! No stopping in the parade route - we require fursuiters to continue moving in the parade except in case of emergency. Staff and volunteers are positioned along the route should you require assistance. Flags affixed to flagpoles are not allowed. Flags that are hand carried or worn (such as a cape) that abide by our Standards of Conduct are allowed. People with ADA accessibility needs or young children are permitted handlers. No photography or video is allowed inside the lineup area. This includes selfies whether handheld or on selfie-stick. We understand that these changes may not be universally popular and we want our attendees to know that these decisions were not made lightly. As both the convention and parade reach unprecedented levels of attendance and participation, it has become necessary to implement these new rules to keep the parade safe for all attendees. We are confident that the Fursuit Parade and Block Party will continue to provide a unique and wonderful experience for Anthrocon attendees and Pittsburgh citizens alike.

Furry Blockbusters

 DLCC 406

"Blockbusters" is a game of speed and strategy where we find out if two heads are better than one. One player will take on a team of two as they answer questions to block their opponents and complete a path across a board of hexagons. (Players will be chosen from the audience and winners will receive Amazon gift cards as prizes. Small stuffed animals serving as your lucky charms are welcome!)

 12:00pm - 2:00pm

Fursuit Parade Lineup

 DLCC Hall C

The number of participants in the parade will be limited, and as such, all participants must be pre-approved. You must either wear or bring the costume that you intend to wear in the parade, or alternatively a photo that shows all elements of the costume, to the registration point outside of Room 309 on Friday between 3 pm and 9 pm, or on Saturday from 9 am until 12 pm . We cannot register any participants after 12 pm on Saturday. Parade Rules All participants must have a costume that is "anthropomorphic" in nature. The parade is not for general cosplay. (i.e. the addition of ears to existing costume armor does not qualify for participation in the parade.) Full-body fursuits are encouraged. Partial fursuits must incorporate additional elements in addition to a head, hands, and (optional) tail (these at the wearer's discretion based upon their interpretation of the species/character). Examples include: footpaws, sleeves or leggings, or other costume features that define the character. No human skin should be showing. All clothing and costume elements must conform to the Anthrocon Standards of Conduct. Handlers will be permitted to assist with the donning and preparation of a costume in the staging area ; however, handlers will not be permitted to walk in the parade. Exceptions will be made for handlers who are assisting performers with mobility challenges and participants under the age of 13 who need a parent or guardian to accompany them. Due to the nature of the parade lineup area, the presence of escalators on the parade route, and other aspects of the parade, Anthrocon strongly recommends that fursuiters whose costume design requires a handler (i.e. an oversized or overly bulky suit) should opt to participate in the Block Party as an alternative to the parade. Even if a costume has been pre-approved, any costume that is determined not to meet these standards at parade time will not be allowed to participate . Any elements that are in violation of our standards of contact (examples: tactical gear, fetish wear, etc.) are not permitted in the parade. Individuals causing disruption or interference with parade operations may be refused participation as well as face revocation of convention membership. All fursuiters must hydrate before the fursuit parade. It's for your own safety! No stopping in the parade route - we require fursuiters to continue moving in the parade except in case of emergency. Staff and volunteers are positioned along the route should you require assistance. Flags affixed to flagpoles are not allowed. Flags that are hand carried or worn (such as a cape) that abide by our Standards of Conduct are allowed. People with ADA accessibility needs or young children are permitted handlers. No photography or video is allowed inside the lineup area. This includes selfies whether handheld or on selfie-stick. We understand that these changes may not be universally popular and we want our attendees to know that these decisions were not made lightly. As both the convention and parade reach unprecedented levels of attendance and participation, it has become necessary to implement these new rules to keep the parade safe for all attendees. We are confident that the Fursuit Parade and Block Party will continue to provide a unique and wonderful experience for Anthrocon attendees and Pittsburgh citizens alike.

