 1:30pm - 2:30pm

Furries : A New Generation

 Wellington

More and more young furries are showing up at conventions in droves, accompanied by bewildered parents who sometimes can't make sense of the fandom. Just as common are furries who have been around for decades now and have young ones of their own. This panel is for both the adults and the youths in question. Part meet-and-greet, part informative session, if you're a parent of a young furry, a young furry yourself, or you're a furry who's a parent (or a combination of those) come on and say hello.

 1:30pm - 3:00pm

Bring your pencils! Bring your paper! Be prepared to fill your sketchbook with drawings of fullsuiters frozen in place, just for you! Any medium is fair game, but keep in mind that poses will change frequently. Life drawing is an artistic practice that all levels of artist can benefit from. There is arguably no better way to master drawing anatomy!

 7:00pm - 8:00pm

Guest of Honour - How (Not?) to Think About Making Art!

 Pier 9

This panel will be about the mechanics and thought process behind creating, focused primarily in visual art as that is my expertise but with some information and advice applicable across a spectrum of creative activities. It will touch on concepts related to how to develop discipline as an artist, how to get out of your own way and avoid creating roadblocks for yourself, why the popular concept of "inspiration" may hold you back and how I get around that, and other topics based on my experience of what works for me and for others to make sure the creative work actually gets done and not just imagined.

 7:00pm - 8:00pm

FurScience! - Autism in the Furry Community Discussion Group

 Yonge

Many furries identify as being on the autism spectrum. In these focus groups, we will talk about why people on the autism spectrum choose to get involved with the furry fandom, and what kinds of things make it easier or harder for people on the spectrum to get and stay involved. The group is open to all – people on the autism spectrum, their friends and family members, and people who are interested in the topic for other reasons. We are especially interested to hear from people who are on the autism spectrum themselves. The group will be limited to 10 participants to make sure everyone has enough chance to talk. If you would like to sign up, please do so by texting Elizabeth Fein at (412) 205-8844. (This is a temporary "burner" number and all information will be deleted at the end of the event). Signups are only accepted via text, NOT through the online program, in order to protect the privacy of participants. I will also be conducting individual, one-on-one interviews, and you can sign up for these via text as well. The focus groups and interviews are gathering data for the research study "Social Connection through Creative Community: An Ethnographic Study of Participation in the Furry Fandom among People on the Autism Spectrum". If you cannot make it to the focus groups, but want to participate in the research, you can answer focus group questions online (Study 5) at furscience.com/participant

Digital Art 201!

 Pier 4

What up, buttercups? The goal of this panel is to go beyond the basics of digital drawing, painting and rendering with practical and immediately useful tips and demos by three experienced painters. Topics we'll cover: dynamic figure drawing • lighting/rendering • character design • colour theory • shape design • composition • texture • furry art tips. All experience levels are welcome - whether you've never touched a pencil before, or you've been working digitally for a while. If you can't make it or stay for the full two hours, feel free to drop by DeerH's den table to get links to the presentation files, discussion group and other resources!

 7:30pm - 9:30pm

FurScience! Research from the International Anthropomorphic Research Project

 Metro West

This panel, run by Dr. Sharon Roberts from the University of Waterloo, will review furry research by the International Anthropomorphic Research Project, AKA FurScience! For more than a decade, our team has collected data from tens of thousands of furries and published dozens of peer-reviewed papers and chapters. We will discuss some research findings, dissemination strategies, ongoing projects, and our efforts to battle stigma with science. You'll be able to ask questions and make suggestions for future research. See what we do at furscience.com/participate.

FurScience! - Autism in the Furry Community Focus Group

 Yonge

Many furries identify as being on the autism spectrum. In these focus groups, we will talk about why people on the autism spectrum choose to get involved with the furry fandom, and what kinds of things make it easier or harder for people on the spectrum to get and stay involved. The group is open to all – people on the autism spectrum, their friends and family members, and people who are interested in the topic for other reasons. We are especially interested to hear from people who are on the autism spectrum themselves. The group will be limited to 10 participants to make sure everyone has enough chance to talk. If you would like to sign up, please do so by texting Elizabeth Fein at (412) 205-8844. (This is a temporary "burner" number and all information will be deleted at the end of the event). Signups are only accepted via text, NOT through the online program, in order to protect the privacy of participants. I will also be conducting individual, one-on-one interviews, and you can sign up for these via text as well. The focus groups and interviews are gathering data for the research study "Social Connection through Creative Community: An Ethnographic Study of Participation in the Furry Fandom among People on the Autism Spectrum". If you cannot make it to the focus groups, but want to participate in the research, you can answer focus group questions online (Study 5) at furscience.com/participant

 12:00pm - 1:30pm