Fuzzy Tales: Under the Turbulent Sea

 Westin - Lawrence

A century has passed since the events in Greece and Atlantis is abuzz with new rumors. A fleet of ships vanished during a storm weeks ago, carrying cargo of unknown origin. Recently, fishermen claim to have seen a strange glow beneath the waves, and whispers of a curse have begun to spread. You are part of an expedition, ordered by Poseidon to investigate the wreck and recover what remains of its cargo. But as you prepare to swim into the depths, you begin to wonder: What really happened to The Fleet and why do the fishermen refuse to sail near the site?

Furries? In my Art Gallery? (It's more likely than you think...)

 DLCC 316

There is a new generation of artists in the furry community – wildly experimental, in conversation with both the fandom and the art world, and critically engaged with the queer possibilities of lives lived in-between the real and the virtual. We've invited these artists back to our room, for a group experience that is wholly our own. "Room Party" is an exhibition of work by over 50 contemporary furry artists, running June 6th – July 18th July at Bunker Projects in Pittsburgh. Join the curators (Lane Linecum, Brett Hanover, Paul Peng, and Cass Dickenson) and artists (panel participants TBD) for a look behind the scenes at the development of this exciting show! What does it take to put on a large-scale group art show? What happens when furries invade the fine art world? What's next for furry art, and why does it matter now? Why is there a pile of plushies in the white cube? All your artsy-fartsy questions will be answered!

 1:00pm - 2:00pm

Self-Expression and Authenticity in the Furry Fandom

 DLCC 333

Have you ever felt like being around others is awkward because you have to 'play a role' that isn't you? Have you ever felt like some part(s) of you that are longing to be expressed, but can't safely be shown to others? Have you felt 'wrong' or 'broken' in your body, identity, or sense of self? This is a panel about finding authenticity. It will discuss ways to do this, through several lenses common in the fandom, such as gender, neurodivergence, and disability. It is hoped that this panel will spark a discussion about finding acceptance from both others and oneself, and inspire us to be better at both seeking support and providing it for others. Through this, it is hoped that we can do better as a fandom, both for all the diverse people within it and for ourselves.

Exploring Identities Through Furry

 DLCC 316

Identities are a huge part of how we relate to ourselves and others, as well as a form of self-expression. The furry community has always been a place where people can explore different aspects of their identity, whether that's gender, sexuality, or other facets of self. In this panel, we'll talk about how people explore their identities through their fursona(s) and the community, and take a deeper look at the concept of identity as a whole in connecting to people and meeting our needs.

We'll tackle everything from comedic storytelling to choosing the right equipment and more, with a Q&A at the end.

 4:30pm - 5:30pm

Healthy Fursuiting

 DLCC 335

Most of us have heard about how to care for our fursuits, but what about the person inside of the fursuit? Fursuiting can involve activities that increase our internal temperature, increase our heart rate, and put our bodies under a lot of stress. But things you can do before, during, and after fursuiting can help you to fursuit longer, recover faster, and get back out in your fluffy carpet sooner. They say that fursuiting is cardio, and like cardio we can make fursuiting easier and more fun by following precautions and preparing ourselves. Whether you're a newbie or someone who's been suiting for a while, come and learn how to better take care of what's under the colorful carpet of fur! Got your own experiences and recovery methods? Come share them!

 5:00pm - 6:00pm

Infinite Worlds - All About Settings

 DLCC 310-311

Where does your story take place? In a world similar to our own? In a different time? In a far flung place that only vaguely resembles what we know? Sometimes the setting is the first thing that comes to mind for a story to then be populated, other times it has to be crafted after characters have sprung to life. Join us for a discussion about how to build your world, how to consider its rules, and how much your readers need to know in the process.

How to Organize in the Furry Fandom

 DLCC 316

Current events are stressful, and we could all use a break. But what constructive things could the furry fandom offer us in such trying times? In a completely new version of this illustrated talk, we explore what makes furry special, what we can currently do to make a difference in today's world, and what exciting and hopeful futures we could build thanks to the best parts of the fandom.

 7:30pm - 8:30pm

Con History: From Costume Masquerade to Fursuit Parade

 DLCC 407

85 years at Chicon, the 2nd Worldcon in 1940, a female costume maker known by the alias Morojo opened up her room, 689 in the Hotel Chicagoan, as a changing room for the first Costume Masquerade. Morojo's room would be considered the first Con Suite and Cosplay Lounge. 50 years later these elements would evolve into the Headless Lounge and Fursuit Parade at the first furry cons. Join us for a 85 year long journey from the first fan conventions to the modern cons to today, and show how we are all part of one larger fandom family.

Avian Worldbuilding

 DLCC 334

Building an immersive world for your readers involves balancing realism with relatability. Birds are particularly challenging because their anatomy and lifestyle is so different from our own. I will discuss my challenges in developing worlds for both anthro and feral avian characters, share my experiences, and invite the audience to share their questions and comments. I've written many short stories and three novels, including the new Avian Age series, involving a variety of avian world settings.

Astronofurs Star Party

 DLCC - North Terrace

Join us Saturday evening at the AstronoFurs Star Party, from 9:30pm to Midnight, up on the North Terrace overlooking the Allegheny River for a night under the stars. The Moon will be visible, just passed first quarter, offering breathtaking views of its cratered surface along the “transition line.” The planet Mars should also be visible in the western skies through the waning twilight and urban light pollution. As darkness overtakes Anthrocon, we'll showcase the double-stars Albireo, Epsilon Lyra – The Double Double, and Zeta Ursa Major – Mizar and Alcor. We'll also attempt to provide views of the “Coat Hanger” asterism in Vupercula. Bring your sense of wonder and curiosity, and we'll provide the rest. Want to bring your own telescope or binoculars? We'll make room. There are plenty of objects to observe and share. Note: In the event of inclement weather or cloudy skies, I'll set up my telescope in the DLCC on the 3rd Floor, Allegheny River side, near the glass elevator, to the side above Hall A, for some impromptu “Astronomy Q&A.”

Tying The Knot - Basic Rope Rigging for Furies

 DLCC 317-318

Believe it or not, this is a 100% Safe-For-Work panel... In fact, safety while working is the bottom line when it comes to this topic! This interactive panel is for all those who want to learn the absolute basics of ropes, rigging, and the various types of rope and equipment used in the fire/rescue services. We'll be examining rope access equipment and basics from an absolute beginner perspective, including: Discussing basic Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) needed for rope rigging; Discussing the various types of rope/webbing, their uses, and safety considerations; Practicing how to properly tie some of the basic knots (figure 8, overhand, water knot) used in the fire service; Demonstrating how ropes can be used to construct basic mechanical advantage haul systems to move a load from one point to another; and having an opportunity to examine, handle, and ask questions about equipment used by rope technicians, tower climbers, firefighters, and other rope access personnel. Attendees are welcome to come and only observe, however any attendee who handles equipment or participates will be required to don appropriate provided PPE (Gloves, Safety Glasses). While not required, long sleeves and pants are encouraged. Disclaimer: This panel is NOT sufficient training to attempt low, intermediate, or high angle rope work or to construct haul systems for overhead/life-safety lifting. Mastering these techniques requires specific training. Work with a professional to confirm your ability to perform these techniques safely and independently before attempting them unsupervised. Specific questions for the panelists can be directed to prior to the convention.

wolfears

📍 Westin - Allegheny Ballroom

wolfears (stylized all lowercase) is the solo project of independent DIY musician ceej wolf (they/she/it). Started in 2024, ceej began to play room shows at furry conventions with just an acoustic guitar and some twee pop tunes. Only a year later, they released their debut record "WOLFPACK" as well as an EP "BE KIND REWIND". A proud therian, the core of their songs relate to dissatisfaction with humanity, transgender dysphoria and queer joy. From post-punk to indietronica, wolfears covers all the bases. With this new four-piece live band lineup, they'll be playing songs from their earlier work as well as new arrangements from "WOLFPACK". You can check out wolfears online at wolfears.net as well as Bluesky.
